PJ is a recognized leader in Tax Technology, currently heading EY Canada's Tax Technology and Transformation (TTT) practice. With over 20+ years of dedicated experience, he has played a pivotal role in shaping the tax strategies of both public and private sector clients.

PJ's expertise lies in guiding more than 50 Fortune 500 companies through the complexities of tax function optimization. He excels at analyzing the flow of tax information across organizational systems, identifying key touchpoints, and implementing tailored tax technology solutions that drive transparency, reduce risk, and enhance operational efficiency.

In his role at EY, PJ has led numerous high-stakes tax technology engagements for some of the firm's most significant clients, helping them to re-engineer and elevate their tax functions to meet the challenges of today's business landscape.

As a thought leader in the field, PJ is a frequent speaker at prominent industry events, including TEI, ACT, and various vendor conferences. He is also an accomplished author, having published several articles on the evolving landscape of Tax Technology.
