Our programme is not a competition. It's all about giving people a chance to showcase how they are putting digital technologies to work to improve health and social care services. The programme comprises events and activities designed to identify and recognise the digital innovators making the biggest impact for citizens, patients, carers and society.

The Digital Innovation Programme is also linked to the EY Startup Challenge, an intensive six-week innovation programme focused on accelerating technological solutions for tomorrow’s business problems. If you are selected to be a part of this, you will receive mentoring and coaching, access to the EY firm and client network, training and support workshops, and an understanding of how to access funding for the duration of the programme.

It’s online and simple. Just head to www.ey.com/uk/dip to register your interest and provide some background on your innovation or follow the Q-code. Share your involvement on Twitter, LinkedIn, Facebook or wherever using #EYdigital.

At EY, we have a longstanding commitment to innovation and entrepreneurship. Our Entrepreneur Of The Year Programme has been running for over a quarter of a century, celebrating the leaders of organisations who stand out from the rest. Through the charitable arm of our business, The EY Foundation, we support social enterprises and early startups through our Accelerate Programme, a series of coaching and business workshops to help younger organisations grow. As you progress through the programme, you will have opportunities to engage with these initiatives and gain access to knowledge, networking and coaching to help take your digital initiatives to the next level.

At EY, it’s how we build a better working world.

Why

The advent of the digital age means that society expects all organizations to be innovative and tech-savvy in how they deliver services. As well as making services more accessible, embracing digital offers the potential for cost savings and enables organisations to be forward thinking, faster and fitter.

We have started the EY Digital Innovation Programme to help bring digital innovation in health and social care to the forefront. It is intended to shine the light on initiatives to facilitate the sharing of best practices and recognise and celebrate the patients, carers and citizens who make a positive difference to society through their innovative use of digital platforms.

At EY, it’s how we build a better world.
