

CEO Pay Ratio FY25

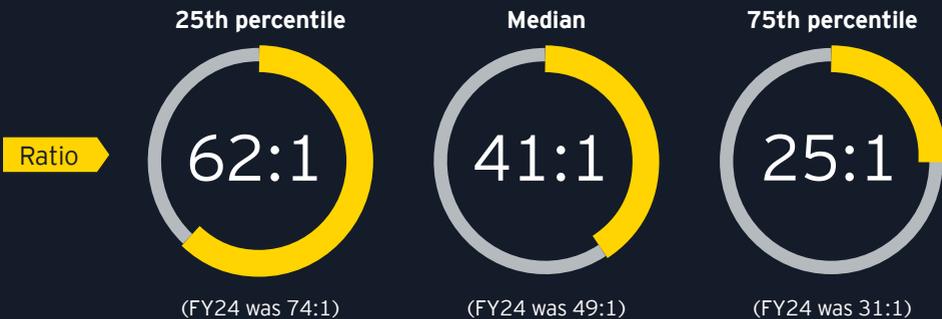

February 2026

Shape the future
with confidence

The better the question. The better the answer. The better the world works.

For the FY25 Financial year*, EY's pay ratios are as follows

Pay ratios indicate what the 'CEO' earns in comparison to workers at different points within their organisation, namely compared to the 75th, median and 25th percentile (i.e., those at the top quarter, the middle and bottom quarter of earners in their organisation). Anna Anthony is EY's CEO equivalent for reporting at FY25.

EY operates a partnership structure and therefore does not fall under the scope of the regulations, but the firm has chosen to publish the data nonetheless.

This move is in keeping with EY's commitment to maintain a fair, equitable and transparent approach to pay. We have published this data because, although it is not a requirement, we feel it is important to hold ourselves to account.

We want all our people, from all backgrounds, to have access to and understand this data, as part of helping them to make informed choices about their career paths. We want them to have transparency throughout their career journey and therefore greater ability to access the route to becoming a Partner if this is what they aspire to.

*Our figures have been determined based on those with the firm at the end of June 25
