What is EY CAFTA Case Championship?

The EY CAFTA Case Championship 2026 is a strategic learning initiative designed to provide students with access to differentiated, real-world approaches to finance and treasury decision-making.

It is time to test your problem-solving skills in the real world. Can you work on these problem statements to deliver original, creative and innovative solutions to drive a business strategy?

The 12th Edition Treasury Transformation Challenge presents participants with a real-world business case centered on treasury transformation. Teams will analyze complex treasury processes, identify improvement opportunities and recommend future-ready solutions by leveraging strategy, technology and operating model enhancements with a comprehensive solution.

Do you have what it takes to transform treasury for the future?

Step into the shoes of a treasury transformation consultant, solve real-world business challenges and develop innovative solutions that drive strategic impact. Enhance your finance, consulting, and problem-solving skills while learning from industry experts.

One challenge. A complete treasury experience that brings together students from across India to navigate liquidity, risk, investments and funding decisions while shaping the future of financial leadership.

Treasury transformation: Strategy to execution

Welcome to Treasury Operating Model Transformation, where you will redesign the treasury function to create a centralized, efficient, and scalable operating model. The focus is on optimizing treasury organization, cash and liquidity management, banking structures, governance, controls, technology and risk management to build a world-class treasury function that supports business growth and strategic decision-making.

What you will learn in this stream:

- How treasury teams balance liquidity, risk, and returns when making investment decisions
- How treasury teams evaluate and design cash and liquidity management frameworks to enhance operational efficiency and liquidity visibility.
- How teams identify and mitigate key liquidity, operational and financial risks.
- How market events impact financial decisions
- How CFOs and treasury leaders make strategic decisions in uncertain market conditions

Why it matters:

This stream helps you think like a treasury leader, making critical decisions on funding, investments, liquidity and risk management while balancing business growth and financial stability.

The case studies will encourage you to understand the complex financial scenarios in the industry. All the participants will get access to the learning material

Why should I participate?

Your participation will help us in building a better working world

Shape your future, solve real challenges and be the next treasury leader—your journey starts here!

Voices of success: Testimonials from past participants

The modules are well designed, and makes you interested in knowing more. Solving the case involved holistic research of the treasury market, and it helped me learn how to structure my thought process. Also, the mentorship session was very helpful in this regard. Overall, it was a really great learning experience. Thank you for organizing this.
