

How can a single technology platform be the engine behind an entire transaction?

What if there was a way to help maximize both speed and value across a transaction?

What if there was a technology that connected teams across multiple functional and geographical areas?

What if you could execute a transaction or transformation faster, improve focus via a single source of truth and make more informed decisions to unlock long-term value?

Introducing Capital Edge – no more what ifs

Capital Edge is an agile AI-powered M&A transaction and transformation platform. It helps accelerate and de-risk activities on all aspects of the most complex projects and programs, unlocking fast-track delivery and value realization across M&A, spins, carve-outs and business model transformations.

What does the platform do?

- Analyzes multiple sources of data to manage and track financial outcomes, and drive better decision-making
- Combines traditional project management office (PMO) functionality and capabilities with advanced features that support complex M&A and transformation projects
- Leverages leading practice with pre-built methods and templates for a single way of working to increase productivity and deliver execution excellence
- Eliminates silos, saves time, and increases governance and traceability
- Enables the real-time, global collaboration you need for all parties to pull together in sync in the same direction
- Streamlines value capture activities: Sharpen synergy tracking, cost elimination or internal cost restructuring for easy comparison and contrast of data to better understand movements and gaps during realization
- Provides immediate, actionable, and personalized insights to help propel your engagement forward via the AI-powered Capital Edge Assistant

There are over 30 purpose-built apps available in the Capital Edge app store. These provide you with the latest engagement accelerators, best practices and methodologies at your fingertips to support and streamline your processes to drive better outcomes

The better the question.
The better the answer.
The better the world works.

How does the platform benefit you?

The platform caters to all your program delivery needs, supported by an AI-driven assistant to propel your project forward – whether you are in a live deal or post-deal scenario:

- Tools to model and track the desired outcomes, simplifying program execution and real-time global collaboration
- Everything you need to blueprint and validate scenario models, target operating models, forecasts, and financial and commercial plans.
- Embedded leading practices to help you design where and how business should be done
- Fast deployment and toolkit flexibility to help rapidly mobilize the right technology at the right time
- Leading-edge support for project management, advanced analytics, data accelerators and transparent value realization

With Capital Edge, you can collaborate globally, streamline processes and drive teamworking that will help you to realize the full value of your transformation.
