

Shape the future
with confidence

How do you build confidence to achieve desired transformation program outcomes?

EY Transformation Program Manager
(EY T-PM)

The better the question. The better the answer. The better the world works.

Challenge

In today's fast-changing environment, organizations are under pressure to improve efficiency, encourage collaboration, and safeguard data while managing diverse programs and projects. Many organizations struggle with outdated project management tools, manual processes and fragmented systems. Recognizing the increasing requirement for projects to deliver at pace – within timeline, scope and cost, the use of an AI-powered program management tool is quickly emerging as a leading practice.

Product description

EY Transformation Program Manager (EY T-PM) is an AI-powered program management tool surfacing EY teams leading practices in program management in an intuitive Microsoft Teams based application. EY T-PM provides easy-to-use and quick-to-apply program and project management capabilities to instantly support transformation initiatives.

EY T-PM is an AI-powered program management tool designed to manage the delivery of transformation programs and projects in one place, enabled by real-time collaboration. It addresses the challenges of siloed ways of working, single source of truth and standardization.

EY T-PM empowers organizations to drive consistency across in their programs, and streamline processes to garner insight, which enables data driven decision-making and in turn protects delivery.

The simple and intuitive-to-use tool enhances the delivery experience to achieve desired outcome.

Case study

Key product features

■ Automating and enhancing core program management tasks with AI

This includes the Project Creation Wizard (extracting milestones, risks, deliverables, and assumptions from documents), Project Charter Automation and risks, assumptions, issues, decisions (RAID) management assistance.

■ Real-time collaborative planning

The Live Edit feature allows multiple users to collaborate on the same plan simultaneously, with instant synchronization and presence indicators.

■ Seamless integration with third-party tools

EY T-PM has out-of-the-box integrations with popular third-party execution tools. This allows for advanced scheduling, agile tracking, and consolidated project oversight.

■ Embedded AI assistant (Sidekick)

The AI assistant, Sidekick, provides real-time answers to best practice and project-specific questions, surfaces recommendations, and enables users to take action directly within the platform without navigating multiple tabs.

Product benefits

■ Improved efficiency

Reduces manual effort, improves accuracy, and accelerates project setup and ongoing management.

■ Informed decision-making

Enhances team collaboration, ensures everyone is working with the latest information, and streamlines project updates.

■ High flexibility

Enables unified management across platforms, reduces duplication, and supports both waterfall and agile methodologies.

■ Instant access to program management leading practices

Increases user productivity, supports decision-making, and simplifies access to information and actions.
