More information about EY can be found at www.EY.com
Welcome to the EY South Africa Transparency Report for the year ended 30 June 2013. The past year has been a significant one for EY globally and in South Africa. In January 2013 we launched Vision 2020, which sets out EY’s purpose, ambition, strategy and positioning.

As we worked to create Vision 2020, we spent time looking keenly at the world around us - speaking with people inside and outside of EY: leading thinkers, clients and our people. In the process, we realized that our purpose is clear - to build a better working world. It is present in:

- Our services that build trust and confidence in the capital markets - helping investors make informed decisions and helping businesses to grow sustainably.
- Our belief that every audit, every tax return, every advisory opportunity, every interaction should make the working world better than it was before.
- Our relationships with our people, our clients, with governments and not-for-profit organisations - through what we say and do and the conversations we convene about the challenges facing economies and the capital markets.

At the heart of building a better working world is our public interest role as an auditor of public companies. Auditors play a vital role in the efficient functioning of our capital markets through promoting transparency and supporting investor confidence. Our clients, regulators and other stakeholders count on us to deliver quality and excellence, and executing audits in a high quality manner remains central to our role in serving the public interest and growing EY successfully.

As part of Vision 2020, we are investing in tools to improve the audit, creating the highest-performing teams, and focusing on building trust and confidence in the audits we perform in South Africa and around the world. My colleagues and I in South Africa are excited about playing our part to make Vision 2020 a reality. We look forward to working with you and sharing our progress. Regular dialogue with our stakeholders is a priority for us and what we hear helps inform our views and actions.

In this spirit, we continue to embrace the transparency objectives of the European Union’s 8th Company Law Directive, which requires South African statutory auditors of public interest entities to publish annual transparency reports. This EY South Africa Transparency Report 2013 complies with the Directive and covers the fiscal year ending 30 June 2013.

In this report, you can read more about our internal quality-control system - how we instill professional values; how we perform an audit; our review and consultation process and our process for audit quality reviews. For the first time in this report, you can also read more about EY’s approach to stakeholder engagement globally and in South Africa. Thank you to all of you who have taken the time to share your views with us in 2013. I encourage investors, audit committee members, companies, regulators and all our stakeholders to continue to engage with us, and would welcome your views on the matters covered in this report.

Message from the Assurance Leader

EY South Africa provides an important public interest role as an auditor of public interest companies. This role is vital and is central to our values, processes and management. EY South Africa’s reputation is based on providing high-quality, professional audit services objectively and ethically to each and every client.

This EY South Africa Transparency Report covers the financial period ended 30 June 2013. In it, you can read more about our internal quality control system – how we instill professional values, how we perform an audit, our oversight and consultation process and our process for audit quality reviews.

We have a new purpose statement, a new visual identity and a new strategy that will guide our firm into 2020. Vision 2020 is our plan to make EY the leading global professional services organisation by 2020. We cannot get there without every person in EY committed to building a better working world every day for our clients, our communities, our families and our people.

Quality remains the cornerstone of our business. We will not achieve our 2020 ambitions without being seen as a firm with quality and its values at its core. Our focus on audit quality is underpinned at every level by our investment in diverse talent, a globally consistent approach, professional skepticism and technical excellence. Clients receive the benefit of qualified and objective teams with expertise across industries, services and borders.

The seriousness with which we take our public interest role and focus on quality across all our audit processes has seen us create an environment - constantly reinforced from the top - that encourages all personnel to act responsibly, including reporting misconduct. Checks and balances are built into every process, and every audit. We are constantly looking at ways in which to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of our audit methodology, as well as seeking to understand where and why audit quality may not achieve our expectations, or those of our stakeholders and regulators.

One way to achieve this is by learning the lessons from internal inspections and external reviews. We are pleased that our 2013 inspection report from the United States regulator, the PCAOB, contains no findings. This is testament to the actions we continue to take to enhance audit quality in our firm. In addition, the report letter from our regulator, the Independent Regulatory Board for Auditors (the “IRBA”), following their practice review of our firm concluded that the result was satisfactory.

This report provides some important details about how we are seeking to meet our responsibilities as auditors to provide public confidence in financial reporting. We would very much welcome your feedback on anything contained in this report.

Network arrangements

EY is a global leader in assurance, tax, transaction and advisory services. Worldwide, 175,000 people in more than 150 countries share a commitment to building a better working world and are united by shared values and an unwavering commitment to quality, integrity and professional skepticism. In today’s global market, EY’s integrated approach is particularly important in the delivery of high-quality multinational audits, which can span multiple jurisdictions.

EY’s central entity, EYG, coordinates the member firms and promotes cooperation among them. EYG does not provide services, and its objectives include the promotion by member firms of high-quality service, worldwide. Each member firm is a legally distinct entity. The member firms’ obligations and responsibilities are governed by the regulations of EYG and various other agreements.

The structure and principal global bodies of the global organisation during the year ending 30 June 2013 are described below. They reflect the principles that governance and management roles be separated and that EY, as a global organisation, has one shared strategy.

Beginning in July 2013, EY has streamlined its operating model into the Executive and the Regions. The Executive will include the Global Executive (GE), its committees and teams, and the four geographic Areas, and will sit across the 29 Regions (formerly called Sub-Areas). Additional roles will be added to the GE: the Global Managing Partner of Client Service and the Global Managing Partner of Business Enablement will be responsible for executing EY’s global strategy in the market and strengthening EY’s global functions respectively. These two roles will jointly assume the responsibilities of the current Chief Operating Officer when his term expires in December 2014.

The Chair of the Global Accounts Committee, representing EY’s largest clients, and the Chair of the Emerging Markets Committee, representing EY’s emerging market practices, will also join the GE.

This streamlined structure will allow EY to further enhance its global scale and the delivery of consistent exceptional client service worldwide, with the Executive responsible for one global approach to strategy, quality, risk management, business planning, investments and priorities. At the same time, the new operating model will allow for greater stakeholder focus in the Regions, ensuring that EY South Africa can build stronger relationships with clients and other stakeholders locally and be more responsive to local needs.
Global Advisory Council
The Global Advisory Council is EY’s main advisory body. It comprises a number of member firm partner-level professionals (referred to as partners) drawn from across the four Areas and includes independent non-executive representatives (INES). The partners, who do not hold senior management roles, are elected by their peers for a three-year term, with provisions for one successive re-appointment. The INEs are nominated by a dedicated committee. The Global Advisory Council advises EYG on policies, strategies and the public interest aspects of its decision-making. The approval of the Global Advisory Council is required for a number of significant matters that could affect EY and its stakeholders.

Independent non-executive representatives
Independent non-executive representatives (INES) are appointed from outside of EY and bring the global organisation, and the Global Advisory Council, the significant benefit of their outside perspectives and views. More information on EY’s INEs can be found in the next section.

Global Executive
The Global Executive brings together EY’s leadership functions, services and geographies. It is chaired by the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of EYG, and includes its Chief Operating Officer; the Area Managing Partners; the global functional leaders – the Global Managing Partners of People, Markets, Quality & Risk Management and Operations and Finance; and the global service line Vice Chairs – Assurance, Advisory, Tax and Transaction Advisory Services, as well as the Global Vice Chair for Public Policy. The Global Executive also includes a representative from the emerging markets practices.

The Global Executive and the Global Advisory Council approve nominations for the Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Operating Officer of EYG and ratify appointments of Global Managing Partners. The Global Executive also approves appointments of Global Vice Chairs. The Global Advisory Council ratifies the appointments of any Global Vice Chair who serves as a member of the Global Executive. Furthermore, the Global Executive approves appointments of Area Managing Partners. Such appointments are subject to ratification by the Global Advisory Council.

The Global Executive’s terms of reference include the promotion of global objectives and the development, approval and, where relevant, implementation of:

- Global strategies and plans
- Common standards, methodologies and policies to be promoted within member firms
- People initiatives, including criteria and processes for admission, evaluation, development, reward and retirement of partners
- Quality improvement and protection programs
- Proposals regarding regulatory matters and public policy
- Policies and guidance relating to member firms’ service of international clients, business development, markets and branding
- EY’s business plans, development funds and investment priorities
- EYG’s annual financial reports and budgets
- Global Advisory Council recommendations
- Any other proposal that supports the global objectives

It also has the power to mediate and adjudicate disputes between member firms.

Global Executive Committees
Chaired by members of the Global Executive and bringing together representatives from the four Areas, the Global Executive Committees are responsible for making recommendations to the Global Executive. There are committees for People, Quality & Risk Management, Markets, Operations and Finance, Assurance, Advisory, Tax, and Transaction Advisory Services.

Global Practice Group
This group brings together the members of the Global Executive, Global Executive Committees and Regional leaders. The Global Practice Group seeks to ensure a common understanding across member firms of EY’s strategic objectives and consistency of execution across the organisation.

EYG member firms
Under the regulations of EYG, member firms commit themselves to pursue EY’s objectives, particularly the provision of high-quality service, worldwide. To that end, the member firms undertake to implement the global strategies and plans and to maintain the minimum scope of service capability. They are required to comply with common standards, methodologies and policies, including those regarding audit methodology, quality and risk management, independence, knowledge sharing, human resources and technology.

Above all, EYG member firms commit themselves to conducting their professional practices in accordance with the applicable professional and ethical standards, and all applicable requirements of law. This commitment to integrity and doing the right thing is underpinned by EY’s Global Code of Conduct and EY’s Values.

Besides adopting the regulations of EYG, member firms enter into several other agreements covering aspects of their membership in the EY organisation such as the rights and obligations associated with the use of the EY name and the sharing of knowledge.
Member firms are subject to reviews that evaluate their adherence to EYG requirements and policies governing issues such as independence, quality and risk management, audit methodology and human resources. As necessary, special focus reviews are performed to address situations or concerns as they arise. Member firms unable to meet the quality commitments and other EYG membership requirements are subject to separation from the EY organisation.

Independent non-executive representatives

EY has invited world-class leaders in related fields to serve as independent non-executive representatives (INES). They provide an independent voice to the highest levels of management, offer insight into the interests of EY's key stakeholders and further objectivity within its governance structures. EY follows the UK Audit Firm Governance Code model for INEs by selecting individuals who command respect and collectively enhance shareholder confidence by virtue of their independence, stature, experience and expertise.

Appointment
The INEs are nominated by the INE Nominating Committee comprising the Chairman/CEO of EYG, the presiding partner of the Global Advisory Council and other persons as the Chairman/CEO and the presiding partner in their discretion deem appropriate. The nominations require approval by the Global Executive and ratification by the Global Advisory Council.

Support
INES are entitled to receive information about global affairs. To ensure the effectiveness of each INE, they receive administrative support, and the cost of any independent professional advice that may be required is met.

Term
The term of an INE is three years with provision for one successive re-appointment at the request of the INE Nominating Committee and the Global Executive.

Disagreements
Any disagreement with an INE would be resolved by mediation by the Chairman/CEO of EYG through a defined process of notification and consultation. In the event of an unresolved disagreement, the INE has the right to resign from the position.

Independence
EY has considered the auditor independence standards as they apply to INES in their role as members of the Global Advisory Council, and are satisfied these standards have been met.

Commitment to quality

Infrastructure supporting quality

The Global Managing Partner – Quality & Risk Management (GMP – Q&RM) coordinates organisation-wide quality initiatives across EY’s four service lines: Assurance, Advisory, Tax and Transaction Advisory Services.

The GMP – Q&RM is overseen by the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Operating Officer of EYG and is a member of the Global Executive. Member firm partners are appointed to lead Quality & Risk Management initiatives in the service lines and member firms, supported by other staff and professionals. The GMP – Q&RM is also responsible for establishing globally consistent Q&RM execution priorities. These priorities are cascaded to member firms, and their execution is monitored through a formal Enterprise Risk Management program.

The Global Vice Chair – Assurance coordinates member firms’ compliance with and implementation of EY’s policies and procedures for assurance services.

The Global Vice Chair – Professional Practice, referred to as the Professional Practice Director (PPD), is overseen by both the GMP – Q&RM and Global Vice Chair – Assurance and works directly with the Area PPDs to establish global audit quality-control policies and procedures. The Area PPDs are overseen by the Global PPD, the Area Q&RM Leader and the Area Assurance Leader. This helps provide greater assurance as to the objectivity of audit quality and consultation processes.

The Global PPD and Area PPDs also lead and oversee the Professional Practice Group, a Global and Area network of technical subject-matter specialists in accounting and auditing standards who consult on accounting, auditing and financial reporting matters and perform various practice monitoring and risk management activities.

The Global PPD oversees the development of the EY Global Audit Methodology (EY GAM) and related technologies to be consistent with relevant professional standards and regulatory requirements. The Professional Practice Group also oversees the development of the guidance, training, and monitoring programs, and processes used by member firm professionals to consistently and effectively execute audits. The PPDs, together with other professionals who work with them in each member firm, are knowledgeable about EY people, clients and processes and are readily accessible for consultations with audit engagement teams.

There is often the need for additional resources to augment the resources in the Professional Practice Group, including networks of professionals focused on:

- Internal-control reporting and related aspects of our audit methodology
- Accounting, auditing and risk issues for specific industries and sectors
- Event-specific issues such as the financial crisis; areas of civil and political unrest; and sovereign debt and related accounting, auditing, and financial reporting and disclosure implications
- General engagement issues and how to work effectively with audit committees

In the following sections, we describe the principal components of our audit quality-control program:

- Instilling professional values
- Internal quality-control system
- Client acceptance and continuance
- Performing audits
- Review and consultation
- Audit partner rotation
- Audit quality reviews
- External quality-assurance reviews
- Compliance with legal requirements
Instilling professional values

Tone at the top
Our senior leadership team is responsible for setting the right tone at the top and demonstrating, through its behaviour and actions, EY’s commitment to building a better working world. We also communicate to our people that quality and professional responsibility start with them. Our shared values, which inspire our people and guide them to do the right thing, and our commitment to quality, are embedded in who we are and in everything we do.

Our approach to business ethics and integrity is embedded in our culture of consultation, our training programs and our internal communications. Senior management regularly reinforce the importance of performing quality work and complying with professional standards and our policies, leading by example and through various communications. Also, our quality review programs assess the quality of professional service as a key metric in evaluating and rewarding all professionals.

Our culture strongly supports collaboration, and places special emphasis on the importance of consultation in dealing with complex or subjective accounting, auditing, reporting, regulatory and independence matters. We believe it is important to ensure that engagement teams and clients correctly follow consultation advice and we emphasise this when necessary.

Our stance consistently has been that no single client is more important than professional reputation - the reputation of EY South Africa and the reputation of each of our professionals.

Code of conduct
We promote a culture of integrity, as well as the performance of high-quality audits, among all of our professionals. The Global Code of Conduct provides a clear set of the standards that guide our actions and our business conduct. It is organized into five categories containing principles that are to be followed by everyone within EY South Africa to guide behaviour across all areas of activity:

- Working with one another
- Working with clients and others
- Acting with professional integrity
- Maintaining our objectivity and independence
- Respecting intellectual capital.

Through our procedures to monitor compliance with the Global Code of Conduct, and through frequent communications, we strive to create an environment that encourages all personnel to act responsibly, including reporting misconduct without fear of retaliation.

The EY/Ethics Hotline provides our people, clients and others outside of the organisation with a means to confidentially report activity that may involve unethical or improper behaviour, and that may be in violation of professional standards or otherwise inconsistent with the Global Code of Conduct. The hotline is operated by an external organisation that provides confidential and, if desired, anonymous, hotline reporting services for companies worldwide.

When a report comes into the EY/Ethics Hotline, either by phone or internet, it receives immediate attention. Depending on the content of the report, appropriate individuals from Q&RM, Human Resources, Legal or other functions are involved to address the report. All matters are handled by experienced individuals, with oversight from the global Q&RM function. For those matters that are reported outside of the EY/Ethics Hotline, the same procedures are followed.

Our values
Who we are

People who demonstrate integrity, respect and teaming

People with energy, enthusiasm and the courage to lead

People who build relationships based on doing the right thing
Internal quality-control system

EY South Africa’s reputation for providing high-quality professional audit services independently, objectively and ethically is fundamental to our success as independent auditors. We continue to invest in initiatives to promote enhanced objectivity, independence and professional skepticism. These are fundamental attributes of a high-quality audit.

At EY South Africa, our role as auditors is to provide assurance on the fair presentation of the financial reports of the entities we audit. We bring together qualified teams to provide our services, drawing on global expertise across industry sectors and services. We strive continually to improve our quality and risk management processes, so that the quality of our service is at a consistently high level.

We recognise that in today’s environment – characterized by continuing globalisation and the rapid movement of capital – the quality of our audit services has never been more important. EY continues to invest heavily in developing the audit methodology, tools and other resources needed to support quality service delivery. This reflects the strength of our commitment to building a better working world and specifically to building trust and confidence in the capital markets and in economies the world over.

While the market and stakeholders continue to demand high-quality audits, they also demand increasingly efficient and effective delivery of audit services. EY continues to seek ways to improve the effectiveness and the efficiency of the audit methodology and processes, while maintaining audit quality. We work to understand where our audit quality may not be up to our own expectations and those of our stakeholders. We seek to learn from external and internal inspection activities by identifying the root causes of quality occurrences, and taking appropriate improvement actions.

Effectiveness of quality-control system

EY has designed and implemented a comprehensive set of global audit quality-control policies and practices. These meet the requirements of the International Standards on Quality Control issued by the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB). EY South Africa has adopted these global policies and procedures, and has supplemented them as necessary to comply with local laws and professional guidelines and to address specific business needs.

We also execute the EY Audit Quality Review (AQR) program and evaluate annually whether our system of audit quality-control has operated effectively in a manner so as to provide reasonable assurance that EY South Africa and our people comply with applicable professional and internal standards, and regulatory requirements.

The results of the AQR program and external inspections are evaluated and communicated within EY South Africa to provide the basis for continuous improvement in audit quality, consistent with the highest standards in the profession.

The Global Executive is responsible for implementing quality improvement and protection programs. As such, it reviews the results of our internal AQR program and external regulatory reviews, as well as any key actions designed to address areas for improvement.

The recent results of such monitoring, together with the recent feedback from independent regulatory inspection visits, provide EY South Africa with a basis to conclude that our internal control systems are designed appropriately and are operating effectively.
Client acceptance and continuance

EY policy

EY’s global Client Acceptance and Continuance Policy sets out principles to determine whether to either accept a new client or a new engagement or to continue an existing client or engagement. These principles are fundamental to maintaining quality, managing risk, protecting our people and meeting regulatory requirements. The objectives of the policy are to:

- Establish a rigorous process for evaluating risk and making decisions to accept/continue clients or engagements
- Meet applicable independence requirements
- Identify and deal appropriately with any conflicts of interest
- Identify and decline clients that pose excessive risk
- Require consultation with designated professionals to identify additional risk-management procedures for specific high-risk factors
- Comply with legal, regulatory and professional requirements

In addition, EY’s global Conflicts of Interest Policy defines global standards for categories of conflicts of interest and a process for identifying potential conflicts of interest. It also includes provisions for managing conflicts of interest as quickly and efficiently as possible through the use of appropriate safeguards. Such safeguards range from obtaining the relevant client’s consent to act for two or more clients, to member firms declining an engagement, in order to avoid an identified conflict.

Putting policy into practice

We use the Global Tool for Acceptance and Continuance (GTAC), an intranet-based system for efficiently coordinating client and engagement acceptance and continuance activities in line with global, service line and member firm policies. GTAC takes users through the acceptance and continuance requirements and identifies the policies and references to professional standards needed to assess both business opportunities and associated risks.

As part of this process, we carefully consider the risk characteristics of a prospective client through several due diligence procedures. Before we take on a new engagement or client, we determine if we can commit sufficient resources to deliver quality service, especially in highly technical areas, and if the services the client requires are appropriate for us to provide.

In our annual client continuance process, we review our service delivery and ability to continue to provide quality service and confirm that clients share EY South Africa’s commitment to quality and transparency in financial reporting. The partner in charge of each audit, together with our Assurance leadership, annually reviews our relationship with the audit client to determine whether continuance is appropriate.

Close monitoring

As a result of this review, certain audit engagements are identified as requiring, and are then subjected to, additional oversight procedures during the audit. Some audit clients are discontinued. As with the client acceptance process, our PPD is involved in the client continuance process for all high risk engagements.

Both client acceptance and client continuance decisions are based on, inter alia, the engagement team’s assessment of whether the company’s management could pressure us to accept inappropriate accounting, auditing and reporting conclusions to undermine quality. Consideration of the integrity of management is essential to acceptance and continuance decisions.
Performing audits

Audit methodology
EY’s Global Audit Methodology (EY GAM) provides a global framework for delivering high-quality audit services through the consistent application of thought processes, judgments and procedures in all audit engagements. Making risk assessments, reconsidering and modifying them as appropriate, and using these assessments to determine the nature, timing and extent of audit procedures are fundamental to EY GAM. EY GAM also emphasises applying appropriate professional skepticism in the execution of audit procedures. EY GAM is based on International Standards on Auditing (ISAs) and is supplemented in South Africa to comply with the local regulatory or statutory requirements.

EY GAM represents our comprehensive methodology and is organized into interdependent phases designed to focus on the client’s business and financial statement risks and on how those risks affect our audit of the financial statements. EY GAM consists of three key components: requirements; supplemental guidance; and supporting forms, templates and examples.

The requirements reflect the typical flow of how EY South Africa executes an audit. The supplements provide the requirements and guidance for specific situations and circumstances that may arise during an audit. The forms, templates and examples include leading practice illustrations and assist in performing and documenting audit procedures.

Enhancements to the audit methodology are made regularly as a result of new standards, emerging auditing issues and matters, implementation experiences, and external and internal inspection results. For example, EY GAM has been updated following the issuance of ISA 610, Using the Work of Internal Auditors. We also recently issued a new audit approach tailored for the private middle market that meets the requirements of the ISAs.

In addition, we monitor current and emerging developments continually and issue timely audit planning and other reminders. These reminders emphasise areas noted during inspections as well as key topics of interest to the International Forum of Independent Audit Regulators (IFIAR). These include professional skepticism, group audits, revenue recognition and engagement quality reviews.

EY GAM requires compliance with relevant ethical requirements, including independence from the company we audit.

Technology
Our audit engagement teams use technology to assist in executing and documenting the work performed in accordance with EY GAM. Our primary audit support tool, GAMx, drives uniform execution of EY GAM and appropriate audit documentation, strengthening our ability to deliver consistent, high-quality audits. It provides linked access to knowledge databases (audit guidance and interpretations), professional standards, documentation templates and other tools necessary to execute and document a risk-based audit effectively. GAMx facilitates engagement team collaboration through the sharing of information and the documentation of procedures and conclusions. GAMx also enables secure peer-to-peer communications, so our people can work together as if they were in the same physical location. Audit engagement teams use other software applications, forms and templates during various phases of an audit to assist in making and documenting audit considerations, sourcing data and analysis.

EY has a number of data analysis tools for use in audits. These assist our engagement teams in analysing a client’s data, enhancing our risk assessment processes and enabling the investigation of higher-risk transactions for further investigation.

Formation of audit engagement teams
EY South Africa policies require an annual review of partner assignments by our Assurance leadership to make sure that the professionals leading listed-company audits possess the appropriate competencies (i.e., the knowledge, skills and abilities) to fulfill their engagement responsibilities, and are in compliance with applicable auditor rotation regulations.

The assignment of people to an audit engagement is also made under the direction of our Assurance leadership. Factors considered when assigning people to audit teams include competence, engagement size and complexity, specialised industry knowledge and experience, timing of work, continuity, and opportunities for on-the-job training. For more complex engagements, consideration is given to whether specialised or additional expertise is needed to supplement or enhance the audit engagement team.

In many situations, internal experts are assigned as part of the audit engagement team to assist in performing audit procedures and obtaining appropriate audit evidence. These professionals are used in situations requiring special skills or knowledge, such as information systems, asset valuation and actuarial analysis.
Review and consultation

Reviews of audit work
Our policies describe the requirements for timely and direct executive participation on audits and the level of reviews of the work performed. Supervisory members of the audit engagement team perform a detailed review of the audit documentation for accuracy and completeness. Engagement executives perform a second-level review to determine the adequacy of the audit work as a whole and the related accounting and financial statement presentation. A tax representative reviews the significant tax and other relevant working papers. For listed and certain other companies, an engagement quality reviewer (described below) reviews important areas of accounting, financial reporting and audit execution, as well as the financial statements of the company we audit and our report. The nature, timing and extent of the reviews of audit work depend on many factors, including:

- The risk, materiality, subjectivity and complexity of the subject matter
- The ability and experience of the audit team members preparing the audit documentation
- The level of the reviewer’s direct participation in the audit work
- The extent of consultation employed.

Our policies also describe the roles and responsibilities of each audit engagement team member for managing, directing and supervising the audit, as well as the requirements for documenting their work and conclusions.

Consultation requirements
Our consultation policies are built upon a culture of collaboration, whereby audit professionals are encouraged to share perspectives on complex accounting, auditing and reporting issues. Consultation requirements and related policies are designed to involve the right resources, so that audit teams reach appropriate conclusions.

Consultation is built into the decision-making process; it is not just a process to provide advice.

For complex and sensitive matters, we have a formal process requiring consultation outside of the audit engagement team with other personnel who have more experience or specialised knowledge, primarily Professional Practice and Independence personnel. In the interest of objectivity and professional skepticism, our policies require members of Professional Practice, Independence and certain others to withdraw from a consultation if they currently serve, or have served, within a specified period of time, the client to which the consultation relates.

Our consultation policies also include a requirement that consultations are documented, including written concurrence from the person or persons consulted, in order to demonstrate their understanding of the matter and its resolution.

Engagement quality reviews
Engagement quality reviews are performed by audit partners in compliance with professional standards for audits of all listed companies and those considered higher risk. Engagement quality reviewers are experienced professionals with significant subject matter knowledge. They are independent of the engagement team and able to provide objective evaluation of significant accounting, auditing and reporting matters. In no circumstances may the responsibility of the engagement quality reviewer be delegated to another individual. The engagement quality review generally spans the entire engagement cycle, including planning, risk assessment, audit strategy and execution. It is not limited to a review of the financial statements and conclusions at the time of issuance of our audit report. Policies and procedures for the performance and documentation of engagement quality reviews provide specific guidelines on the nature, timing and extent of the procedures to be performed and the required documentation evidencing their completion. Our PPD reviews and approves all engagement quality review assignments for listed companies and those considered to be of higher risk.

Audit engagement team disagreement-resolution process
EY has a collaborative culture that encourages and expects people to speak up, without fear of reprisal, if a professional disagreement arises or they are uncomfortable about a matter relating to a client engagement. Policies and procedures are designed to empower members of an audit engagement team by requiring them to raise any disagreements relating to significant accounting, auditing or reporting matters.
These policies are made clear to people as they join EY, and we continue to promote a culture that reinforces a person’s responsibility and authority to make that person’s own views heard and canvas the views of others.

Differences of professional opinion that arise during an audit generally are resolved at the audit engagement team level. However, if any person involved in the discussion of an issue is not satisfied with the decision, he or she has both the right and the obligation to see that the issue is referred to the next level of authority until agreement is reached or a final decision is made. Until such time, the parties to the discussion do not withdraw, step aside or otherwise extract themselves from the process. If the engagement quality reviewer makes recommendations that the engagement partner does not accept or the matter is not resolved to the reviewer’s satisfaction, the audit report is not issued until the matter is resolved by following consultation processes for resolution of professional differences. Our documentation requirements for disagreements and their resolution are the same as for other consultations. Anyone involved in the process may separately document his or her personal position in an attachment to the documentation of the final decision.
Audit partner rotation

EY supports mandatory audit partner rotation to help strengthen auditor independence. We comply with the audit partner rotation requirements of the code of the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants (IESBA), Independent Regulatory Board for Auditors (IRBA) in South Africa, and the Companies Act of South Africa, 2008, as well as the US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) or any other foreign regulatory or legislative requirement where required. EY South Africa supports audit partner rotation because it provides a fresh perspective and promotes independence from company management while retaining expertise and knowledge of the business. Audit partner rotation, combined with independence requirements, enhanced systems of internal quality controls, and independent audit oversight help strengthen independence and objectivity and are important safeguards of audit quality.

For public interest entities where rotation of the audit partner is not mandated by local independence regulation, or is less restrictive than the IESBA requirements, the EYG Independence Policy requires the lead engagement partner and the engagement quality reviewer to be rotated after seven years. For a newly public interest entity (including a newly listed company) client, the lead engagement partner and the engagement quality reviewer may remain in place for an additional two years before rotating off the team, regardless of the time they served prior to the listing. Following rotation, the partner may not resume the lead or engagement quality review role until at least two years has elapsed.

We have tools to track partner rotation that enable effective monitoring of requirements. We have also implemented a process for partner-rotation planning and decision-making that involves consultation with, and approvals by, our Professional Practice and Independence professionals.
Audit quality reviews

The global Audit Quality Review (AQR) program is the cornerstone to EY’s efforts to maintain and improve audit quality. EY South Africa executes the global AQR program, reports results and develops responsive actions plans. The primary goal of the program is to determine whether systems of quality controls, including those of EY South Africa, are appropriately designed and followed in the execution of audit engagements to provide reasonable assurance of compliance with policies and procedures, professional standards and regulatory requirements. The global AQR program complies with the International Standard on Quality Control No. 1, as amended (ISQC No.1) and is supplemented where necessary to comply with South African professional standards and regulatory requirements. It also aids EY South Africa’s continual efforts to identify areas where we can improve our performance or enhance our policies and procedures.

The global AQR program is implemented annually and is coordinated and monitored by representatives of the PPD network, with oversight by the global Q&RM network.

The engagements reviewed each year are selected on a risk-based approach emphasising audit clients that are large, complex or of significant public interest. The global AQR program includes detailed, risk-focused file reviews covering a large sample of listed and non-listed audit engagements to measure compliance with internal policies and procedures, EY GAM requirements, and relevant local professional standards and regulatory requirements. It also includes reviews of a sample of non-audit engagements. These measure compliance with the relevant professional standards and internal policies and procedures that should be applied in executing non-audit services. In addition, practice-level reviews are performed to assess compliance with quality control policies and procedures in the functional areas set out in ISQC No.1. The global AQR program complements external practice monitoring and inspection activities, such as regulatory inspection programs and external peer reviews.

It is our goal that all audit engagements meet the highest expectations of quality, and we strive to improve any situations where these expectations are not met.

In 2012, EY South Africa’s AQR comprised the inspection of 34 audit engagements. In that year, 100% of the engagements inspected were rated as having no material findings. These results compare to 21 engagements reviewed in 2011, of which 95% were rated as having no material findings or deficiencies. EY South Africa reviews the findings from internal and external inspections to identify root causes, develop action plans and improve audit quality.

For all findings or deficiencies, whether material or minor, EY South Africa evaluates the findings from internal and external inspections to identify root causes and thereafter develop action plans as are necessary to improve audit quality.

For engagement reviews resulting in findings or deficiencies deemed less than material but greater than minor, we addressed the results with individual partners in the same way as those with material findings.

AQR reviewers and team leaders are selected for their skills and professional competence in accounting and auditing, as well as their industry specialisation; they often work in the global AQR program for a number of years and are highly skilled in the execution of the program. Team leaders and reviewers are assigned to inspections outside of their home location and are independent of the audit teams reviewed.

The results of the global AQR program and external practice-monitoring and inspection activities are evaluated and communicated to improve quality. Any quality improvement plans describe the follow-up actions to be taken, the people responsible, the timetable and deadlines, and sign-off on completed actions. Measures to resolve audit quality issues noted from the global AQR program, regulatory inspections and peer reviews are addressed by our Assurance leadership and our PPD with input from Q&RM groups. The actions are monitored by our PPD and Q&RM groups. These programs provide important practice monitoring feedback for our continuing quality improvement efforts.
External quality-assurance review

EY South Africa's audit practice and our registered statutory auditors are subject to annual inspection by the Independent Regulatory Board for Auditors (IRBA). As part of its inspections, the IRBA evaluates quality-control systems and reviews selected engagements.

EY South Africa is also registered with the PCAOB, which also performs regular office-level and engagement-level reviews.

The last quality assurance inspection by the IRBA took place in July & August 2012. The final report on the inspection was issued on 18 February 2013.

The last quality inspection by the PCAOB took place in February 2013. The final report was issued on 1 August 2013.

We respect and benefit from our regulators' inspection process. We thoroughly evaluate points raised during the inspection in order to identify areas where we can improve audit quality. Together with our AQR process, external inspections aid us in making our audits and related control processes of the highest quality in the interests of investors and other stakeholders.

Information on the above-mentioned regulators can be found on their websites:

Compliance with legal requirements

The Global Code of Conduct provides a clear set of standards that guide our actions and business conduct. EY South Africa complies with applicable laws and regulations and the EY Values underpin our commitment to doing the right thing. This important commitment is supported by a number of policies and procedures, including:

Anti-bribery
EY’s global Anti-bribery Policy provides our people with direction around certain unethical and illegal activities. It emphasises the obligation of our people to comply with anti-bribery laws and provides greater definition of what constitutes bribery. It also identifies reporting responsibilities when bribery is discovered.

Insider trading
EY’s global Insider Trading Policy reaffirms the obligation of our people not to trade in securities with insider information, provides detail on what constitutes insider information and identifies with whom our people should consult if they have questions regarding their responsibilities.

Data privacy
The global Personal Data Privacy Policy sets out the principles to be applied to the use and protection of personal data, including that relating to current, past and prospective personnel, clients, suppliers and business associates. This policy is consistent with applicable laws and regulations concerning data protection and privacy when processing personal data. It provides a foundation for maintaining the privacy of all personal data used by EY South Africa.

Document retention
EY South Africa’s record retention policy applies to all engagements and personnel. This policy emphasises that all documents must be preserved whenever any person becomes aware of any actual or reasonably anticipated claim, litigation, investigation, subpoena or other government proceeding involving us or one of our clients that may relate to our work.
Independence practices

EY’s independence practices are designed to enable EY South Africa and our people to comply with the independence standards applicable to specific engagements, including, for example, the independence standards of the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants (IESBA) of the International Federation of Accountants (IFAC) and the Independent Regulatory Board for Auditors (IRBA).

We consider and evaluate independence from several perspectives, including: our financial relationships and those of our people; employment relationships; business relationships; the permissibility of non-audit services we provide to audit clients; partner rotation; fee arrangements; audit committee preapproval, where applicable; and partner remuneration and compensation.

Failure to comply with applicable professional independence requirements will factor into a person’s promotion and compensation decisions, and may lead to other disciplinary measures.

We have implemented EY’s global applications, tools and processes to support us, our professionals and other employees in complying with independence policies.

EYG Independence Policy

The EYG Independence Policy contains the independence requirements for member firms, professionals and other employees. It is a robust policy predicated on the IESBA independence code, with more stringent requirements where prescribed by a given regulator. The policy also contains guidance to help people apply the independence rules. The EYG Independence Policy is readily accessible and easily searchable through EY’s intranet.

Global Independence System

The Global Independence System (GIS) is an intranet-based tool that helps determine the listed entities from which independence is required and the independence restrictions that apply to each. Most often these are listed audit clients and their affiliates, but they can be other types of attest or assurance clients. The tool includes family tree data relating to affiliates of listed audit clients and is updated by client-serving engagement teams. The entity data includes notations that indicate the independence rules that apply to each entity, helping our people to determine the type of services that can be provided.

Global Monitoring System

The Global Monitoring System (GMS) is another important global tool that assists in identifying proscribed securities and other non-permissible financial interests. People ranked as manager and above are required to enter any securities they hold, or those held by their immediate family, into the GMS. When a person enters a proscribed security, they receive a notice and are required to dispose of the security. Identified exceptions are reported through the Global Independence Incident Reporting System (GIIRS) for regulatory matters.

GMS also facilitates annual and quarterly confirmation of compliance with independence policies, as described below.

Independence compliance

EY has established a number of processes and programs aimed at monitoring the compliance with independence requirements of EY’s member firms and our people. These include the following activities, programs and processes:

Independence confirmations

Timely and accurate completion of annual and quarterly independence confirmations is a high priority for the responsible leadership teams.

Annually, EY South Africa is included in an Area-wide process to confirm compliance with the EYG Independence Policy and requirements and to report identified exceptions, if any.

All of EY’s professionals, and certain others, based on their role or function, are required to confirm compliance with independence policies and procedures at least once a year. All partners are required to confirm compliance quarterly.
Global Independence Compliance Reviews

EY conducts a number of testing and member firm visits to assess compliance with independence matters. These include reviewing for non-audit services, business relationships with the companies we audit and financial relationships of member firms.

Each year, EY’s global Independence team conducts a program for testing compliance with personal independence confirmation requirements and with reporting of information into GMS.

For the 2012 testing cycle, 62 partners and 24 other personnel were tested.

Non-audit services

Compliance with professional standards governing the provision of non-audit services to audit clients is designed to be achieved through a variety of mechanisms. These include the use of tools (e.g., GTAC and Service Offering Reference Tool (SORT)), training, and required procedures completed during the performance of audits and internal inspection processes.

Global independence learning

EY develops and deploys a variety of independence learning programs. All professionals and certain other employees are required to complete annual independence learning to help maintain our independence from the companies we audit.

The goal is to help our people understand their responsibility and to enable each of them, and EY, to be free from interests that might be regarded as being incompatible with objectivity, integrity and impartiality in serving an audit client.

The annual independence learning program covers independence requirements focusing on recent changes to policy, as well as recurring themes and topics of importance. Timely completion of annual independence learning is required and is monitored closely.

In addition to the annual learning program, independence is promoted through a number of events and materials, including the new-hire program, milestone programs and core service-line curricula.

Service Offering Reference Tool (SORT)

We assess and monitor our portfolio of services on an ongoing basis, confirming that they are permitted by law and professional standards, and to make sure that we have the right methodologies, procedures and processes in place as new service offerings are developed. When appropriate, we exit or restrict services that could present undue independence or other risks. SORT provides our people with information about our service offerings. SORT includes guidance around which services can be delivered to audit and non-audit clients, as well as independence and other risk management issues.

Business Relationship Evaluation Tool (BRET)

BRET helps to ensure our business relationships comply with independence requirements. Our people are required to use BRET to evaluate and obtain advance approval of any potential business relationship with an audit client.

Audit committees and corporate governance

EY recognises the important role audit committees and similar corporate governance bodies play in the oversight of auditor independence. Empowered and independent audit committees play a vital role on behalf of shareholders in protecting independence and preventing conflicts of interest. We are committed to robust and regular communication with audit committees or those charged with governance. Through our quality review programs, we monitor and test compliance with our standards for audit committee communications, as well as the pre-approval of services, where applicable.
Creating high-performing teams

EY is building a better working world for its people by recruiting, managing and retaining top talent and developing the highest-performing teams and outstanding leaders.

A strategic objective is to attract and build life-long relationships with a diverse group of talented assurance professionals.

We are proud of our inclusive people culture, and we are committed to doing even more to advance our people's development.

Recruitment and hiring

Recruiting for the audit practice is performed primarily on university campuses and supplemented, when necessary, by hiring people with prior work experience. Candidates are evaluated based on the following competencies:

- Intellectual competence
- Leadership skills
- Team/personal skills
- Motivation
- Communication skills

EY aspires to have a leading people culture everywhere in the world. We believe that creating a culture that attracts, retains and develops outstanding people leads to higher quality service.

Valuing diversity and inclusiveness

The global workforce is becoming more diverse - a trend to be celebrated and encouraged. For global organisations such as EY, an important aspect of creating the right working environment is a focus on inclusiveness.

Inclusiveness is essential to making the diverse mix work. It is about equity and opportunity – making sure that differences are celebrated so that talented people from any background can rise to the top, and ensuring that opportunities to develop and advance are available for all from day one.

It is a source of pride for us that EY is regularly cited by external organisations as being a leader in diversity practices and for providing an excellent working environment.
Continuing education of statutory auditors

Professional development

The EY career development framework, EYU, provides our people with opportunities for the right experiences, learning and coaching to help them grow and achieve their potential.

The learning component of EYU is based on an extensive and globally consistent learning curriculum that helps all of our people develop the right technical and personal leadership skills wherever they are located around the world. Core audit training courses are supplemented by learning programs that are developed in response to changes in accounting and reporting standards, independence and professional standards, and emerging practice issues. We require our audit professionals to obtain at least 20 hours of verifiable continuing professional education each year and at least 120 hours (of which 60 hours must be verifiable) over a three-year period. Audit directors who are also registered as Registered Auditors with the Independent Regulatory Board for Auditors must obtain at least 90 hours of verifiable continuing professional education over any three year period (at least 30 hours per year) of which a minimum of 45 hours must be in the area of professional knowledge. The remaining hours should be devoted to the development of professional skills and ethical values.

In addition to formal learning, professional development occurs through coaching and experiences our professionals receive on the job. Coaching helps to transform knowledge and experience into practice. Experienced professionals are expected to coach and develop less experienced personnel to create a continual learning environment.

Performance management

A comprehensive performance management process requires our people to set goals, have clear work expectations, receive feedback and talk about their performance. The Performance Management and Development Process (PMDP) is designed to help our people grow and succeed in their careers. Under the PMDP, periodic job performance reviews are combined with annual self-appraisal and annual reviews. As part of the annual review process, each professional, in conjunction with his or her counselor (an assigned, more experienced professional), identifies opportunities for further development. Professionals and their counselors are guided by a set of expectations that articulate the knowledge, skills and behaviours that should be maintained and developed for the respective rank. These expectations derive from, and align with, EY’s global strategy and values.
Knowledge and internal communications

We understand the importance of providing client engagement teams with up-to-date information to help them perform their professional responsibilities.

EY has made significant investments in knowledge and communication networks to enable rapid dissemination of information, built around intranet and email applications. These systems provide access to hundreds of knowledge databases. Examples include:

- Global Accounting & Auditing Information Tool (GAAIT) is EY’s standard accounting and auditing research tool. It includes local and international accounting and auditing standards and interpretative guidance.

- Global Accounting and Auditing News is a weekly newsletter providing coverage of global Assurance and Independence policies and procedures, news from the International Accounting Standards Board and International Federation of Accounts (IFAC), and internal commentary and guidance regarding international accounting, auditing and independence developments.

- Your EY Daily News is a daily e-newsletter that reports on the latest news and information about EY and its services.

- Perspectives is a quarterly global e-magazine that provides strategic updates on all four service-lines, as well as observations and viewpoints on issues affecting EY and its clients.

- EY Point of View and Overviews are publications that provide perspective on current public policy and regulatory developments of importance to our profession, stakeholders and capital markets.

- Practice alerts and webcasts include a range of global and country-specific practice alerts and specific webcasts within the Assurance practice, including those highlighting inspection findings as an opportunity for practice improvement.

- PPG News is a regular Africa-specific electronic communication which highlights recent developments in auditing standards and/or changes to our audit methodology, as well as other legal or regulatory developments, and provides interpretative guidance.

Quality-control policy and practice manuals and other guidance materials are included on our intranet. These promote consistency, accuracy, quality and accessibility in our internal and external communications, and functions as a risk management tool. This information, along with guidance materials from outside organisations, is updated regularly and maintained in an electronically searchable format.

Internal surveys and continuous improvement

We regularly gather data from various quality-control processes, such as Audit Quality Reviews, consultation processes and other methods to assist in improving policies, practices and training further. We supplement this data with surveys of our people. The Global People Survey gauges what people think about EY’s culture and how member firms conduct business, one of the best indicators of their focus on quality. Results from these and other feedback tools help identify where member firms are doing well and where improvements can be made. The results also guide us in establishing action plans and initiatives.

Partner remuneration

Quality is at the centre of our business strategy and a key component of our performance management systems. Our partners and other professionals are evaluated and compensated based on criteria that include specific quality and risk management indicators, covering both actions and results.

The Global Partner Performance Management (GPPM) process is a globally consistent evaluation process for all partners in EY’s member firms around the world. It reinforces the global business agenda by linking their performance to wider goals and values. GPPM is an ongoing, cyclical process that includes goal setting, personal development planning, performance review and recognition and reward. It is the cornerstone of the evaluation process to document partners’ goals and performance. A partner’s goals are required to reflect various global priorities, one of which is quality.

We prohibit evaluating and compensating lead audit engagement partners and other key audit partners on an engagement based on the sale of non-assurance services to their audit clients. This reinforces to our partners their professional obligation to maintain our independence and objectivity.

Specific quality and risk management performance measures have been developed to take account of:

- Technical excellence
- Living the EY Values as demonstrated by behaviours and attitude
- Demonstrating knowledge of, and leadership in, quality and risk management
- Compliance with policies and procedures
- Compliance with laws, regulations and professional duties
- Contributing to protecting and enhancing the EY brand

Our partner compensation philosophy calls for meaningfully differentiated rewards based on a partner’s level of performance, as measured by the GPPM process. Partners are assessed annually on their performance in quality service delivery, leading people, operational excellence and market leadership and growth.

We operate a cap system so that a partner’s overall year-end rating is always aligned with the partner’s rating on the quality metric.

To recognise different market values for different skills and roles, and to attract and retain high-performing individuals, the following factors are also considered when calculating total reward:

- Seniority
- Role and responsibility
- Long-term potential
- Mobility

Instances of non-compliance with quality standards will result in remedial actions, which may include compensation adjustment, additional training, additional supervision, or reassignment. A pattern of non-compliance or particularly serious non-compliance may result in actions that include separation from EY.
Working with our stakeholders and communities

Stakeholder dialogue

As an auditor of listed companies and other public interest entities, EY South Africa is acutely aware of the important public interest role we play in promoting trust and confidence in business, capital markets and economies.

We take our public interest responsibilities seriously, and work hard to maintain an open and frank dialogue with our stakeholders as part of our broader commitment to building a better working world.

Our environment is shaped by a wide range of policymakers, including governments, regulators, standard setters and international organisations. When meeting with our stakeholders, we provide our perspective and seek to better understand their point of view.

We encourage improvements in corporate governance, financial reporting and other matters that affect our capital markets more broadly.

EY is engaging increasingly with global organisations like the Financial Stability Board, the International Forum of Independent Audit Regulators, and the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision. EY also participates in global forums, such as the World Economic Forum, that bring together thought leaders on issues important to us and our stakeholders.

Selected stakeholder engagement globally in 2013

During the past year, international organisations and policy makers around the world have focused on a number of issues affecting our profession, including the independence of auditors, the quality of audits, and the usefulness of financial reporting. Policy options such as enhanced auditor reporting; more meaningful corporate disclosure; mandatory audit firm rotation or tendering; and increased transparency of audit committee auditor oversight are being debated in a number of jurisdictions. These options are critical to the continuing relevance of audit, the attractiveness and sustainability of the audit profession, and our ongoing ability to fulfil our public interest role.

EY has met regularly with investors, regulators, legislators and other policy makers in 2013 to discuss these issues. These conversations have highlighted the importance of strong corporate governance, with active and engaged audit committees who are transparent with shareholders about their oversight of the external auditor. There is a strong desire for meaningful change to increase the usefulness and informational value of the auditor’s report, and we believe that auditors should be required to highlight matters that, in the auditor’s judgment, are most significant in the audit.

Investors are among our key stakeholders. This past year EY has continued to increase its investor engagement around the world to make sure EY understands investor perspectives on auditing, financial reporting, corporate governance and other capital market issues. For example, during 2013, EY held three dialogue dinners with investors and other stakeholders from around the globe. These are the latest in a series of dinners convened since 2011 to foster discussion about ways to improve corporate governance. Some of these discussions have covered a range of topical governance matters, while others have focused on governance in particular geographic markets or sectors of the economy. These dinners are independently moderated and held on a Chatham House or off-the-record basis to encourage frank discussion.

EY continues to participate in the Global Auditor Investor Dialogue, an informal network of leading global institutional investors, and major global auditing networks to exchange views on current financial reporting and auditing issues. EY has also become a member of the Asian Corporate Governance Association and continues to be an active member and sponsor of the International Corporate Governance Network. These organisations enhance EY’s ability to hear the perspectives of a wide variety of investors and others and better understand their views.
Commitment to our communities

Our commitment to building a better working world begins with our people and extends to the work we do with clients and other stakeholders in the marketplace. The net effect is the benefit this generates for communities around the world. The most significant impact we have on society is by our support of global and local economic stability and growth, which addresses some of the major issues that the world is facing.

EY supports organisations and activities that contribute to building a better working world at the global, regional and local level. EY is proud to be part of the UN Global Compact and has pledged to uphold its ten universally accepted principles in the areas of human rights, labour, the environment and anti-corruption. EY reports its progress every year.

Supporting communities through charitable giving

We contribute to not-for-profit organisations that are aligned with our corporate responsibility strategy, as well as those that address the most pressing needs of the communities in which we live and work.

At Ernst & Young we use our unique set of skills and capabilities to make a difference and strengthen the foundation of our business communities by focusing on Entrepreneurship, Education, Environmental sustainability and Eradicating poverty (the 4E’s) - Our people are at the centre of our CSR strategy.

Skill-Based Volunteerism

Skill-Based Volunteering actively engages our people in the community. Examples of how our people make a difference:

- Advising entrepreneurs how to strengthen their businesses;
- Leading training sessions to build key skills among business leaders;
- Participating as a board member in a non-profit organisation;
- Coaching schoolchildren to improve their math skills;
- Skill-based volunteering is also a way to showcase our people's talents and capabilities, and make a difference in the community.

In FY13, we supported – amongst others - the following initiatives:

- BBBSSA (Big Brother Big Sister South Africa)
- Cell C Take a Girl Child to Work Day
- Employee Giving Programme
- Habitat for Humanity
- The Hope Factory
- Thuthuka Programme

Demonstrating environmental stewardship

We believe that any commitment to a greener world starts with us. As such, we're challenging ourselves to work in an environmentally responsible manner and to find new ways to reduce our carbon footprint and waste.

EY continues to build out its greenhouse gas measurement and reporting. Working with in-house Climate Change and Sustainability Services professionals, EY has established a global methodology for calculating environmental impacts. EY is looking for ways to evolve and employ leading practices to make sure it has a credible global footprint.

The UN Global Compact’s ten principles

2. Make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses.
