Explanatory Memorandum

Introduction

This memorandum provides background to the following proposed Statements on Auditing Standards (SASs):

1. Proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements
2. Proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report
3. Proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report

The proposed auditor reporting SASs would supersede the following sections of SAS No. 122, Statements on Auditing Standards: Clarification and Recodification, as amended:

1. Section 700, Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements
2. Section 705, Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report, as amended

This memorandum also provides background to proposed amendments to heighten auditor focus on disclosures throughout the performance of an audit of financial statements. Because these proposed amendments affect proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements as well as AU-C sections also amended by the auditor reporting project, as explained further in the following section, the Auditing Standards Board (ASB) determined that it would be helpful to respondents to expose the proposed changes resulting from the disclosures project along with the proposed changes resulting from the auditor reporting project.

Background

Auditor Reporting

The call for changes to the auditor reporting model in the United States and other jurisdictions around the world resulted from a desire by users of financial statements and the auditor’s report for more information about significant aspects of the audit.

The ASB has monitored developments related to the auditor reporting model in the United States and internationally. In particular, the ASB followed the auditor reporting projects of the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB) and Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB) (see further discussion about these projects in the following sections). The ASB Auditor Reporting Task Force was formed to consider the implications of these projects on auditor’s reports issued for audits of nonissuers.

1 All AU-C sections can be found in AICPA Professional Standards.
Input was received from investors and other users, as well as regulators, corporate governance organizations, auditors, and others, in response to a number of proposals and requests for public comment from these standard setters relating to changes to the auditor’s report. Several key themes emerged from that process:

- Users indicated that they continued to value the pass or fail nature of the auditor’s opinion but that the remainder of the auditor’s report was boilerplate in nature and provided little transparency into the audit.
- In particular, certain users desired more and better information about those areas of the audit that posed higher assessed risks of material misstatement or involved significant judgment by management and the auditor, or related to significant events or transactions.
- Users and other stakeholders also supported expanding the description in the auditor’s report of the responsibilities of management for the preparation of the financial statements, and of the auditor for the audit of the financial statements, as a way of addressing the long-standing expectations gap.

As a part of the overall auditor reporting project, in January 2016, the ASB issued SAS No. 131, Amendment to Statement on Auditing Standards No. 122 Section 700, Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements, which addressed the form of auditor’s report to use when the audit is conducted in accordance with PCAOB standards and the audit is not within the jurisdiction of the PCAOB. The ASB also issued an interpretation in April 2016 to address matters that may arise when performing an audit under both U.S. generally accepted auditing standards (GAAS) and the new and revised International Standards on Auditing (ISAs) when the auditor intends to issue one report that refers to both sets of standards.

The ASB has considered the revisions to the auditor’s report resulting from the IAASB and PCAOB auditor reporting projects in developing the changes to GAAS described in this exposure draft. The ASB believes these changes will increase the informational value and relevance of the auditor’s report for users and, therefore, are in the public interest.

IAASB Auditor Reporting Project

In January 2015, the IAASB issued new and revised ISAs relating to reporting on audited financial statements (hereinafter referred to as the new and revised ISAs). Following is a list of the significant new and revised ISAs relating to reporting on a complete set of general purpose financial statements:

1. ISA 700 (Revised), Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements
2. ISA 701, Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report
3. ISA 705 (Revised), Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report
4. ISA 706 (Revised), Emphasis of Matter Paragraphs and Other Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report
5. ISA 570 (Revised), Going Concern
6. ISA 260 (Revised), Communication with Those Charged with Governance

The new and revised ISAs are effective for audits of financial statements for periods ending on or after December 15, 2016.
The issuance of the new and revised ISAs was the culmination of a process starting in 2006 with international academic research on user perceptions of the standard auditor’s report that was jointly commissioned by the IAASB and ASB. The process also involved three requests for public comment by the IAASB, as well as extensive outreach and dialogue with global stakeholders. A principal objective of the IAASB’s auditor reporting project was to increase the informational value of the auditor’s report, and therefore the relevance and usefulness of the report for users of financial statements.

One of the most significant changes in the new and revised ISAs relates to the communication of key audit matters (KAMs) in the auditor’s report. ISA 700 (Revised) requires the auditor to communicate KAMs in the auditor’s report for audits of complete sets of general purpose financial statements for listed entities. This is done in accordance with ISA 701, which also applies when the auditor is otherwise required by law or regulation or decides to communicate KAMs in the auditor’s report. KAMs are selected from matters communicated with those charged with governance and are defined in ISA 701 as those matters that, in the auditor’s professional judgment, were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period.

Convergence

It is the ASB’s strategy to converge its standards with those of the IAASB. In doing that, the ASB uses the corresponding ISA as the base in developing its standards. In making the proposed revisions to the accompanying proposed SASs, the ASB used ISAs 700 (Revised), 701, 705 (Revised), and 706 (Revised) as the base.

The ASB has made certain changes to the language of the ISAs to use terms or phrases that are more common in the United States and to tailor examples and guidance to the U.S. environment. However, the ASB believes that such changes will not create substantive differences in application between the ISAs and proposed SASs.

See the section “Significant Changes From Existing Standards” for a summary of the changes to extant AU-C sections that would result from the proposed SASs if they are issued as final.

PCAOB Auditor Reporting Model

On June 1, 2017, the PCAOB adopted a new auditing standard, AS 3101, The Auditor’s Report on an Audit of Financial Statements When the Auditor Expresses an Unqualified Opinion, (hereinafter referred to as the new PCAOB standard) and related amendments to its existing auditing standards. The new PCAOB standard, which retains the pass or fail nature of the auditor’s opinion, is intended to enhance the relevance and usefulness of the auditor’s report by providing additional and important information to investors.

The new PCAOB standard is similar in many respects to the IAASB’s changes to the auditor’s report. For example, both the PCAOB and IAASB require the “Opinion” section to be presented first in the auditor’s report, followed by the “Basis for Opinion” section. Both require a more explicit reference to independence in the “Basis for Opinion” section. However, there also are some differences between the two forms of auditor’s report. For example, the IAASB requires a more extensive description of the responsibilities of management and the auditor for the preparation and audit of the financial statements, respectively.

The new PCAOB standard also requires a discussion of critical audit matters (CAMs) in the auditor’s report for audits conducted in accordance with the PCAOB standards, except for certain types of entities that are specifically scoped out of the CAM requirement. The new PCAOB standard defines a CAM as any matter arising from the audit of the financial statements that was communicated or was required to be communicated to the audit committee, and that relates to accounts or disclosures that are material to the financial statements and involved especially challenging, subjective, or complex auditor judgment. In reference to the IAASB’s approach to determining KAMs, and auditor reporting models in other jurisdictions that require the communication of similar types of matters in the auditor’s report, the PCAOB has indicated that “although the processes of identifying these matters vary across jurisdictions, there are commonalities in the underlying criteria regarding matters to be communicated and the communication requirements, such that expanded auditor reporting could result in the communication of many of the same matters under the various approaches.”

The requirements in the new PCAOB standard are largely the same as those in the PCAOB’s May 2016 reproposal of the auditor reporting standard for public comment. The ASB considered the requirements in the PCAOB reproposal in the development of the proposed SASs and related amendments. Although certain changes were made to the proposed SASs and amendments in light of the PCAOB auditor reporting model, the ASB’s primary focus was on convergence with the ISAs, as explained earlier in the section “Convergence.”

For all elements of the PCAOB auditor’s report other than CAMs, the effective date is for audits for fiscal years ending on or after December 15, 2017. The effective date for CAMs is for fiscal years ending on or after June 30, 2019, for audits of large accelerated filers and for fiscal years ending on or after December 15, 2020, for audits of all other companies to which the new PCAOB standard applies. The final standard and amendments were approved by the SEC on October 23, 2017.

Disclosures

The ASB formed the Disclosures Task Force to consider changes to various AU-C sections to converge with the IAASB pronouncement Addressing Disclosures in the Audit of Financial Statements—Revised ISAs and Related Conforming Amendments (disclosures project) issued in July 2015. The disclosures project was aimed at focusing auditors’ attention on disclosures throughout the financial statement audit. The changes include strengthened requirements in ISA 315, Assessing the Risks of Material Misstatement Through Understanding the Entity and Its Environment, ISA 330, The Auditor’s Responses to Assessed Risks, and ISA 700 (Revised), Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements, as well as enhanced application material in these and several other ISAs to assist auditors in addressing the practical challenges arising from the evolving nature of disclosures.
The proposed amendments, for example, those intended to further enhance the focus of the auditor on disclosures in the early stages of the audit, may also result in additional focus on disclosures by entities in their financial statement preparation process, thereby improving the quality of disclosures.

The IAASB had completed its auditor reporting project before beginning its disclosures project; accordingly, changes to ISA 700 arising from the disclosures project were made as amendments in the IAASB pronouncement Addressing Disclosures in the Audit of Financial Statements—Revised ISAs and Related Conforming Amendments. Because the ASB undertook its auditor reporting project and consideration of convergence with the IAASB’s disclosures project concurrently, relevant proposed changes arising from the disclosures project have been incorporated in proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements. To assist respondents in identifying changes arising from the disclosures project, supplemental material has been prepared that shows proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements, as well as the other affected sections, marked for the disclosures amendments.

Other Projects Related to Auditor Reporting

2 Section II.B.2, Comparison of the Board’s Final Standard to Other Requirements, of PCAOB Release No. 2017-001, The Auditor’s Report on an Audit of Financial Statements When the Auditor Expresses an Unqualified Opinion and Related Amendments to PCAOB Standards.
Other Information

In April 2015, the IAASB issued ISA 720 (Revised), The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information. The ASB formed a task force to consider ISA 720 (Revised) and whether revisions should be made to AU-C section 720, Other Information in Documents Containing Audited Financial Statements, in order to converge with ISA 720 (Revised). In November 2017, the proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports was issued for public comment by the ASB. It addresses the auditor’s responsibilities relating to other information, whether financial or nonfinancial information (other than financial statements and the auditor’s report thereon), included in an entity’s annual report (as defined in the proposed SAS), including a new requirement to identify in an “Other Information” section in the auditor’s report when, prior to the date of the auditor’s report, the auditor has obtained other information, if any. The appendix to this proposed SAS, “Amendments to Various Sections in SAS No. 122, Statements on Auditing Standards: Clarification and Recodification, as amended, and SAS No. 132, The Auditor’s Consideration of an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern,” contains a proposed amendment to AU-C section 210 (new paragraph .A17) relating to the proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports.

Effect on Extant AU-C Sections 800, 805, and 810

The ASB recognizes the need to consider the potential effect of this exposure draft on extant AU-C section 800, Special Considerations—Audits of Financial Statements Prepared in Accordance With Special Purpose Frameworks, AU-C section 805, Special Considerations—Audits of Single Financial Statements and Specific Elements, Accounts, or Items of a Financial Statement, and AU-C section 810, Engagements to Report on Summary Financial Statements (the 800 series). The ASB concluded that the 800 series should be addressed after feedback is received on the proposed SASs in this exposure draft. The ASB intends to propose any necessary changes to the 800 series through a separate exposure draft, with the intent of aligning the effective dates of all the reporting standards to the extent practicable. Respondents are welcome to raise initial views on potential necessary amendments to the 800 series arising from this exposure draft to inform the ASB’s deliberations.

Employee Benefit Plans

In April 2017, the ASB released an exposure draft for a new auditing standard, Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements of Employee Benefit Plans Subject to ERISA (proposed EBP reporting standard), that addresses the auditor’s responsibilities to form an opinion and report on ERISA plan financial statements. The ASB recognizes the need to consider the potential effect of this auditor reporting exposure draft on the proposed EBP reporting standard. The ASB will give further consideration to changes that may be needed to the proposed EBP reporting standard as a result of this auditor reporting exposure draft (for example, the ordering of the sections or the description of the auditor’s responsibilities in the auditor’s report for EBP plans subject to ERISA).

Proposed Statement on Auditing Standards Omnibus Statement on Auditing Standards—2018

Since the ASB completed its auditing standards clarity project, which clarified GAAS and converged them with the ISAs issued by the IAASB, the PCAOB has issued Auditing Standard (AS) 1301, Communication With Audit Committees, AS 2701, Supplementary Information, and AS 2410, Related Parties. The release of these auditing standards included conforming amendments to other PCAOB auditing standards. The ASB Disclosures Task Force was asked to consider whether these three standards included material that, if included in the requirements or application material of GAAS, would enhance audit quality for audits of financial statements of nonissuers in an effective and efficient manner.

The exposure draft Proposed Statement on Auditing Standards Omnibus Statement on Auditing Standards—2018 (omnibus SAS exposure draft) was issued in November 2017. Several of the AU-C sections amended by this auditor reporting exposure draft are also amended by the omnibus SAS exposure draft. In particular, the text and paragraph numbering of AU-C section 260 is affected by both exposure drafts. Respondents are encouraged to consider the proposed amendments in this exposure draft in conjunction with the proposed amendments in the omnibus SAS exposure draft, particularly with respect to AU-C section 260.

Effective Date

The proposed SASs and related proposed amendments would be effective no earlier than for audits of financial statements for periods ending on or after June 15, 2019, depending on the timing of finalizing the proposed standards and amendments. Because the proposed standards and amendments are interrelated, all of them would be required to be adopted concurrently. It is anticipated that early implementation will not be permitted.

Significant Changes From Existing Standards

The following summarizes what the ASB believes would be the most significant changes to existing standards if the proposed standards were issued as final. Unless otherwise indicated, paragraph references are to the relevant requirements in the respective proposed SASs, which should be read together with the related application material.

The supplementary materials to this exposure draft include documents that provide a detailed comparison of the proposed SASs to the corresponding ISAs and extant AU-C sections. These documents may be helpful for respondents in further understanding the changes being proposed. The changes being proposed are focused on the form and content of the auditor’s report and do not change the existing requirements for performing an audit in accordance with GAAS, except as otherwise described in the following sections.

Proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements (AU-C section 700)

The proposed SAS is intended to converge with ISA 700 (Revised) and, if issued as final, would change the form and content for all auditor’s reports issued for audits of non-issuers. These changes would be consistent with the changes to the auditor’s report resulting from the IAASB’s new and revised ISAs, and would be consistent with the new PCAOB auditor reporting model with respect to the positioning of the sections “Opinion” and “Basis for Opinion.” The existing requirements relating to forming an opinion on the financial statements, and the form of the opinion, generally would remain unchanged (paragraphs 10–18).

The following summarizes what the ASB believes are the most significant changes in the proposed SAS from extant AU-C section 700:

- Requires the “Opinion” section to be presented first in the auditor’s report, followed by the “Basis for Opinion” section, unless law or regulation prescribe otherwise (paragraphs 22–26)

- Requires the “Basis for Opinion” section of the auditor’s report to include an affirmative statement about the auditor’s independence and fulfillment of the auditor’s other ethical responsibilities in accordance with relevant ethical requirements relating to the audit (paragraph 26c)
• Requires the auditor to report in accordance with proposed amendments to AU-C section 570, The Auditor’s Consideration of an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern (paragraph 27) (see further discussion in the section “Proposed Amendments”)

• Communication of KAMs would not be required for audits of nonissuers. However, if the terms of the audit engagement include reporting KAMs, the auditor would be required to communicate KAMs in accordance with proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report (paragraph 28)

• Requires the auditor to report in accordance with proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports (paragraph 29) (see further discussion in the section “Other Projects Relating to Auditor Reporting”)

• Expands the description of the responsibilities of management for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements, and includes a requirement to identify those responsible for the oversight of the financial reporting process when those responsible for such oversight differ from those responsible for the preparation of the financial statements (paragraphs 30–33)

• Expands the description of the responsibilities of the auditor and key features of an audit (paragraphs 34–37)

Request for Comment

Please provide your views on the changes to extant AU-C section 700 described in the preceding section. In addition, the ASB would like your views on the following:

1. Are the proposed revisions to existing requirements clear and understandable, and is the application material helpful in supporting the application of those requirements?

2. Are the descriptions of the responsibilities of management and the auditor relating to going concern (paragraphs 31b and 36biv) useful and understandable, in view of the calls for more information in the auditor’s report about their respective responsibilities in this area? Would any modifications to the descriptions of management’s responsibility be necessary for any specific financial reporting framework? Are there any concerns about possible confusion or misinterpretation about the auditor’s responsibilities, in particular the requirement to conclude on the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern, recognizing that the description is consistent with the requirement in paragraph .20 of AU-C section 570 (SAS No. 132)?

3. Will the requirement to identify those responsible for the oversight of the financial reporting process present any practical difficulties when those responsible for the oversight of the financial reporting process are also responsible for preparation of the financial statements (as may be the case, for example, in a small owner-managed entity)?

4. Does the expanded description of the auditor’s responsibilities, including the key features of the audit, provide useful information and greater transparency into what an audit is and what the auditor does? Are there any aspects of the auditor’s responsibilities that should be added?

Proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report (proposed new AU-C section 701)
As discussed earlier, proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements would not require the communication of KAMs for audits of nonissuers but, if done as part of the terms of the audit engagement, the auditor would be required to communicate KAMs in accordance with proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report.

The ASB discussed ways of providing guidance for auditors in those circumstances in which KAMs are communicated in the auditor’s report, and the ASB concluded that a separate standard similar to ISA 701 would be most appropriate. Accordingly, proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report converges closely with ISA 701.

Request for Comment

5. What are your views regarding whether the requirements and guidance in the proposed SAS will be helpful for auditors in determining and communicating KAMs?

6. Is it sufficiently clear that the communication of KAMs is not required for audits of nonissuers?

Proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report (AU-C section 705)

The proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report is intended to converge with ISA 705 (Revised). The principal changes to extant AU-C section 705 relate to the form and content of the auditor’s report when the opinion is modified consistent with the requirements in proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements. See paragraphs 17–30 of proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report and the related application material. The supplementary materials to this exposure draft illustrate detailed changes made to extant AU-C section 705. The existing requirements regarding circumstances in which a modification to the auditor’s opinion is required, and for determining the type of modification to the auditor’s opinion, remain unchanged (paragraphs 8–16).

Request for Comment

Please provide your views on the changes to extant AU-C section 705 described in the preceding section. In addition, the ASB would like your views on the following:

7. Are the revisions to existing requirements clear and understandable, and is the application material helpful in supporting the application of those requirements?

The proposed SAS Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report is intended to converge with ISA 706 (Revised). The principal changes to extant AU-C section 706 relate to clarifying the relationship between emphasis-of-matter paragraphs and the communication of KAMs in the auditor’s report. When proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies, the use of an emphasis-of-matter paragraph is not a substitute for a description of individual KAMs (see paragraphs 8 and A1). Proposed SAS Emphasis-of-Matter and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report also requires the auditor to use an appropriate heading for an emphasis-of-matter paragraph that includes the term “Emphasis of Matter” (paragraph 9). The auditor would be able to add additional context to the heading to further describe the nature of the matter (for example, “Emphasis of Matter—Subsequent Event”).

Request for Comment

Please provide your views on the changes to extant AU-C section 706 described in the preceding section. In addition, the ASB would like your views on the following:

8. Are the revisions to existing requirements clear and understandable, and is the application material helpful in supporting the application of those requirements?

9. Is the interrelationship between emphasis-of-matter or other-matter paragraphs and KAMs clear and understandable, recognizing that the communication of KAMs is not required for audits of nonissuers? If not, what additional guidance would be helpful?

Significant Proposed Amendments to Existing Auditor Reporting Standards

This section discusses certain of the more significant proposed amendments to existing AU-C sections. The appendix to this exposure draft contains all the proposed amendments.

AU-C Section 570, Going Concern

The proposed amendments to AU-C section 570 (SAS No. 132) modify the requirements relating to auditor reporting on going concern to be consistent with the corresponding requirements in ISA 570 (Revised). When SAS No. 132 was issued in February 2017, it was contemplated that the reporting requirements would be assessed and potentially revised in connection with the ASB’s auditor reporting project. The underlying auditor performance requirements relating to going concern are not changing.

If, after considering identified conditions or events and management’s plans, the auditor concludes that substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time remains, the auditor would include a separate section in the auditor’s report under the heading “Substantial Doubt About the Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern” instead of an emphasis-of-matter paragraph. The content of this separate section would be similar to that included in the emphasis-of-matter paragraph. See paragraph 24 in the proposed amendments to AU-C section 570 (SAS 132).

Illustrations of auditor’s reports relating to going concern that reflect these amended reporting requirements have also been included.

AU-C Section 260, Communications With Those Charged With Governance

If the proposed amendments are issued as final, the most significant change to extant AU-C section 260 would be a requirement for the auditor to communicate with those charged with governance about the significant risks identified by the auditor (paragraph 11). This communication would be part of the required communication of an overview of the planned scope and timing of the audit. The IAASB made this change to ISA 260 (Revised) to be consistent with a similar requirement in PCAOB AS 1301 and to align with the considerations for the auditor in determining KAMs in accordance with ISA 701. IAASB stakeholders noted that, in most cases, auditors were already communicating with those charged with governance about the significant risks that had been identified.
The proposed amendments to AU-C section 260 would also add a requirement for the auditor to communicate with those charged with governance about circumstances that affect the form and content of the auditor’s report, if any (paragraph 12d). This change is consistent with paragraph .10 of AU-C section 210, Terms of Engagement, which requires the documented agreed-upon terms of the audit engagement to include a reference to the expected form and content of any reports to be issued by the auditor. This would address circumstances such as a modified opinion, inclusion of an emphasis-of-matter or other-matter paragraph, or the communication of KAMs in the auditor’s report.

AU-C Section 210, Terms of Engagement

The proposed amendments to AU-C section 210 modify the application material relating to the form and content of the engagement letter (paragraph A24) and the example audit engagement letter (paragraph A44) to be consistent with the changes to the elements of the auditor’s report in proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements, as described in the section “Significant Changes From Existing Standards.”

A new application material paragraph (A25) is being added to provide guidance when management (and, as applicable, those charged with governance) has requested that the auditor communicate KAMs in the auditor’s report and to provide guidance regarding the acknowledgment of this in the engagement letter.

Certain other amendments are proposed to the application material in AU-C section 210 relating to proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports and for changes resulting from the disclosures project.

Issues for Consideration

In addition to overall views on the proposed changes to existing standards and the amendments described in the preceding sections, the ASB requests your response on the following issues.

Issue 1—Timing of Communications With Those Charged With Governance

Paragraph .18 of AU-C section 260 requires the auditor to communicate with those charged with governance on a timely basis. The application material indicates that the appropriate timing for communications will vary with the circumstances of the matter and the action expected to be taken by those charged with governance. This is consistent with the corresponding requirement in ISA 260 (Revised).

As part of evaluating the proposed amendments to AU-C section 260, the ASB also considered whether there should be a more specific requirement for the timing of the communication of certain matters. For example, PCAOB AS 1301 states that all audit committee communications required by that standard should be made in a timely manner and prior to the issuance of the auditor’s report; the appropriate timing of a particular communication to the audit committee depends on factors such as the significance of the matters to be communicated and corrective or follow-up action needed, unless other timing requirements are specified by PCAOB rules or standards or the securities laws.

The ASB noted that those charged with governance may find it useful for certain matters to be communicated prior to the issuance of the auditor’s report (for example, internal control–related matters and uncorrected misstatements). However, the ASB concluded that retaining the flexibility in the timing of communications is appropriate given the variety of circumstances that may be encountered by auditors of nonissuers.
10. Should the requirement in AU-C section 260 be more specific regarding the timing of communication about certain matters with those charged with governance, including whether there should be a requirement for certain communications to be made prior to issuance of the auditor’s report?

Issue 2—Addressee in the Auditor’s Report

Paragraph 21 of proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements requires the auditor’s report to be addressed, as appropriate, based on the circumstances of the engagement. This is essentially identical to the requirement in extant AU-C section 700 and is not expected to change current practice.

The ASB considered whether the proposed SAS should require the city and state of the addressee to be included in the auditor’s report, or whether to include application material that would discuss including such information. Certain members of the ASB believed that providing information about where the client is located would provide a nexus for the jurisdiction of the audit, which may be helpful in certain circumstances involving regulatory actions and therefore would be in the public interest.

The ASB acknowledged that the city and state of the addressee might be helpful information in certain situations but noted that there may be practical difficulties for an auditor in determining the appropriate location to include in the auditor’s report (for example, when the corporate office is in a different location than the office at which the principal books and records are maintained). Accordingly, the ASB is not proposing to require the client’s address to be included in the auditor’s report.

Please note that the proposed SAS does not change the existing requirement for the auditor’s report to name the city and state where the auditor practices (that is, the auditor’s address).

11. Please provide your views on the following:

   a. Would including the city and state of the addressee in the auditor’s report be beneficial to users of the financial statements?

   b. What would the practical implications be if such a requirement were adopted?

Proposed Amendments Addressing Disclosures in the Audit of Financial Statements

The amendments proposed to address disclosures in an audit of financial statements are intended to focus the auditor’s attention on disclosures earlier in the process of auditing financial statements. The ASB is proposing amendments to specific AU-C sections rather than a separate SAS on disclosures to encourage a holistic and integrated approach to auditing disclosures throughout the financial statement audit.

Request for Comment

12. Are the proposed changes appropriate and sufficient for purposes of enhancing the focus of the auditor on disclosures and, thereby, further enhancing audit quality?

13. Are there any specific areas where, in your view, additional enhancements to either the requirements or application material would be necessary for purposes of effective auditing of disclosures as part of a financial statement audit?

14. Will the proposed changes to the assertions in AU-C section 315 help appropriately integrate the auditor’s audit approach to the risk of material misstatement in the disclosures with the audit work on the underlying amounts, thereby promoting a more effective audit of disclosures?
Guide for Respondents

Respondents are asked to comment on the following:

1. The proposed changes to existing standards, including the illustrative reports
2. The requests for comment in the section “Significant Changes From Existing Standards”
3. Issues for consideration
4. Proposed amendments to existing AU-C sections

Comments are most helpful when they refer to specific paragraphs, include the reasons for the comments, and, where appropriate, make specific suggestions for any proposed changes. When a respondent agrees with proposals in the exposure draft, it will be helpful for the ASB to be made aware of this view, as well.

Written comments on the exposure draft will become part of the public record of the AICPA and will be available on the AICPA’s website after May 15, 2018, until a final standard is issued. Responses should be sent to Sherry Hazel at Sherry.Hazel@aicpa-cima.com and received by May 15, 2018.

Format of the Exposure Draft

This exposure draft is presented in columnar format in which requirements and related application guidance are presented side by side instead of in the traditional format of the requirements followed by the application and other material. This approach has been efficient for the ASB in developing and reviewing the proposed SASs, and it is used here to help respondents better understand the nature of the changes in the context of the requirements and the related application material. The final standards will be issued in the traditional format.

Supplements to the Exposure Draft

To assist respondents in identifying changes and in responding to this request to comment on the proposed SASs, the Audit and Attest Standards staff has prepared a series of documents that provide a detailed comparison of the proposed SASs to the corresponding ISAs and extant AU-C sections. These documents are structured as follows:

<td>2. Proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report addresses the auditor’s responsibility to communicate key audit matters in the auditor’s report. 4. AU-C section 800, Special Considerations—Audits of Financial Statements Prepared in Accordance With Special Purpose Frameworks, addresses special considerations when financial statements are prepared in accordance with a special purpose framework.\(^4\) AU-C section 805, Special Considerations—Audits of Single Financial Statements and Specific Elements, Accounts, or Items of a Financial Statement, addresses special considerations relevant to an audit of a single financial statement or of a specific element, account, or item of a financial statement. (Ref: par. A1–A2)

A1. AU-C section 800 also addresses the auditor’s responsibilities when the auditor is reporting on financial statements prepared in accordance with a special purpose framework and is required by law or regulation to use a specific layout, form, or wording of the auditor’s report. When reporting on financial statements prepared in accordance with a general purpose framework, and law or regulation requires a specific layout, form, or wording of the auditor’s report, the auditor may adapt and apply the requirements in section 800.

A2. Other AU-C sections that also contain reporting requirements include, but are not limited to, the following:

- AU-C section 510, Opening Balances—Initial Audit Engagements, Including Reaudit Engagements
- AU-C section 570, The Auditor’s Consideration of an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern
- Proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports

5. The requirements of this proposed SAS address the need for consistency and comparability in auditor reporting and the need to make the information provided in the auditor’s report more relevant to users. This proposed SAS promotes consistency in the auditor’s report, which, when the audit has been conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards (GAAS), promotes credibility in the marketplace by making more readily identifiable those audits that have been conducted in accordance with recognized standards. Consistency also helps promote users’ understanding and identification of unusual circumstances when they occur.

Effective Date

6. If issued as final, this proposed SAS will be effective for audits of financial statements for periods ending on or after June 15, 2019.† Early implementation is not permitted.

Objectives

7. The objectives of the auditor are to do the following:

   a. Form an opinion on the financial statements based on an evaluation of the audit evidence obtained, including evidence

12. The auditor should evaluate whether the financial statements are prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with the requirements of the applicable financial reporting framework. This evaluation should include consideration of the qualitative aspects of the entity’s accounting practices, including indicators of possible bias in management’s judgments. (Ref: Par. A6–A8)

A6. Management makes a number of judgments about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.

A7. AU-C section 260, The Auditor’s Communication With Those Charged With Governance, contains a discussion of the qualitative aspects of accounting practices.<sup>11</sup> In considering the qualitative aspects of the entity’s accounting practices, the auditor may become aware of possible bias in management’s judgments. The auditor may conclude that the cumulative effect of a lack of neutrality, together with the effect of uncorrected misstatements, causes the financial statements as a whole to be materially misstated. Indicators of a lack of neutrality that may affect the auditor’s evaluation of whether the financial statements as a whole are materially misstated include the following:

- The selective correction of misstatements brought to management’s attention during the audit (for example, correcting misstatements with the effect of increasing reported earnings but not correcting misstatements that have the effect of decreasing reported earnings)

The evaluation also may include consideration, for example, of the disclosures needed to achieve a fair presentation arising from matters that could be material, such as the effect of evolving financial reporting requirements or the changing economic environment. ### Requirements

18. If the auditor concludes that the financial statements do not achieve fair presentation, the auditor should discuss the matter with management and, depending on how the matter is resolved, should determine whether it is necessary to modify the opinion in the auditor’s report in accordance with proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report. (Ref: par. A20–A21)

Application Material

A20. In some instances, the financial statements, although prepared in accordance with the requirements of a fair presentation framework, do not achieve fair presentation. When this is the case, it may be possible for management to include additional disclosures in the financial statements beyond those specifically required by the framework or, in unusual circumstances, to depart from a requirement in the framework in order to achieve fair presentation of the financial statements, which would be extremely rare.

A21. The “Accounting Principles Rule” (AICPA, Professional Standards, ET sec. 1.320.001) of the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct states the following:

> A member shall not (1) express an opinion or state affirmatively that the financial statements or other financial data of any entity are presented in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles or (2) state that he or she is not aware of any material modifications that should be made to such statements or data in order for them to be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, if such statements or data contain any departure from an accounting principle promulgated by bodies designated by Council to establish such principles that has a material effect on the statements or data taken as a whole. If, however, the statements or data contain such a departure and the member can demonstrate that due to unusual circumstances the financial statements or data would otherwise have been misleading, the member can comply with the rule by describing the departure, its approximate effects, if practicable, and the reasons why compliance with the principle would result in a misleading statement.

Other Reporting Responsibilities

| 38. If the auditor addresses other reporting responsibilities in the auditor’s report on the financial statements that are in addition to the auditor’s responsibility under GAAS, these other reporting responsibilities should be addressed in a separate section in the auditor’s report with the heading “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements” or another heading that is appropriate to the content of the section. (Ref: par. A49–A50) |

| Other Reporting Responsibilities (Ref. par. 38–39) | A49. In some circumstances, the auditor may have additional responsibilities to report on other matters that are supplementary to the auditor’s responsibility under GAAS to report on the financial statements. The form and content of the “Other Reporting Responsibilities” section of the auditor’s report described in paragraph 38 will vary depending on the nature of the auditor’s other reporting responsibilities. For example, for audits conducted under Government Auditing Standards, the auditor may be required to report on internal control over financial reporting and compliance with laws, regulations, and provisions of contracts or grant agreements, which may be included in the “Other Reporting Responsibilities” section of the auditor’s report. However, when the auditor is engaged or required by law or regulation to perform a compliance audit in accordance with GAAS, Government Auditing Standards, and a governmental audit requirement, reporting requirements in AU-C section 935, Compliance Audits, apply. |

| comprise have been prepared, and management has accepted responsibility for them. | Considerations Specific to Governmental Entities.
A59. In some circumstances, final approval of the financial statements by governmental legislative bodies (or subsets of such legislative bodies) is required before the financial statements are issued. In these circumstances, final approval by such legislative bodies (or subsets of such legislative bodies) is not necessary for the auditor to conclude that sufficient appropriate audit evidence has been obtained. The date of approval of the financial statements, for purposes of GAAS, is the earlier date on which those with the recognized authority determine that all the statements and disclosures that the financial statements comprise have been prepared and that those with the recognized authority have asserted that they have taken responsibility for them. |

Auditor’s Report for Audits Conducted in Accordance With Both GAAS and Another Set of Auditing Standards

43. Paragraph 26 requires that the auditor’s report state that the audit was conducted in accordance with GAAS and identify the United States of America as the country of origin of those standards. However, an auditor may indicate that the audit was also conducted in accordance with another set of auditing standards (for example, International Standards on Auditing [ISAs] or Government Auditing Standards). The auditor should not refer to having conducted an audit in accordance with another set of auditing standards in addition to GAAS unless the audit was conducted in accordance with both sets of standards in their entirety. (Ref: par. A60)

A60. If the audit is performed in accordance with both GAAS and the ISAs, the auditor may find it helpful to refer to AU-C appendix B, “Substantive Differences Between the International Standards on Auditing and Generally Accepted Auditing Standards.” This appendix summarizes substantive differences between the ISAs and GAAS to assist the auditor in planning and performing an engagement in accordance with the ISAs.
Requirements

| 44. When the auditor’s report refers to both GAAS and another set of auditing standards, the auditor’s report should identify the other set of auditing standards as well as its origin. |

| Auditor’s Report for Audits Conducted in Accordance With the Standards of the PCAOB and GAAS When the Audit Is Not Within the Jurisdiction of the PCAOB |

| 45. When conducting an audit of financial statements in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB and the audit is not within the jurisdiction of the PCAOB, the auditor is required to also conduct the audit in accordance with GAAS. In such circumstances, when the auditor refers to the standards of the PCAOB in addition to GAAS in the auditor’s report, the auditor should use the form of report required by the standards of the PCAOB, amended to state that the audit was also conducted in accordance with GAAS. | A61. Auditors of financial statements of entities whose audits are within the jurisdiction of the PCAOB, which include issuers (as defined by the SEC) and nonissuer brokers and dealers registered with the SEC, are required to be registered with, and subject to inspection by, the PCAOB. In such circumstances, the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct requires AICPA members to conduct the audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, and the audit is not required to also be conducted in accordance with GAAS. | A62. As discussed in paragraph 45, because the auditor is required to also conduct the audit in accordance with GAAS, it would be inappropriate for the auditor to issue a report that only refers to the standards of the PCAOB without also referring to GAAS. |

| A63. When the auditor follows the standards of the PCAOB regarding the form of the auditor’s report, PCAOB reporting requirements for specific circumstances, such as reporting on an integrated audit or supplementary information, may also be applicable. | A64. The form of the auditor’s report required by the standards of the PCAOB states that the audit was conducted in accordance with “the |

The auditor of financial statements of an entity whose audits are not within the jurisdiction of the PCAOB may, nevertheless, be responsible for complying with the independence and other related professional practice standards of the PCAOB if, for example, the engagement is subject to regulatory oversight that requires compliance with those rules. If the prior period financial statements are restated, the auditor should determine that the comparative financial statements or comparative information agrees with the restated financial statements.

54. As required by section 580, Written Representations, the auditor should request written representations for all periods referred to in the auditor’s opinion. In this situation, provided that the auditor has audited the adjustments to the prior period financial statements, the auditor may include an other-matter paragraph in the auditor’s report indicating that the predecessor auditor reported on the financial statements of the prior period before restatement. In addition, if the auditor is engaged to audit the adjustments and obtains sufficient appropriate audit evidence to be satisfied about the appropriateness of the restatement, the auditor’s report may also include the following paragraph within the other-matter paragraph:

Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.41

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

41 In circumstances in which the auditor also has a responsibility to express an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control in conjunction with the audit of the financial statements, omit the following: “but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.”

Opinion

We have audited the consolidated financial statements of ABC Company and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related consolidated statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that were communicated with those charged with governance and, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

- Conclude on XYZ Not-for-Profit Organization’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.”

Illustration 7: An Auditor’s Report on Consolidated Comparative Financial Statements Prepared in Accordance With Accounting Principles Generally Accepted in the United States of America When the Audit Has Been Conducted in Accordance With Both Auditing Standards Generally Accepted in the United States of America and the Auditing Standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board

Circumstances include the following:

- Audit of a complete set of general purpose consolidated financial statements (comparative) of an entity whose audit is not within the jurisdiction of the PCAOB.

- The auditor has not been engaged to perform an audit of internal control over financial reporting that is integrated with an audit of the financial statements.

- Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.

- The financial statements are audited in accordance with the auditing standards of the PCAOB and also auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS).

- The auditor refers to the auditing standards of the PCAOB in addition to GAAS in the auditor’s report.

Note: On June 1, 2017, the PCAOB adopted a new auditor reporting standard, AS 3101, The Auditor’s Report on an Audit of Financial Statements When the Auditor Expresses an Unqualified Opinion and related amendments to its auditing standards. All provisions other than those related to critical audit matters will be effective for audits of fiscal years ending or on after December 15, 2017, with a phased implementation of the provisions related to critical audit matters (fiscal years ending on or after June 30, 2019, for large accelerated filers, and fiscal years ending on or after December 15, 2020, for all other companies to which the requirements apply). The final standard and amendments are subject to approval by the SEC.

[Appropriate Addressee]

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of X Company and subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X2 and 20X1, and the related consolidated statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) and in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of X Company and subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X2 and 20X1, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

54 A firm registered with the PCAOB may use the title “Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm.”

55 When the audit is also conducted in accordance with the other professional practice standards of the PCAOB, omit the word “auditing.”

56 The last three sentences of this paragraph may be replaced with the following optional language to clarify that the audit performed did not require the level of testing and reporting on internal control over financial reporting required in an integrated audit:

The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. Our audits included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company’s internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

| 1. This proposed Statement on Auditing Standards (SAS) addresses the auditor’s responsibility when the auditor is engaged to communicate key audit matters in the auditor’s report. It is intended to address both the auditor’s judgment about what to communicate in the auditor’s report and the form and content of such communication. | Scope of This Proposed SAS (Ref: par. 2)
A1. Communicating key audit matters provides additional information to intended users to assist them in understanding those matters that, in the auditor’s professional judgment, were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period. Communicating key audit matters may also assist intended users in understanding the entity and areas of significant management judgment in the audited financial statements. |
| 2. The purpose of communicating key audit matters is to provide greater transparency about the audit that was performed. The communication of key audit matters in the auditor’s report may also provide intended users of the financial statements (intended users) with a basis to further engage with management and those charged with governance about certain matters relating to the entity, the audited financial statements, or the audit that was performed. (Ref: par. A1–A3) | A2. The communication of key audit matters in the auditor’s report may also enhance communications about those matters between the auditor and those charged with governance and may increase attention by management and those charged with governance to the disclosures in the financial statements to which reference is made in the auditor’s report. |

<td>A5. When the auditor expresses a qualified opinion in accordance with proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report, communicating key audit matters would still be relevant to enhancing intended users’ understanding of the audit. In these circumstances, presenting the description of the matter giving rise to a qualified opinion in the “Basis for Qualified Opinion” section gives the matter the appropriate prominence in the auditor’s report (see paragraph 14) and separates the communication of this matter from any other key audit matters described in the “Key Audit Matters” section. The exhibit in proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report includes illustrative examples of how the introductory language in the “Key Audit Matters” section is affected when the auditor expresses a qualified opinion and other key audit matters are communicated in the auditor’s report. Paragraph A57 of this proposed SAS illustrates how the “Key Audit Matters” section is presented when the auditor has determined that there are no other key audit matters to be communicated in the auditor’s report beyond matters addressed in the “Basis for Qualified Opinion” or “Going Concern” sections of the auditor’s report.</td>

However, when proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies, the use of an emphasis-of-matter or other-matter paragraph is not a substitute for including a matter in the “Key Audit Matters” section of the auditor’s report if the matter meets the definition of a key audit matter. <td>Matters That Required Significant Auditor Attention (Ref: par. 8)  &lt;br&gt;A11. The concept of significant auditor attention recognizes that an audit is risk based and focuses on identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, designing and performing audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtaining audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for the auditor’s opinion. For a particular account balance, class of transactions or disclosure, the higher an assessed risk of material misstatement at the assertion level, the more judgment is often involved in planning and performing the audit procedures and evaluating the results thereof.</td>

<td>A13. Areas of significant auditor attention often relate to areas of complexity and significant management judgment in the financial statements and therefore often involve difficult or complex auditor judgments. In turn, this often affects the auditor’s overall audit strategy, the allocation of resources, and the extent of audit effort in relation to such matters. These effects may include, for example, the extent of involvement of senior personnel on the audit engagement or the involvement of an auditor’s expert or individuals with expertise in a specialized area of accounting or auditing, whether engaged or employed by the firm to address these areas.</td>

  1. Related party transactions. In particular, there may be limitations on the auditor’s ability to obtain audit evidence that all other aspects of a related party transaction (other than price) are equivalent to those of a similar arm’s length transaction.

The auditor may communicate this with those charged with governance when discussing the planned scope and timing of the audit in accordance with AU-C section 260 as proposed to be amended. However, the auditor’s determination of key audit matters is based on the results of the audit or evidence obtained throughout the audit.</td>

<td>Paragraph 8 includes specific required considerations in the auditor’s determination of those matters that required significant auditor attention. These considerations focus on the nature of matters communicated with those charged with governance that are often linked to matters disclosed in the financial statements and are intended to reflect areas of the audit of the financial statements that may be of particular interest to intended users. The fact that these considerations are required is not intended to imply that matters related to them are always key audit matters; rather, matters related to such specific considerations are key audit matters only if they are determined to be of most significance in the audit in accordance with paragraph 9. Because the considerations may be interrelated (for example, matters relating to the circumstances described in paragraphs 8b–c may also be identified as significant risks), the applicability of more than one of the considerations to a particular matter communicated with those charged with governance may increase the likelihood of the auditor identifying that matter as a key audit matter.</td>

Such matters may include, for example, matters that are relevant to the audit that was performed but that may not be required to be disclosed in the financial statements. For example, the implementation of a new IT system (or significant changes to an existing IT system) during the period may be an area of significant auditor attention, particularly if such a change had a significant effect on the auditor’s overall audit strategy or related to a significant risk (for example, changes to a system affecting revenue recognition).</td> significant risks. Significant risks are therefore often areas that require significant auditor attention.

A20. However, this may not be the case for all significant risks. For example, AU-C section 240, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit, presumes that there are risks of fraud in revenue recognition and requires the auditor to treat those assessed risks of material misstatement due to fraud as significant risks. In addition, AU-C section 240 indicates that, due to the unpredictable way in which management override of controls could occur, it is a risk of material misstatement due to fraud and thus a significant risk. Depending on their nature, these risks may not require significant auditor attention and therefore would not be considered in the auditor’s determination of key audit matters in accordance with paragraph 9.

A21. AU-C section 315 explains that the auditor’s assessment of the risks of material misstatement at the assertion level may change during the course of the audit as additional audit evidence is obtained. Revision to the auditor’s risk assessment and reevaluation of the planned audit procedures with respect to a particular area of the financial statements may result in an area being determined to be one requiring significant auditor attention, particularly when the revision results in a higher assessed risk of material misstatement. For example, the auditor’s risk assessment may have been based on an expectation that certain controls were operating effectively, but the audit evidence obtained may indicate that such controls were not operating effectively throughout the audit period, leading to a change in audit strategy and additional audit effort.

had extensive discussions with management and those charged with governance at various stages throughout the audit about the effect on the financial statements of significant transactions with related parties or significant transactions that are outside the normal course of business for the entity or that otherwise appear to be unusual. A26. The concept of matters of most significance is applicable in the context of the entity and the audit that was performed. As such, the intent is for the auditor to identify matters specific to the audit and to make a judgment about their relative importance.

A27. Matters that required significant auditor attention also may have resulted in significant interaction with those charged with governance. The nature and extent of communication about such matters with those charged with governance often provides an indication of which matters are of most significance in the audit. For example, the auditor may have had more in-depth, frequent, or robust interactions with those charged with governance on more difficult and complex matters, such as the

<td>Determining which, and how many, of those matters that required significant auditor attention were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period is a matter of professional judgment. The number of key audit matters to be included in the auditor’s report may be affected by the size and complexity of the entity, the nature of its business and environment, and the facts and circumstances of the audit engagement. In general, the greater the number of matters initially determined to be key audit matters, the more the auditor may need to reconsider whether each of these matters meets the definition of a key audit matter. The description of a key audit matter is meant to provide a succinct and balanced explanation to enable intended users to understand why the matter was one of most significance in the audit and how the matter was addressed in the audit. Limiting the use of highly technical auditing terms also helps enable intended users, who may not have a reasonable knowledge of auditing, to understand the basis for the auditor’s focus on particular matters during the audit. The nature and extent of information provided by the auditor is intended to be balanced in the context of the responsibilities of the respective parties (that is, for the auditor to provide useful information in a concise and understandable form while not inappropriately being the provider of original information about the entity).</td>

<td>Although the auditor seeks to avoid providing original information about the entity, it may be necessary for the auditor to do so in the description of a key audit matter. Such information may be necessary to appropriately explain why the matter was considered to be one of most significance in the audit, and therefore determined to be a key audit matter, and how the matter was addressed in the audit, provided that disclosure of such information is not precluded by law or regulation. When the auditor determines that it is necessary to include such information in the description of a key audit matter, management may elect to expand or supplement the entity’s disclosures, rather than having the auditor provide original information in the auditor’s report.</td>

For example, written communications, or the auditor’s documentation of oral communications, with those charged with governance and other audit documentation provide a useful basis for the auditor’s communication in the auditor’s report. This is because audit documentation in accordance with AU-C section 230, Audit Documentation, as proposed to be amended, is intended to address the significant matters arising during the audit, the conclusions reached thereon, and significant professional judgments made in reaching those conclusions, and serves as a record of the nature, timing, and extent of the audit procedures performed, the results of those procedures, and the audit evidence obtained. Such documentation may assist the auditor in developing a description of key audit matters that explains the significance of the matters and may also assist in applying the requirement in paragraph 17.</td>

Application Material

A41. In addition to referring to related disclosures, the auditor may draw attention to key aspects of them. The extent of disclosure by management about specific aspects or factors in relation to how a particular matter is affecting the financial statements of the current period may help the auditor pinpoint particular aspects of how the matter was addressed in the audit such that intended users can understand why the matter is a key audit matter, such as in the following examples:

- When an entity includes robust disclosure about accounting estimates, the auditor may draw attention to the disclosure of key assumptions, the disclosure of the range of possible outcomes, and other qualitative and quantitative disclosures relating to key sources of estimation uncertainty or critical accounting estimates as part of addressing why the matter was one of most significance in the audit and how the matter was addressed in the audit.

- When the auditor concludes, in accordance with AU-C section 570, that substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time has been alleviated by management’s plans, the auditor may nevertheless determine that one or more matters relating to this conclusion arising from the auditor’s work effort under AU-C section 570 are key audit matters. In such circumstances, the auditor’s description of such key audit matters in the auditor’s report could include aspects of the identified events or conditions disclosed in the financial statements, such as substantial operating losses, available borrowing facilities and possible debt refinancing, or...

<td>A42. The description of a key audit matter in the auditor’s report is intended to provide insight regarding why the matter was determined to be a key audit matter. Accordingly, the requirements in paragraphs 8–9 and the application material in paragraphs A11–A28 related to determining key audit matters may also be helpful for the auditor in considering how such matters are to be communicated in the auditor’s report. For example, explaining the factors that led the auditor to conclude that a particular matter required significant auditor attention and was of most significance in the audit is likely to be of interest to intended users.</td>
<td>A43. Relating a matter directly to the specific circumstances of the entity may also help minimize the potential that such descriptions become overly standardized and less useful over time. For example, certain matters may be determined to be key audit matters in a particular industry across a number of entities due to the circumstances of the industry or the underlying complexity in financial reporting. In describing why the auditor considered a matter to be one of most significance, it may be useful for the auditor to highlight aspects of the matter that are specific to the entity (for example, circumstances that affected the underlying judgments made in the financial statements of the current period) in order to make the description more relevant for intended users. This may also be important in describing a key audit matter that recurs over periods.</td>

Nonetheless, the auditor may consider it necessary to describe certain procedures that were performed to explain how a matter was addressed in the audit. Enabling the auditor, when appropriate, to encourage management and those charged with governance to disclose relevant information about the matter. In particular, this may be possible if the concerns of management and those charged with governance about communicating the matter are limited to specific aspects of the matter, such that certain information about the matter may be less sensitive and could be communicated.

The auditor also may consider it necessary to obtain a written representation from management explaining why disclosure of the matter is not appropriate, including management’s view about the significance of the adverse consequences that may arise as a result of such communication.

A54. It may also be necessary for the auditor to consider the implications of communicating about a matter determined to be a key audit matter in light of relevant ethical requirements. In addition, the auditor may be required by law or regulation to communicate with applicable regulatory, enforcement, or supervisory authorities in relation to the matter, regardless of whether the matter is communicated in the auditor’s report. Such communication may also help inform the auditor’s consideration of the adverse consequences that may arise from communicating about the matter.

A55. The issues considered by the auditor regarding a decision to not communicate a matter are complex and involve significant auditor judgment. Accordingly, the auditor may consider it appropriate to obtain legal advice.
Requirements

14. Matters giving rise to a qualified opinion in accordance with proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report, or when substantial doubt exists about an entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time in accordance with AU-C section 570, are by their nature key audit matters. However, these matters should not be described in the “Key Audit Matters” section of the auditor’s report, and the requirements in paragraphs 12–13 do not apply. Rather, the auditor should do the following:

   a. Report on these matters in accordance with the applicable AU-C sections

   b. Include a reference to the “Basis for Qualified Opinion” or “Going Concern” section in the “Key Audit Matters” section.

Form and Content of the “Key Audit Matters” Section in Other Circumstances

15. If the auditor determines, depending on the facts and circumstances of the entity and the audit, that there are no key audit matters to communicate or that the only key audit matters communicated are those matters addressed by paragraph 14, the auditor should include a statement to this effect in a separate section of the auditor’s report under the heading “Key Audit Matters.”

   (Ref: par. A56)

   - The auditor determines, in accordance with paragraph 9, that there are no key audit matters. This may be the case because there were no matters that required significant auditor attention.

   - The auditor determines, in accordance with paragraph 13, that a key audit matter will not be communicated in the auditor’s report

Effective Date

4. This proposed SAS will be effective for audits of financial statements for periods ending on or after June 15, 2019.* Early implementation is not permitted.

Objective

5. The objective of the auditor is to express clearly an appropriately modified opinion on the financial statements that is necessary in the following circumstances:

   a. The auditor concludes, based on the audit evidence obtained, that the financial statements as a whole are materially misstated.

   b. The auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to conclude that the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement.

A2. Proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements requires the auditor, in order to form an opinion on the financial statements, to conclude whether reasonable assurance has been obtained about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement. This conclusion takes into account the auditor’s evaluation of uncorrected misstatements, if any, on the financial statements in accordance with AU-C section 450, Evaluation of Misstatements Identified During the Audit.†

A3. AU-C section 450 defines a misstatement as a difference between the reported amount, classification, presentation, or disclosure of a financial statement item and the amount, classification, presentation, or disclosure that is required for the item to be in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. Accordingly, a material misstatement of the financial statements may arise in relation to the following:
- The appropriateness of the selected accounting policies
- The application of the selected accounting policies
- The appropriateness of the financial statement presentation, or the appropriateness or adequacy of disclosures in the financial statements

Determining the Type of Modification to the Auditor’s Opinion

Qualified Opinion

8. The auditor should express a qualified opinion in the following circumstances:
<table>
<thead>

</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>a. The auditor, having obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence, concludes that misstatements, individually or in the aggregate, are material but not pervasive to the financial statements.</td>

<tr>
<td>b. The auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence on which to base the opinion, but the auditor concludes that the possible effects on the financial statements of undetected misstatements, if any, could be material but not pervasive.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Adverse Opinion

9. The auditor should express an adverse opinion when the auditor, having obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence, concludes that misstatements, individually or in the aggregate, are both material and pervasive.

Disclaimer of Opinion

10. The auditor should disclaim an opinion when the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence on which to base the opinion, and the auditor concludes that the possible effects on the financial statements of undetected misstatements, if any, could be both material and pervasive. (Ref. par. A14–A15)

Effect of Uncertainties (Ref: par. 10)

A14. Absence of the existence of information related to the outcome of an uncertainty does not necessarily lead to a conclusion that the audit evidence supporting management’s assertion is not sufficient. Rather, the auditor’s professional judgment regarding the sufficiency of the audit evidence is based on the audit evidence that is, or should be, available. If, after considering the existing conditions and available evidence, the auditor concludes that sufficient appropriate audit evidence supports management’s assertions about the nature of a matter involving an uncertainty and its presentation or disclosure in the financial statements, an unmodified opinion ordinarily is appropriate.

</tr>
</tbody>

Consequence of an Inability to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence Due to a Management-Imposed Limitation After the Auditor Has Accepted the Engagement

11. If, after accepting the engagement, the auditor becomes aware that management has imposed a limitation on the scope of the audit that the auditor considers likely to result in the need to express a qualified opinion or to disclaim an opinion on the financial statements, the auditor should request that management remove the limitation.

12. If management refuses to remove the limitation referred to in paragraph 11, the auditor should communicate the matter to those charged with governance, unless all of those charged with governance are involved in managing the entity, and, if appropriate, determine whether it is possible to perform alternative procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence.

13. If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence, the auditor should determine the implications as follows:

   a. If the auditor concludes that the possible effects on the financial statements of undetected misstatements, if any, could be material but not pervasive, the auditor should qualify the opinion.

It may also be the case in circumstances in which the auditor is appointed to audit the financial statements covering a specific period or is appointed for a specific period, and is prohibited from withdrawing before the completion of the audit of those financial statements or before the end of that period. When the auditor considers it necessary to express an adverse opinion or disclaim an opinion on the financial statements as a whole, the auditor’s report should not also include an unmodified opinion with respect to the same financial reporting framework on a single financial statement or one or more specific elements, accounts, or items of a financial statement (piecemeal opinion). To include such an unmodified opinion in the same report in these circumstances would contradict the auditor’s adverse opinion or disclaimer of opinion on the financial statements as a whole. (Ref: par. A18–A19) | A18. The following are examples of reporting circumstances that would not contradict the auditor’s adverse opinion or disclaimer of opinion:
- In an initial audit, the expression of an unmodified opinion regarding the financial position and a disclaimer of opinion regarding the results of operations and cash flows, when relevant. In this case, the auditor has not disclaimed an opinion on the financial statements as a whole.
- The expression of an unmodified opinion on financial statements prepared under a given financial reporting framework and, within the same report, the expression of an adverse opinion on the same financial statements under a different financial reporting framework.
Considerations Specific to Audits of Governmental Entities
A19. Because the auditor of a state and local government entity expresses an opinion or disclaims an opinion for each opinion unit, an auditor’s report in these circumstances may include an unmodified opinion with respect to one or more opinion units and a modified opinion for one or more other opinion units. |

27. When the auditor disclaims an opinion on the financial statements, the auditor’s report should not include the elements required by paragraphs 26b and 26d of proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements. Those elements are

   a. a reference to the section of the auditor’s report where the auditor’s responsibilities are described and

   b. a statement about whether the audit evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for the auditor’s opinion.

28. Even if the auditor has expressed an adverse opinion or disclaimed an opinion on the financial statements, the auditor should describe the reasons for any other matters of which the auditor is aware that would have required a modification to the opinion, and the effects thereof, in the “Basis for Opinion” section. (Ref: par. A32–A33)

A32. An adverse opinion or a disclaimer of opinion relating to a specific matter described within the “Basis for Opinion” section does not justify the omission of a description of other identified matters that would have otherwise required a modification of the auditor’s opinion. In such cases, the disclosure of such other matters of which the auditor is aware may be relevant to users of the financial statements.

A33. The auditor may consider whether there is a need to describe in an emphasis-of-matter or other-matter paragraph any other matters of which the auditor is aware that would not require a modification of the auditor’s opinion.

30. When the auditor expresses an adverse opinion or disclaims an opinion on the financial statements, the auditor’s report should not include a “Key Audit Matters” section in accordance with proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report.81 Also, when the auditor disclaims an opinion on the financial statements, the auditor’s report should not include an “Other Information” section in accordance with proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports. (Ref: par. A35–A36)

A35. Describing the reasons for the modification of the opinion within the “Basis for Opinion” section of the auditor’s report provides information to users that is useful in understanding why the auditor has expressed an adverse opinion or disclaimed an opinion on the financial statements. Furthermore, describing these reasons may guard against inappropriate reliance on the financial statements. However, providing further details about the audit may overshadow the reasons for the modification of the opinion and may potentially be confusing to users.

A36. When the auditor expresses an adverse opinion, the communication of any key audit matters other than the matters giving rise to the modified opinion may overshadow the fact that the financial statements as a whole are materially misstated. When the auditor disclaims an opinion, the communication of any key audit matters other than the matters giving rise to the disclaimer of opinion may suggest that the financial statements are more credible in relation to those matters than would be appropriate in the circumstances and would be inconsistent with the disclaimer of opinion on the financial statements as a whole. Similarly, it would not be appropriate for the auditor to make any statements about the auditor’s consideration of the consistency of other information in an annual report with the financial statements. Accordingly, paragraph 30 of this proposed SAS prohibits the inclusion of a “Key Audit Matters” section in the auditor’s report when the auditor issues an adverse opinion or disclaims an opinion on the financial statements, and also prohibits the inclusion of an “Other Information” section in the auditor’s report when the auditor disclaims an opinion on the financial statements.

Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements\(^{82}\)

Qualified Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, except for the effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion section of our report, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

The Company has stated inventories at cost in the accompanying balance sheets. Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require inventories to be stated at the lower of cost or market. If the Company stated inventories at the lower of cost or market, a write down of $XXX and $XXX would have been required as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, respectively. Accordingly, cost of sales would have been increased by $XXX and $XXX, and net income, income taxes, and stockholders’ equity would have been reduced by $XXX, $XXX, and $XXX, and $XXX, $XXX, and $XXX, as of and for the years ended December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, respectively.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

The last paragraph of the other information section in illustration 3 of that proposed SAS would be customized to describe the specific matter giving rise to the qualified opinion that also affects the other information.]

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
Proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.\(^\text{83}\)

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

Illustration 2: An Auditor’s Report Containing a Qualified Opinion for Inadequate Disclosure

- Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.

- The terms of the audit engagement reflect the description of management’s responsibility for the financial statements in AU-C section 210.

- The financial statements have inadequate disclosures. The auditor has concluded that \((a)\) it is not practicable to present the required information and \((b)\) the effects are such that an adverse opinion is not appropriate. Accordingly, the auditor’s report contains a qualified opinion.

- Based on the audit evidence obtained, the auditor has concluded that there are no conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time in accordance with AU-C section 570.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

The Company’s financial statements do not disclose [describe the nature of the omitted information that is not practicable to present in the auditor’s report]. In our opinion, disclosure of this information is required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that were communicated with those charged with governance and, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

- Management is responsible for the preparation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.

Proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Report on the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Adverse Opinion

We have audited the consolidated financial statements of ABC Company and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 20X1, and the related consolidated statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion section of our report, the accompanying consolidated financial statements do not present fairly the consolidated financial position of ABC Company and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X1, or the results of their operations or their cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Adverse Opinion

As described in Note X, the Company has not consolidated the financial statements of subsidiary XYZ Company that it acquired during 20X1 because it has not yet been able to ascertain the fair values of certain of the subsidiary’s material assets and liabilities at the acquisition date. This investment is therefore accounted for on a cost basis by the Company. Under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the subsidiary should have been consolidated because it is controlled by the Company. Had XYZ Company been consolidated, many elements in the accompanying consolidated financial statements would have been materially affected. The effects on the consolidated financial statements of the failure to consolidate have not been determined.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our adverse audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Qualified Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 20X1, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion section of our report, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

ABC Company’s investment in XYZ Company, a foreign affiliate acquired during the year and accounted for under the equity method, is carried at $XXX on the balance sheet at December 31, 20X1, and ABC Company’s share of XYZ Company’s net income of $XXX is included in ABC Company’s net income for the year then ended. We were unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence about the carrying amount of ABC Company’s investment in XYZ Company as of December 31, 20X1, and ABC Company’s share of XYZ Company’s net income for the year then ended because we were denied access to the financial information, management, and the auditors of XYZ Company. Consequently, we were unable to determine whether any adjustments to these amounts were necessary.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

• Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

• Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.\(^89\)

\(^{89}\) In circumstances in which the auditor also has responsibility to express an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control in conjunction with the audit of the financial statements, omit the following: “but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.”
Proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

Circumstances include the following:

- Audit of a complete set of general purpose financial statements (single year). The audit is not a group audit.

- Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.

- The terms of the audit engagement reflect the description of management’s responsibility for the financial statements in AU-C section 210.

- The auditor was unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence about a single element of the financial statements. That is, the auditor was unable to obtain audit evidence about the financial information of a joint venture investment accounted for under the proportionate consolidation approach. The investment represents over 90 percent of the Company’s net assets. The possible effects of this inability to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence are deemed to be both material and pervasive to the financial statements. Accordingly, the auditor’s report contains a disclaimer of opinion.

- The auditor concluded that it was unnecessary to include in the auditor’s report specific amounts for the Company’s proportional share of the assets, liabilities, income, and expenses of the joint venture investment because the investment represents over 90 percent of the Company’s net assets, and that fact is disclosed in the auditor’s report.

- The auditor is precluded from including an Other Information section in the auditor’s report when disclaiming an opinion on the financial statements.

- Those responsible for oversight of the financial statements differ from those responsible for the preparation of the financial statements.

- The auditor is precluded from communicating key audit matters in the auditor’s report when disclaiming an opinion on the financial statements.

- A more limited description of the Auditor’s Responsibilities section is required because of the disclaimer of opinion.

Disclaimer of Opinion

We were engaged to audit the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 20X1, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

We do not express an opinion on the accompanying financial statements of ABC Company. Because of the significance of the matter described in the Basis for Disclaimer of Opinion section of our report, we have not been able to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a basis for an audit opinion on these financial statements.

Basis for Disclaimer of Opinion

The Company’s investment in XYZ Company, a joint venture, is carried at $XXX on the Company’s balance sheet, which represents over 90 percent of the Company’s net assets as of December 31, 20X1. We were not allowed access to the management and the auditors of XYZ Company. As a result, we were unable to determine whether any adjustments were necessary relating to the Company’s proportional share of XYZ Company’s assets that it controls jointly, its proportional share of XYZ Company’s liabilities for which it is jointly responsible, its proportional share of XYZ Company’s income and expenses for the year, and the elements making up the statements of changes in stockholders’ equity and cash flows.

Disclaimer of Opinion

We were engaged to audit the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 20X1, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

We do not express an opinion on the accompanying financial statements of ABC Company. Because of the significance of the matters described in the Basis for Disclaimer of Opinion section of our report, we have not been able to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a basis for an audit opinion.

Basis for Disclaimer of Opinion

We were not engaged as auditors of the Company until after December 31, 20X1, and, therefore, did not observe the counting of physical inventories at the beginning or end of the year. We were unable to satisfy ourselves by other auditing procedures concerning the inventory held at December 31, 20X1, which is stated in the balance sheet at $XXX. In addition, the introduction of a new computerized accounts receivable system in September 20X1 resulted in numerous misstatements in accounts receivable. As of the date of our audit report, management was still in the process of rectifying the system deficiencies and correcting the misstatements. We were unable to confirm or verify by alternative means accounts receivable included in the balance sheet at a total amount of $XXX at December 31, 20X1. As a result of these matters, we were unable to determine whether any adjustments might have been found necessary in respect of recorded or unrecorded inventories and accounts receivable, and the elements making up the statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Qualified Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, except for the effects on the accompanying 20X1 financial statements of not capitalizing certain lease obligations as described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion section of our report, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Qualified Opinion on the 20X1 Financial Statements

The Company has excluded, from property and debt in the accompanying 20X1 balance sheet, certain lease obligations that were entered into in 20X1 which, in our opinion, should be capitalized in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. If these lease obligations were capitalized, property would be increased by $XXX, long-term debt by $XXX, and retained earnings by $XXX as of December 31, 20X1, and net income and earnings per share would be increased (decreased) by $XXX and $XXX, respectively, for the year then ended.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified opinion on the 20X1 financial statements and for our opinion on the 20X0 financial statements.

Opinion

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheets of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X2 and 20X1, and the statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year ended December 31, 20X2, present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X2 and 20X1, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year ended December 31, 20X2, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Disclaimer of Opinion on 20X1 Operations and Cash Flows

Reporting on More Than One Set of Financial Statements

Including an Other-Matter Paragraph in the Auditor’s Report
Requirements

11. When the auditor includes an other-matter paragraph in the auditor’s report, the auditor should include the paragraph within a separate section with the heading “Other Matter” or other appropriate heading. (Ref: par. A13–A15)

Application Material

A13. The content of an other-matter paragraph clearly reflects that such other matter is not required to be presented and disclosed in the financial statements. An other-matter paragraph does not include information that the auditor is prohibited from providing by law, regulation, or other professional standards (for example, ethical standards relating to confidentiality of information.) An other-matter paragraph also does not include information that is required to be provided by management.

Placement of Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Auditor’s Report (Ref: par. 9, 11)

A14. The placement of an emphasis-of-matter paragraph or other-matter paragraph in the auditor’s report depends on the nature of the information to be communicated and the auditor’s judgment about the relative significance of such information to intended users compared to other elements required to be reported in accordance with proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements. For example:

- Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs. When a “Key Audit Matters” section is presented in the auditor’s report, an emphasis-of-matter paragraph may be presented either directly before or after the “Key Audit Matters” section, based on the auditor’s judgment about the relative significance of the information included in the emphasis-of-matter paragraph. The auditor may also add further context to the heading “Emphasis of Matter,” such as “Emphasis of Matter—Subsequent Event,” to differentiate the emphasis-of-matter paragraph from the individual matters described in the “Key Audit Matters” section.

Exhibit D is an illustration of the interaction between the “Key Audit Matters” section, an emphasis-of-matter paragraph, and an other-matter paragraph when all are presented in the auditor’s report. Illustration 2 in exhibit A includes an emphasis-of-matter paragraph in an auditor’s report that contains a qualified opinion and for which key audit matters have not been communicated.

Communication With Those Charged With Governance | Communication With Those Charged with Governance (Ref. par. 12)
12. If the auditor expects to include an emphasis-of-matter or other-matter paragraph in the auditor’s report, the auditor should communicate with those charged with governance regarding this expectation and the wording of the paragraph. (Ref: par. A16)

A16. The auditor’s communication with those charged with governance required by paragraph 12 enables those charged with governance to be made aware of the nature of any specific matters that the auditor intends to highlight in the auditor’s report and provides them with an opportunity to obtain further clarification from the auditor when necessary. When the inclusion of an other-matter paragraph on a particular matter in the auditor’s report recurs on each successive engagement, the auditor may determine that it is unnecessary to repeat the communication on each engagement.

Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 20X1, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence that we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

As discussed in Note X to the financial statements, the Company is a defendant in a lawsuit [briefly describe the nature of the litigation consistent with the Company’s description in the note to the financial statements]. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

1 The subtitle “Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements” is unnecessary in circumstances in which the second subtitle, “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements,” is not applicable.
America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as the evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

2 In circumstances in which the auditor also has responsibility to express an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control in conjunction with the audit of the financial statements, omit the following: “but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.”

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

The matter did not require significant auditor attention in the audit of the financial statements in the current period.

Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 20X1, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

As discussed in Note X to the financial statements, subsequent to the date of the financial statements, there was a fire in the Company’s production facilities. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that were communicated with those charged with governance and, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

3 The subtitle “Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements” is unnecessary in circumstances in which the second subtitle, “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements,” is not applicable.

4 As noted in paragraph A16, an emphasis-of-matter paragraph may be presented either directly before or after the “Key Audit Matters” section, based on the auditor’s judgment about the relative significance of the information included in the emphasis-of-matter paragraph.

[Description of each key audit matter in accordance with proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report.]

Other Matter

The financial statements of ABC Company for the year ended December 31, 20X0, were audited by another auditor, who expressed an unmodified opinion on those statements on March 31, 20X1.

Other Information [or another title if appropriate, such as “Information Other Than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon”]

[Reporting in accordance with the reporting requirements in proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports—see illustration 1 in the appendix of that proposed SAS.]

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as the evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

5 In circumstances in which the auditor also has responsibility to express an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control in conjunction with the audit of the financial statements, omit the following: “but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.”

Circumstances include the following:

- Audit of a complete set of general purpose financial statements (comparative). The audit is not a group audit.
- Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.
- The terms of the audit engagement reflect the description of management’s responsibility for the financial statements in AU-C section 210.
- The auditor’s report on the prior period financial statements expressed an adverse opinion due to identified departures from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America that resulted in the financial statements being materially misstated. The entity has elected to change its method of accounting for the matters that gave rise to the adverse opinion in the prior period and has restated the prior period financial statements. Therefore, the auditor has expressed an unmodified opinion on the comparative financial statements.
- The auditor’s report includes an other-matter paragraph indicating that the updated report on the financial statements of the prior period contains an opinion different from the opinion previously expressed, as required by proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements.
- Although the entity changed its method of accounting for the matters that gave rise to the adverse opinion in the prior period and corrected the material misstatement in the 20X0 financial statements, the principal objective of the communication in the other-matter paragraph is to draw users’ attention to the change in the auditor’s opinion on the prior period financial statements. The other-matter paragraph refers to the change in accounting principle and the related disclosure in the financial statements. Therefore, the other-matter paragraph also meets the objective of communicating the change in accounting principle as required by AU-C section 708, Consistency of Financial Statements, and a separate emphasis-of-matter paragraph is not considered necessary.
- Based on the audit evidence obtained, the auditor has concluded that there are no conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time in accordance with AU-C section 570.
- Those responsible for oversight of the financial statements differ from those responsible for the preparation of the financial statements.

- The auditor has not been engaged to communicate key audit matters in the auditor’s report.

[Appropriate Addressee]

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence that we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Other Matter

In our report dated March 1, 20X1, we expressed an opinion that the 20X0 financial statements did not fairly present the financial position, results of operations, and cash flows of ABC Company in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America because of two departures from such principles: (1) ABC Company carried its property, plant, and equipment at appraisal values, and provided for depreciation on the basis of such values, and (2) ABC Company did not provide for deferred income taxes with respect to differences between income for financial reporting purposes and taxable income. As described in Note X, the Company has changed its method of accounting for these items and restated its 20X0 financial statements to conform with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, our present opinion on the restated 20X0 financial statements, as presented herein, is different from that expressed in our previous report.

1 The subtitle “Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements” is unnecessary in circumstances in which the second subtitle, “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements” is not applicable.
Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.²

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

Illustration 4: An Auditor’s Report With a Qualified Opinion Due to a Material Misstatement of the Financial Statements and an Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraph Because There Is Uncertainty Relating to a Pending Unusually Important Litigation Matter

Circumstances include the following:

- Audit of a complete set of general purpose financial statements (single year). The audit is not a group audit.

- Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.

- The terms of the audit engagement reflect the description of management’s responsibility for the financial statements in AU-C section 210.

- Inventories are misstated. The misstatement is deemed to be material but not pervasive to the financial statements.

- There is uncertainty relating to a pending unusually important litigation matter.

- The auditor’s report includes a qualified opinion and also includes an emphasis-of-matter paragraph.

- Based on the audit evidence obtained, the auditor has concluded that there are no conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time in accordance with AU-C section 570.

Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements¹

Qualified Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of ABC Company, which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 20X1, and related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, except for the effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion section of our report, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

The Company has stated inventories at cost in the accompanying balance sheet. Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require inventories to be stated at the lower of cost or market. If the Company stated inventories at the lower of cost or market, a write down of $XXX would have been required as of December 31, 20X1. Accordingly, cost of sales would have been increased by $XXX and net income, income taxes, and stockholders’ equity would have been reduced by $XXX, $XXX, and $XXX, as of and for the year ended December 31, 20X1, respectively.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

Emphasis of Matter—Litigation

As discussed in Note X to the financial statements, the Company is a defendant in a lawsuit [briefly describe the nature of the litigation consistent with the Company’s description in the note to the financial statements]. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

¹ The subtitle “Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements” is unnecessary in circumstances in which the second subtitle, “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements,” is not applicable.
Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.²

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

Preconditions for an Audit

[No amendments to paragraphs .A2–.A8.]

Agreement of the Responsibilities of Management (Ref: par. .06b)

.A9 An audit in accordance with GAAS is conducted on the premise that management has acknowledged and understands that it has the responsibilities set out in paragraph 6b. The auditor may assist in preparing the financial statements, in whole or in part, based on information provided to the auditor by management during the performance of the audit. However, the concept of an independent audit requires that the auditor’s role does not involve assuming management’s responsibility for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements or assuming responsibility for the entity’s related internal control and that the auditor has a reasonable expectation of obtaining the information necessary for the audit (including information obtained from outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers) in so far as management is able to provide or procure it. Accordingly, the premise is fundamental to the conduct of an independent audit. To avoid misunderstanding, agreement is reached with management that it acknowledges and understands that it has such responsibilities as part of agreeing and documenting the terms of the audit engagement in paragraphs .09–.10.

Exhibit—Example of an Audit Engagement Letter (Ref. par. .A25.A27)

.A42–.A44 The following is an example of an audit engagement letter for an audit of general purpose financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board. The auditor may seek legal advice about whether a proposed letter is suitable.

To the appropriate representative of those charged with governance of ABC Company:
The objective and scope of the audit

- As well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

Because of the inherent limitations of an audit, together with the inherent limitations of internal control, an unavoidable risk that some material misstatements may not be detected exists, even though the audit is properly planned and performed in accordance with GAAS.

- the basis for the auditor’s conclusion on the reasonableness of areas of subjective judgments (for example, the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates).
- the basis for the auditor’s conclusions about the authenticity of a document when further investigation (such as making appropriate use of a specialist or of confirmation procedures) is undertaken in response to conditions identified during the audit that caused the auditor to believe that the document may not be authentic.
- when proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies, the auditor’s determination of the key audit matters or the determination that there are no key audit matters to be communicated, including in the extremely rare circumstances in which the auditor determines that the matter should not be communicated in the auditor’s report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

[No amendments to paragraphs .01–.14.]

Discussion Among the Engagement Team

.15  Section 315 requires a discussion among the key engagement team members, including the engagement partner, and a determination by the engagement partner of which matters are to be communicated to those team members not involved in the discussion. This discussion should include an exchange of ideas or brainstorming among the engagement team members about how and where the entity’s financial statements (including the individual statements and the disclosures) might be susceptible to material misstatement due to fraud, how management could perpetrate and conceal fraudulent financial reporting, and how assets of the entity could be misappropriated. The discussion should occur setting aside beliefs that the engagement team members may have that management and those charged with governance are honest and have integrity, and should, in particular, also address (Ref: par. .A12–.A13)

[No amendments to paragraphs .15a–.A5.]

Characteristics of Fraud (Ref: par. 3)

A6. Fraudulent financial reporting often involves management override of controls that otherwise may appear to be operating effectively. Fraud can be committed by management overriding controls intentionally using such techniques as the following:

- Recording fictitious journal entries, particularly close to the end of an accounting period, to manipulate operating results or achieve other objectives
- Inappropriately adjusting assumptions and changing judgments used to estimate account balances
- Omitting, advancing, or delaying recognition in the financial statements of events and transactions that have occurred during the reporting period
- Omitting, obscuring, or misstating disclosures required by the applicable financial reporting framework or disclosures that are necessary to achieve fair presentation
- Concealing, or not disclosing, facts that could affect the amounts recorded in the financial statements
- Engaging in complex transactions that are structured to misrepresent the financial position or financial performance of the entity
- Altering records and terms related to significant and unusual transactions

Discussion Among the Engagement Team (Ref: par. .15)
Amendments

A13. The discussion may lead to a thorough probing of the issues, acquiring of additional evidence as necessary, and consulting with other team members and, if appropriate, specialists in or outside the firm. The discussion may include the following matters:

- A consideration of the risk that management may attempt to present disclosures in a manner that may obscure a proper understanding of the matters disclosed (for example, by using unclear or ambiguous language)
- A consideration of management’s involvement in overseeing employees with access to cash or other assets susceptible to misappropriation
- A consideration of any unusual or unexplained changes in behavior or lifestyle of management or employees that have come to the attention of the engagement team
- A consideration of the types of circumstances that, if encountered, might indicate the possibility of fraud
- A consideration of how an element of unpredictability will be incorporated into the nature, timing, and extent of the audit procedures to be performed
- A consideration of the audit procedures that might be selected to respond to the susceptibility of the entity’s financial statements to material misstatement due to fraud and whether certain types of audit procedures are more effective than others
- A consideration of any allegations of fraud that have come to the auditor’s attention

AU-C Section 260, The Auditor’s Communication With Those Charged With Governance

See exposure draft Proposed Statement on Auditing Standards Omnibus Statement on Auditing Standards—2018 for additional proposed amendments to AU-C section 260.

Introduction

Scope of This Section

[No amendments to paragraphs .01–.02.]

.03 Recognizing the importance of effective two-way communication in an audit of financial statements, this section provides an overarching framework for the auditor’s communication with those charged with governance and identifies some specific matters to be communicated. Additional matters to be communicated are identified in other AU-C sections (see the exhibit, “Requirements to Communicate With Those Charged With Governance in Other AU-C Sections”). In addition, section 265, Communicating Internal Control Related Matters Identified in an Audit, establishes specific requirements regarding the communication of significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control the auditor has identified during the audit to those charged with governance. Further matters not required by generally accepted auditing standards (GAAS) may be required to be communicated by agreement with those charged with governance or management or in accordance with law or regulation or other external requirements. Nothing in this section precludes the auditor from communicating any other matters to those charged with governance.

Amendments

Matters to Be Communicated

The Auditor’s Responsibilities With Regard to the Financial Statement Audit

.10 The auditor should communicate with those charged with governance the auditor’s responsibilities with regard to the financial statement audit, including that (Ref: par. .A13–.A17)

a. the auditor is responsible for forming and expressing an opinion about whether the financial statements that have been prepared by management, with the oversight of those charged with governance, are prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.

b. the audit of the financial statements does not relieve management or those charged with governance of their responsibilities.

Planned Scope and Timing of the Audit

.11 The auditor should communicate with those charged with governance an overview of the planned scope and timing of the audit, which includes communicating about the significant risks identified by the auditor. (Ref: par. .A18–.A24)

Significant Findings or Issues From the Audit

.12 The auditor should communicate with those charged with governance (Ref: par. .A23–.A26)

a. the auditor’s views about qualitative aspects of the entity’s significant accounting practices, including accounting policies, accounting estimates, and financial statement disclosures. When applicable, the auditor should (Ref: par. .A24–.A29)

i. explain to those charged with governance why the auditor considers a significant accounting practice that is acceptable under the applicable financial reporting framework not to be most appropriate to the particular circumstances of the entity and

ii. determine that those charged with governance are informed about the process used by management in formulating particularly sensitive accounting estimates, including fair value estimates, and about the basis for the auditor’s conclusions regarding the reasonableness of those estimates.

b. significant difficulties, if any, encountered during the audit. (Ref: par. A26–.A30)

c. disagreements with management, if any. (Ref: par. A28–.A31)

d. circumstances that affect the form and content of the auditor’s report, if any. (Ref: par. .A32–.A33)

d. other findings or issues, if any, arising during the audit that are, in the auditor’s professional judgment, significant and relevant to those charged with governance regarding their responsibility to oversee the financial reporting process. (Ref: par. A27–.A36)

[No amendments to paragraph .13.]

When Not All of Those Charged With Governance Are Involved in Management

.14 Unless all of those charged with governance are involved in managing the entity, the auditor also should communicate
Amendments

a. material, corrected misstatements that were brought to the attention of management as a result of audit procedures. (Ref: par. .A31.A39)

b. significant findings or issues, if any, arising from during the audit that were discussed, or the subject of correspondence, with management. (Ref: par. .A32.A40)

c. the auditor’s views about significant matters that were the subject of management’s consultations with other accountants on accounting or auditing matters when the auditor is aware that such consultation has occurred.

d. written representations the auditor is requesting. (Ref. par. .A33.A41)

[No amendments to paragraphs .15–.A12.]

The Auditor’s Responsibilities With Regard to the Financial Statement Audit (Ref: par. .10)

.A13 The auditor’s responsibilities with regard to the financial statement audit are often included in the engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement that documents the terms of the engagement. Law, regulation, or the governance structure of the entity may require those charged with governance to agree upon the terms of the engagement with the auditor. When this is not the case, providing those charged with governance with a copy of that engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement may be an appropriate way to communicate with them regarding such matters as the following:

- That the auditor is responsible for performing the audit in accordance with GAAS and that the audit is designed to obtain reasonable, rather than absolute, assurance about whether, which is directed toward the expression of an opinion on the financial statements. The matters that GAAS require to be communicated, therefore, include significant matters arising during the audit of the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement that are relevant to those charged with governance in overseeing the financial reporting process.

- an audit of financial statements includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control over financial reporting.

- the auditor is responsible for communicating significant matters related to the financial statement audit that are, in the auditor’s professional judgment, relevant to the responsibilities of those charged with governance in overseeing the financial reporting process. The fact that GAAS do not require the auditor to design procedures for the purpose of identifying other matters to communicate with those charged with governance.

- That, when proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies, the auditor is responsible for determining and communicating key audit matters in the auditor’s report

- That, when applicable, the auditor is also responsible for communicating particular matters required by law or regulation, by agreement with the entity, or by additional requirements applicable to the engagement.

Auditor Independence (Ref: par. .10)
Amendments

[No amendments to paragraphs .A14–.A16.]

.A17 Relevant ethical requirements may also specify particular communications to those charged with governance in circumstances in which breaches of independence requirements have been identified. For example, the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct requires the auditor to communicate with those charged with governance in writing about any breach and the action the firm has taken or proposes to take.4

4 The “Breach of an Independence Interpretation” interpretation (AICPA, Professional Standards, ET sec. 1.298.010), under the “Independence Rule” (AICPA, Professional Standards, ET sec. 1.200.001) of the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct, addresses breaches of independence.

[Paragraph .A17 is renumbered as paragraph .A18. The content is unchanged. Due to the arrangement of application material corresponding to paragraph .11, the following section has been reorganized.]

Planned Scope and Timing of the Audit (Ref: par. .11)

[Paragraph .A18 is renumbered and moved to paragraph .A24. No amendments to paragraph .A19.]

.A20 Communicating significant risks identified by the auditor helps those charged with governance understand those matters and why they require special audit consideration. The communication about significant risks may assist those charged with governance in fulfilling their responsibility to oversee the financial reporting process.

.A20 .A21—Matters communicated

Other matters regarding the planned scope and timing of the audit may include the following:

- How the auditor plans to address the significant risks of material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.
- How the auditor plans to address areas of higher assessed risks of material misstatement.
- The auditor’s approach to internal control relevant to the audit including, when applicable, whether the auditor will express an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting.
- The application of materiality in the context of an audit, as discussed in section 320, Materiality in Planning and Performing an Audit. The auditor may wish to focus more broadly on the factors considered by the auditor when determining materiality for purposes of the audit, rather than on specific thresholds or amounts.
- The nature and extent of specialized skills or knowledge needed to perform the planned audit procedures or evaluate the audit results, including the use of an auditor’s expert.5
- When proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies, the auditor’s preliminary views about matters that may be areas of significant auditor attention in the audit and that therefore may be key audit matters.
- The auditor’s planned approach to addressing the implications for the individual statements and the disclosures of any significant changes within the applicable financial reporting framework or in the entity’s environment, financial condition, or activities.
- If the entity has an internal audit function, how the auditor and the internal auditors can work together in a constructive and complementary manner, including any planned use of the work of the internal audit function in obtaining audit evidence and the nature and extent of any planned use of internal auditors to provide direct assistance.
Amendments

5 See AU-C section 620, Using the Work of an Auditor’s Expert.

A21.A22 Other planning matters that may be appropriate to discuss with those charged with governance include

- the views of those charged with governance about the following matters:
  - The appropriate persons in the entity’s governance structure with whom to communicate
  - The allocation of responsibilities between those charged with governance and management
  - The entity’s objectives and strategies and the related business risks that may result in material misstatements
  - Matters those charged with governance consider as warranting particular attention during the audit and any areas for which they request additional procedures to be undertaken
  - Significant communications between the entity and regulators
  - Other matters those charged with governance believe are relevant to the audit of the financial statements

- the attitudes, awareness, and actions of those charged with governance concerning
  - (a) the entity’s internal control and its importance in the entity, including how those charged with governance oversee the effectiveness of internal control, and
  - (b) the detection or the possibility of fraud.

- the actions of those charged with governance in response to developments in law, accounting standards, corporate governance practices, and other related matters, and the effect of such developments on, for example, the overall presentation, structure, and content of the financial statements, including the following:
  - The relevance, reliability, comparability, and understandability of the information presented in the financial statements
  - Whether the financial statements are undermined by the inclusion of information that is not relevant or that obscures a proper understanding of the matters disclosed

- the actions of those charged with governance in response to previous communications with the auditor.

- if applicable, the documents that the annual report comprises and the planned manner and timing of the issuance of such documents in accordance with paragraph 9 of proposed SAS The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports. When the auditor expects to obtain other information after the date of the auditor’s report, the discussions with those charged with governance may also include the actions that may be appropriate or necessary if the auditor concludes that a material misstatement of the other information exists in other information obtained after the date of the auditor’s report.

Care is required necessary when communicating with those charged with governance about the planned scope and timing of the audit so as not to compromise the effectiveness of the audit, particularly when some or all of those charged with governance are involved in managing the entity. For example, communicating the nature and timing of detailed audit procedures may reduce the effectiveness of those procedures by making them too predictable. Certain factors described in paragraph .A39 may be relevant in determining the nature and extent of this communication.

Significant Findings From the Audit (Ref: par. .12)

When proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies, the communications with those charged with governance required by paragraph .12, as well as the communication about the significant risks identified by the auditor required by paragraph .11, are particularly relevant to the auditor’s determination of matters that required significant auditor attention and which therefore may be key audit matters.6

6 Paragraphs 9–10 of proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report.

[Subsequent footnote renumbered.]

Qualitative Aspects of the Entity’s Significant Accounting Practices (Ref: par. .12a)

Financial reporting frameworks ordinarily allow for the entity to make accounting estimates and judgments about accounting policies and financial statement disclosures, for example, the use of key assumptions in the development of accounting estimates for which there is significant measurement uncertainty. In addition, law, regulation, or financial reporting frameworks may require disclosure of a summary of significant accounting policies or make reference to “critical accounting estimates” or “critical accounting policies and practices” to identify and provide additional information to users about the most difficult, subjective, or complex judgments made by management in preparing the financial statements.

As a result, the auditor’s views on the subjective aspects of the financial statements may be particularly relevant to those charged with governance in discharging their responsibilities for oversight of the financial reporting process. For example, in relation to the matters described in paragraph .A27, those charged with governance may be interested in the auditor’s evaluation of the adequacy of disclosures of the estimation uncertainty relating to accounting estimates that give rise to significant risks and the quality of the disclosures. Open and constructive communication about qualitative aspects of the entity’s significant accounting practices may also include comment on the acceptability of significant accounting practices and the quality of the disclosures. The appendix, “Qualitative Aspects of Accounting Practices,” identifies matters that may be included in this communication.

Significant Difficulties Encountered During the Audit (Ref: par. .12b)

Significant difficulties encountered during the audit may include matters such as
Amendments

- significant delays in management providing required information by management, the unavailability of entity personnel, or an unwillingness by management to provide information necessary to perform the auditor’s procedures.
- an unnecessarily unreasonably brief time within which to complete the audit.
- extensive unexpected effort required to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence.
- the unavailability of expected information.
- restrictions imposed on the auditor by management.
- management’s unwillingness to provide information about management’s plans for dealing with the adverse effects of the conditions or events that lead the auditor to believe there is substantial doubt about perform or extend its evaluation of the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern to meet the period of time required by the applicable financial reporting framework when requested.

In some circumstances, such difficulties may constitute a scope limitation that leads to a modification of the auditor’s opinion.

Disagreements With Management (Ref: par. .12c)

Circumstances That Affect the Form and Content of the Auditor’s Report (Ref: par. .12d)

.A32 AU-C section 210, Terms of Engagement, requires the auditor to agree upon the terms of the audit engagement with management or those charged with governance, as appropriate.8 The agreed terms of the audit engagement are required to be recorded in an audit engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement and include, among other things, reference to the expected form and content of the auditor’s report.9 As explained in paragraph .A13, if the terms of engagement are not agreed upon with those charged with governance, the auditor may provide those charged with governance with a copy of the engagement letter in order to communicate about matters relevant to the audit. The communication required by paragraph .12d is intended to inform those charged with governance about circumstances in which the auditor’s report may differ from its expected form and content or may include additional information about the audit that was performed.

8 Paragraph .09 of AU-C section 210, Terms of Engagement.
9 Paragraph .10 of AU-C section 210.

.A33 Circumstances in which the auditor is required or may otherwise consider it necessary to include additional information in the auditor’s report in accordance with GAAS, and for which communication with those charged with governance is required, include the following:

- The auditor expects to modify the opinion in the auditor’s report in accordance with proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report.10
- A “Going Concern” section is included in the auditor’s report in accordance with proposed amendments to AU-C section 570, The Auditor’s Consideration of an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern.11
Amendments

- Key audit matters are communicated in accordance with proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report.12
- The auditor considers it necessary to include an emphasis-of-matter paragraph or other-matter paragraph in accordance with proposed SAS Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report,13 or is required to do so by other AU-C sections.

In such circumstances, the auditor may consider it useful to provide those charged with governance with a draft of the auditor’s report to facilitate a discussion of how such matters will be addressed in the auditor’s report.

10 Paragraph 31 of proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report.
11 Paragraph .24 of proposed amendments to AU-C section 570, The Auditor’s Consideration of an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern.
12 Paragraph 16 of proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report.

Other Findings or Issues

A27A34 The auditor may become aware that the entity is subject to an audit requirement that is not encompassed in the terms of the engagement. The communication to those charged with governance that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS may not satisfy the relevant legal, regulatory, or contractual requirements may be necessary if, for example, an entity engages an auditor to perform an audit of its financial statements in accordance with GAAS and the auditor becomes aware that by law, regulation, or contractual agreement the entity also is required to have an audit performed in accordance with one or more of the following:

- Government Auditing Standards
- OMB Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local GovernmentsTitle 2 U.S. Code of Federal Regulations Part 200, Uniform Administration Requirements, Cost Principles, and Non-Profit Organizations Audit Requirements for Federal Awards
- Other compliance audit requirements, such as state or local laws or program-specific audits under federal audit guides

Other Significant Matters Relevant to the Financial Reporting Process (Ref: Par. .12e)

A35 AU-C section 300, Planning an Audit,14 notes that, as a result of unexpected events, changes in conditions, or the audit evidence obtained from the results of audit procedures, the auditor may need to modify the overall audit strategy and audit plan and thereby the resulting planned nature, timing, and extent of further audit procedures, based on the revised consideration of assessed risks. The auditor may communicate with those charged with governance about such matters as, for example, an update to initial discussions about the planned scope and timing of the audit.

14 Paragraph .A15 of AU-C section 300, Planning an Audit.

A36 To the extent not already addressed by the requirements in paragraph .12a–d and related application material, the auditor may consider communicating about other matters discussed with, or considered by, the engagement quality control reviewer, if one has been appointed, in accordance with AU-
Amendments

Significant Findings or Issues Discussed or Subject to Correspondence With Management (Ref: par. .14b)

_A.32A40_ Significant findings or issues discussed, or the subject of correspondence, with management may include matters such as

- significant events or transactions that occurred during the year.
- business conditions affecting the entity and business plans and strategies that may affect the risks of material misstatement.
- discussions or correspondence in connection with the initial or recurring engagement of the auditor including, among other matters, any discussions or correspondence regarding accounting practices or the application of auditing standards.

Forms of Communication (Ref: par. .16)

_A.40A48_ In addition to the significance of a particular matter, the form of communication (for example, whether to communicate orally or in writing, the extent of detail or summarization in the communication, and whether to communicate in a formal or informal manner) may be affected by factors such as

- whether a discussion of the matter will be included in the auditor’s report. For example, when _key audit matters are communicated in the auditor’s report, the auditor may consider it necessary to communicate in writing about the matters determined to be key audit matters._
- whether the matter has been satisfactorily resolved.
- whether management has previously communicated the matter.
- the size, operating structure, control environment, and legal structure of the entity being audited.
- _in the case of an audit of special purpose financial statements, whether the auditor also audits the entity’s general purpose financial statements._
- legal or regulatory requirements that may require a written communication with those charged with governance.
- the expectations of those charged with governance, including arrangements made for periodic meetings or communications with the auditor.
- the amount of ongoing contact and dialogue the auditor has with those charged with governance.
- whether there have been significant changes in the membership of a governing body.
Amendments

in the case of an audit of special-purpose financial statements, whether the auditor also audits the entity's general-purpose financial statements.

Timing of Communications (Ref: par. .18)

.A42-A50. The timely communication throughout the audit contributes to the achievement of robust two-way dialogue between those charged with governance and the auditor. However, the appropriate timing for communications will vary with the circumstances of the engagement. Considerations include the significance and nature of the matter and the action expected to be taken by those charged with governance. The auditor may consider communicating: The following are examples of what may be considered appropriate timely communication:

- Communications regarding planning matters may often be made early in the audit engagement and, for an initial engagement, as part of the terms of the engagement.

- It may be appropriate to communicate significant difficulties encountered during the audit as soon as practicable if those charged with governance are able to assist the auditor in overcoming the difficulties or if the difficulties are likely to lead to a modified opinion.

- When proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies, the auditor may communicate preliminary views about key audit matters when discussing the planned scope and timing of the audit (see paragraph .A21); the auditor may also have more frequent communications to further discuss such matters when communicating about significant audit findings.

- Communications regarding independence may be appropriate whenever significant judgments are made about threats to independence and related safeguards.

- Communications regarding findings from the audit, including the auditor’s views about the qualitative aspects of the entity’s accounting practices, may also be made at the conclusion of the audit.

The Audit Plan (Ref: par. .09)

A15. Determining the nature, timing, and extent of planned risk assessment procedures, and further audit procedures, as they relate to disclosures is important in light of both the wide range of information and the level of detail that may be encompassed in those disclosures. Further, certain disclosures may contain information that is obtained from outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers, which may also affect the assessed risks and the nature, timing, and extent of audit procedures to address them.

A16. Consideration of disclosures early in the audit assists the auditor in giving appropriate attention to, and planning adequate time for, addressing disclosures in the same way as classes of transactions, events, and account balances are addressed. Early consideration may also help the auditor to determine the effects on the audit of the following:

- Significant new or revised disclosures required as a result of changes in the entity’s environment, financial condition, or activities (for example, disclosures about discontinued operations or a significant business combination)
- Significant new or revised disclosures arising from changes in the applicable financial reporting framework
- The need for the involvement of an auditor’s expert to assist with audit procedures related to particular disclosures (for example, disclosures related to pension or other retirement benefit obligations)
- Matters relating to disclosures that the auditor may wish to discuss with those charged with governance

.A25.A27

Significant Factors, Preliminary Engagement Activities, and Knowledge Gained on Other Engagements
Amendments

The following examples illustrate significant factors, preliminary engagement activities, and knowledge gained on other engagements:

• The determination of materiality, in accordance with section 320, Materiality in Planning and Performing an Audit, and, when applicable, the following:

  — The determination of materiality for components and communication thereof to component auditors in accordance with section 600, Special Considerations—Audits of Group Financial Statements (Including the Work of Component Auditors)

  — The preliminary identification of significant components and material classes of transactions, account balances, and disclosures

• Preliminary identification of areas in which there may be a higher risk of material misstatement

• The effect of the assessed risk of material misstatement at the overall financial statement level on direction, supervision, and review

• The manner in which the auditor emphasizes to engagement team members the need to maintain a questioning mind and exercise professional skepticism in gathering and evaluating audit evidence

• Results of previous audits that involved evaluating the operating effectiveness of internal control, including the nature of identified deficiencies and action taken to address them

• The discussion of matters that may affect the audit with firm personnel responsible for performing other services to the entity

• Evidence of management’s commitment to the design, implementation, and maintenance of sound internal control, including evidence of appropriate documentation of such internal control

• Changes within the applicable financial reporting framework, such as changes in accounting standards, which may involve significant new or revised disclosures

• Volume of transactions, which may determine whether it is more efficient for the auditor to rely on internal control

• Importance attached to internal control throughout the entity to the successful operation of the business

• The processes management uses to identify and prepare the disclosures required by the applicable financial reporting framework, including disclosures containing information that is obtained from outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers

• Significant business developments affecting the entity, including changes in IT and business processes; changes in key management; and acquisitions, mergers, and divestments

• Significant industry developments, such as changes in industry regulations and new reporting requirements
Amendments

- Significant changes in the financial reporting framework, such as changes in accounting standards.

- Other significant relevant developments, such as changes in the legal environment affecting the entity.

AU-C Section 315, Understanding the Entity and Its Environment and Assessing the Risks of Material Misstatement

The Required Understanding of the Entity and Its Environment, Including the Entity’s Internal Control

The Entity’s Internal Control

Components of Internal Control

.19 The information system, including the related business processes relevant to financial reporting and communication. The auditor shall obtain an understanding of the information system, including the related business processes relevant to financial reporting, including the following areas:

a. The classes of transactions in the entity’s operations that are significant to the financial statements.

b. The procedures within both IT and manual systems by which those transactions are initiated, authorized, recorded, processed, corrected as necessary, transferred to the general ledger, and reported in the financial statements.

c. The related accounting records supporting information and specific accounts in the financial statements that are used to initiate, authorize, record, process, and report transactions. This includes the correction of incorrect information and how information is transferred to the general ledger. The records may be in either manual or electronic form.

d. How the information system captures events and conditions, other than transactions, that are significant to the financial statements.

e. The financial reporting process used to prepare the entity’s financial statements, including significant accounting estimates and disclosures.

f. Controls surrounding journal entries, including nonstandard journal entries used to record nonrecurring, unusual transactions, or adjustments. (Ref: par. .A92–.A96)

This understanding of the information system relevant to financial reporting should include relevant aspects of that system relating to information disclosed in the financial statements that is obtained from within or outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers. (Ref: par. .A92–.A96)

[No amendments to paragraphs .20–.26.]

Identifying and Assessing the Risk of Material Misstatement

.27 For this purpose, the auditor should
Amendments

a. identify risks throughout the process of obtaining an understanding of the entity and its environment, including relevant controls that relate to the risks, and by considering the classes of transactions, account balances, and disclosures (including the quantitative and qualitative aspects of such disclosures) in the financial statements; (Ref: par. A134–A135.A139–A143)

b. assess the identified risks and evaluate whether they relate more pervasively to the financial statements as a whole and potentially affect many assertions;

c. relate the identified risks to what can go wrong at the relevant assertion level, taking account of relevant controls that the auditor intends to test; and (Ref: par. A136–A138.A144–A146)

d. consider the likelihood of misstatement, including the possibility of multiple misstatements, and whether the potential misstatement is of a magnitude that could result in a material misstatement. (Ref: par. A147)

[No amendments to paragraphs .28–.33.]

Application and Other Explanatory Material

Risk Assessment Procedures and Related Activities (Ref: para. 5)

A1 Obtaining an understanding of the entity and its environment, including the entity’s internal control (referred to hereafter as an understanding of the entity), is a continuous, dynamic process of gathering, updating, and analyzing information throughout the audit. The understanding of the entity establishes a frame of reference within which the auditor plans the audit and exercises professional judgment throughout the audit when, for example

- assessing risks of material misstatement of the financial statements;
- determining materiality in accordance with section 320, Materiality in Planning and Performing an Audit;
- considering the appropriateness of the selection and application of accounting policies and the adequacy of financial statement disclosures;
- Identifying areas relating to amounts or disclosures in the financial statements for which special audit consideration may be necessary (for example, related party transactions, the appropriateness of management’s use of the evaluation of the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern assumption, or when considering the business purpose of transactions);
- identifying areas for which special audit consideration may be necessary (for example, related party transactions, the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern assumption, considering the business purpose of transactions, or the existence of complex and unusual transactions);
- developing expectations for use when performing analytical procedures;
Amendments

- responding to the assessed risks of material misstatement, including designing and performing further audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence; and

- evaluating the sufficiency and appropriateness of audit evidence obtained, such as the appropriateness of assumptions and management’s oral and written representations.

Information Obtained in Prior Periods (Ref: Par. 10)

.A19 The auditor’s previous experience with the entity and audit procedures performed in previous audits may provide the auditor with information about such matters as

- past misstatements and whether they were corrected on a timely basis.

- the nature of the entity and its environment and the entity’s internal control (including deficiencies in internal control).

- significant changes that the entity or its operations may have undergone since the prior financial period, which may assist the auditor in gaining a sufficient understanding of the entity to identify and assess risks of material misstatement.

- those particular types of transactions and other events or account balances (and related disclosures) where the auditor experienced difficulty in performing the necessary audit procedures, for example, due to their complexity.

.A20 As part of the discussion among the engagement team required by paragraph .11, consideration of the disclosure requirements of the applicable financial reporting framework assists in identifying early in the audit where there may be risks of material misstatement related to disclosures. Examples of matters the engagement team may discuss include the following:

- Changes in financial reporting requirements that may result in significant new or revised disclosures

- Changes in the entity’s environment, financial condition, or activities that may result in significant new or revised disclosures, for example, a significant business combination in the period under audit

- Disclosures for which obtaining sufficient appropriate audit evidence may have been difficult in the past

- Disclosures about complex matters, including those involving significant management judgment regarding what information to disclose

The Required Understanding of the Entity and Its Environment, Including the Entity’s Internal Control

The Entity and Its Environment
Amendments

Industry, Regulatory, and Other External Factors (Ref: par. 12a)

A27-A28  Regulatory Factors. Relevant regulatory factors include the regulatory environment. The regulatory environment encompasses, among other matters, the applicable financial reporting framework and the legal and political environment. Examples of matters the auditor may consider include the following:

- Accounting principles and industry-specific practices
- Regulatory framework for a regulated industry, including requirements for disclosures
- Laws and regulations that significantly affect the entity’s operations, including direct supervisory activities
- Taxation (corporate and other)
- Government policies currently affecting the conduct of the entity’s business, such as monetary (including foreign exchange controls), fiscal, financial incentives (for example, government aid programs), and tariffs or trade restrictions policies
- Environmental requirements affecting the industry and the entity’s business

Nature of the Entity (Ref: par. 12b)

A30-A31  An understanding of the nature of an entity enables the auditor to understand such matters as

- whether the entity has a complex structure (for example, with subsidiaries or other components in multiple locations). Complex structures often introduce issues that may give rise to risks of material misstatement. Such issues may include whether goodwill, joint ventures, investments, or investments in entities formed to accomplish specific objectives are accounted for and disclosed appropriately.
- the ownership, and relationships between owners and other people or entities. This understanding assists in determining whether related party transactions have been appropriately identified, and accounted for, and adequately disclosed in the financial statements. Section 550, Related Parties, addresses the auditor’s considerations relevant to related parties.

A31-A32  Examples of matters that the auditor may consider when obtaining an understanding of the nature of the entity include

- business operations such as

- investments and investment activities such as

  ...

- financing and financing activities such as

  ...

- financial reporting practices such as — accounting principles and industry-specific practices, including for industry-specific significant categories of transactions, account balances, and related disclosures in the financial

Amendments

- statements (for example, loans and investments for banks or research and development for pharmaceuticals).

- revenue recognition practices.

- accounting for fair values.

- foreign currency assets, liabilities, and transactions.

- accounting for unusual or complex transactions, including those in controversial or emerging areas (for example, accounting for stock-based compensation).

Components of Internal Control—Control Environment (Ref: par. 15)

.A82 Effect of the control environment on the assessment of the risks of material misstatement. Some elements of an entity’s control environment have a pervasive effect on assessing the risks of material misstatement. For example, an entity’s control consciousness is influenced significantly by those charged with governance, because one of their roles is to counterbalance pressures on management in relation to financial reporting that may arise from market demands or remuneration schemes. The effectiveness of the design of the control environment in relation to participation by those charged with governance is therefore influenced by such matters as

- their independence from management and their ability to evaluate the actions of management.
- whether they understand the entity’s business transactions.
- the extent to which they evaluate whether the financial statements are prepared in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework, including whether the financial statements include adequate disclosures.

Components of Internal Control—The Information System, Including Related Business Processes Relevant to Financial Reporting and Communication

.A94 Financial statements may contain information that is obtained from outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers. Examples of such information may include the following:

- Information obtained from lease agreements disclosed in the financial statements, such as renewal options or future lease payments
- Information disclosed in the financial statements that is produced by an entity’s risk management system
- Fair value information produced by management’s experts and disclosed in the financial statements
- Information disclosed in the financial statements that has been obtained from models or from other calculations used to develop estimates recognized or disclosed in the financial statements, including information relating to the underlying data and assumptions used in those models, such as the following:
  - Assumptions developed internally that may affect an asset’s useful life
Amendments

— Data, such as interest rates, that are affected by factors outside the control of the entity

• Information disclosed in the financial statements about sensitivity analyses derived from financial models that demonstrates that management has considered alternative assumptions

• Information recognized or disclosed in the financial statements that has been obtained from an entity’s tax returns and records

• Information disclosed in the financial statements that has been obtained from analyses prepared to support management’s evaluation of the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern, such as disclosures, if any, related to events or conditions that have been identified that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern14

.A95 The understanding of the information system relevant to financial reporting required by paragraph .19 of this section (including the understanding of relevant aspects of that system relating to information disclosed in the financial statements that is obtained from within or outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers) is a matter of the auditor’s professional judgment. For example, certain amounts or disclosures in the entity’s financial statements (such as disclosures about credit risk, liquidity risk, and market risk) may be based on information obtained from the entity’s risk management system. However, the auditor is not required to understand all aspects of the risk management system and uses professional judgment in determining the necessary understanding.

A96.A99 Considerations specific to smaller, less complex entities. (Ref: par. 19). The information system, and related business processes, relevant to financial reporting in small entities, including relevant aspects of that system relating to information disclosed in the financial statements that is obtained from within or outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers, are likely to be less sophisticated than in larger entities, but their role is just as significant. Small entities with active management involvement may not need extensive descriptions of accounting procedures, sophisticated accounting records, or written policies. Understanding the entity’s information systems relevant to financial reporting and processes may therefore be easier in an audit of smaller entities, and may be more dependent on inquiry than on review of documentation. The need to obtain an understanding, however, remains important.

Components of Internal Control—Control Activities (Ref: par. .21)

.A106 Control activities relevant to the audit may include controls established by management that address risks of material misstatement related to disclosures not being prepared in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework, in addition to controls that address risks related to account balances and transactions. Such control activities may relate to information included in the financial statements that is obtained from outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers.

Identifying and Assessing the Risks of Material Misstatement

Assessment of Risks of Material Misstatement at the Financial Statement Level (Ref: par. .26a)

A123-A127 Risks at the financial statement level may derive, in particular, from a deficient control environment (although these risks may also relate to other factors, such as declining economic conditions). For example, deficiencies such as management’s lack of competence or a lack of oversight over the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements may have a more pervasive effect on the financial statements and may require an overall response by the auditor.

The Use of Assertions

A127-A131 In representing that the financial statements are in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework, management implicitly or explicitly makes assertions regarding the recognition, measurement, and presentation of classes of transactions and events, account balances, and disclosures of the various elements of financial statements and related disclosures.

[Paragraph .A129 is renumbered and moved to paragraph .A132.]

A129-A132 The auditor may use the assertions as described above or may express them differently provided all aspects described above have been covered. For example, the auditor may choose to combine the assertions about classes of transactions and events, and related disclosures, with the assertions about account balances, and related disclosures. As another example, there may not be a separate assertion related to cutoff of transactions and events when the occurrence and completeness assertions include appropriate consideration of recording transactions in the correct accounting period.

Assertions About Classes of Transactions, Account Balances, and Related Disclosures

A128-A133 Assertions used by the auditor to considering the different types of potential misstatements that may occur may fall into the following three categories and may take the following forms:

a. Assertions about classes of transactions and events, and related disclosures, for the period under audit, such as the following:
   i. Occurrence. Transactions and events that have been recorded or disclosed, have occurred, and such transactions and events pertain to the entity.
   ii. Completeness. All transactions and events that should have been recorded have been recorded, and all related disclosures that should have been included in the financial statements have been included.
   iii. Accuracy. Amounts and other data relating to recorded transactions and events have been recorded appropriately, and related disclosures have been appropriately measured and described.
   iv. Cutoff. Transactions and events have been recorded in the correct accounting period.
   v. Classification. Transactions and events have been recorded in the proper accounts.
vi. Presentation. Transactions and events are appropriately aggregated or disaggregated and clearly described, and related disclosures are relevant and understandable in the context of the requirements of the applicable financial reporting framework.

b. Assertions about account balances, and related disclosures, at the period end, such as the following:

i. Existence. Assets, liabilities, and equity interests exist.

ii. Rights and obligations. The entity holds or controls the rights to assets, and liabilities are the obligations of the entity.

iii. Completeness. All assets, liabilities and equity interests that should have been recorded have been recorded, and all related disclosures that should have been included in the financial statements have been included.

iv. Accuracy, valuation and allocation. Assets, liabilities, and equity interests are have been included in the financial statements at appropriate amounts, and any resulting valuation or allocation adjustments are have been appropriately recorded, and related disclosures have been appropriately measured and described.

v. Classification. Assets, liabilities, and equity interests have been recorded in the proper accounts.

vi. Presentation. Assets, liabilities, and equity interests are appropriately aggregated or disaggregated and clearly described, and related disclosures are relevant and understandable in the context of the requirements of the applicable financial reporting framework.

d. Assertions about presentation and disclosure, such as the following:

i. Occurrence and rights and obligations—disclosed events, transactions, and other matters have occurred and pertain to the entity.

ii. Completeness—all disclosures that should have been included in the financial statements have been included.

iii. Classification and understandability—financial information is appropriately presented and described, and disclosures are clearly expressed.

iv. Accuracy and valuation—financial and other information are disclosed fairly and at appropriate amounts.

Assertions About Other Disclosures

A134 The assertions described in paragraph A133a–b, adapted as appropriate, may also be used by the auditor in considering the different types of potential misstatements that may occur in disclosures not directly related to recorded classes of transactions, events, or account balances. As an example of such a disclosure, the entity may be required to describe its exposure to risks arising from financial instruments, including how the risks arise; the objectives, policies, and processes for managing the risks; and the methods used to measure the risks.

Process of Identifying Risks of Material Misstatement (Ref: par. .27a)

A134..A139 Information gathered by performing risk assessment procedures, including the audit evidence obtained in evaluating the design of controls and determining whether they have been implemented, is used as audit evidence to support the risk assessment. The risk assessment determines the nature, timing, and extent of further audit procedures to be performed. In identifying the risks of material misstatement in the financial statements, the auditor exercises professional skepticism in accordance with section 200.5

5 Paragraph .17 of section 200.

A135..A140 Appendix C provides examples of conditions and events that may indicate the existence of risks of material misstatement, including risks of material misstatement relating to disclosures.

A141 As explained in section 320,6 materiality and audit risk are considered when identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement in classes of transactions, account balances, and disclosures. The auditor’s determination of materiality is a matter of professional judgment and is affected by the auditor’s perception of the financial reporting needs of users of the financial statements.7

7 Paragraph .04 of section 320.

A142 The auditor’s consideration of disclosures in the financial statements when identifying risks includes quantitative and qualitative disclosures, the misstatement of which could be material (that is, in general, misstatements are considered to be material if they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements as a whole). Depending on the circumstances of the entity and the engagement, examples of disclosures that will have qualitative aspects and that may be relevant when assessing the risks of material misstatement include disclosures about the following:

- Liquidity and debt covenants of an entity in financial distress
- Events or circumstances that have led to the recognition of an impairment loss
- Key sources of estimation uncertainty, including assumptions about the future
- The nature of a change in accounting policy, and other relevant disclosures required by the applicable financial reporting framework, where, for example, new financial reporting requirements are expected to have a significant impact on the financial position and financial performance of the entity
- Share-based payment arrangements, including information about how any amounts recognized were determined, and other relevant disclosures
- Related parties and related party transactions
- Sensitivity analysis, including the effects of changes in assumptions used in the entity’s valuation techniques intended to enable users to understand the underlying measurement uncertainty of a recorded or disclosed amount

Considerations Specific to Smaller Entities
Amendments

.A143 Disclosures in the financial statements of smaller entities may be less detailed or less complex (for example, some financial reporting frameworks allow smaller entities to provide fewer disclosures in the financial statements). However, this does not relieve the auditor of the responsibility to obtain an understanding of the entity and its environment, including internal control, as it relates to disclosures.

Material Misstatements (Ref: par. 27d)

.A147 Potential misstatements in individual statements and disclosures may be judged to be material due to size, nature, or circumstances.

[Paragraphs .A139–.A157 are renumbered as paragraphs .A148–.A166. The content is unchanged.]

Appendix C—Conditions and Events That May Indicate Risks of Material Misstatement (Ref: par. .A40/A41 and .A135/A140)

.A158/A167

The following are examples of conditions and events that may indicate the existence of risks of material misstatement in the financial statements. The examples provided cover a broad range of conditions and events; however, not all conditions and events are relevant to every audit engagement and the list of examples is not necessarily complete.

- Operations in regions that are economically unstable (for example, countries with significant currency devaluation or highly inflationary economies)
- Operations exposed to volatile markets (for example, futures trading)
- Operations that are subject to a high degree of complex regulation
- Going concern and liquidity issues, including loss of significant customers
- Constraints on the availability of capital and credit
- Changes in the industry in which the entity operates
- Changes in the supply chain
- Developing or offering new products or services or moving into new lines of business
- Expanding into new locations
- Changes in the entity, such as large acquisitions or reorganizations or other unusual events
- Entities or business segments likely to be sold
- The existence of complex alliances and joint ventures
Amendments

- Use of off balance sheet finance, investments in entities formed to accomplish specific objectives, and other complex financing arrangements
- Significant transactions with related parties
- Lack of personnel with appropriate accounting and financial reporting skills
- Changes in key personnel, including departure of key executives
- Deficiencies in internal control, especially those not addressed by management
- Incentives for management and employees to engage in fraudulent financial reporting
- Inconsistencies between the entity’s IT strategy and its business strategies
- Changes in the IT environment
- Installation of significant new IT systems related to financial reporting
- Inquiries into the entity’s operations or financial results by regulatory or government bodies
- Past misstatements, history of errors, or a significant amount of adjustments at period-end
- Significant amount of nonroutine or nonsystematic transactions, including intercompany transactions and large revenue transactions at period-end
- Transactions that are recorded based on management’s intent (for example, debt refinancing, assets to be sold, and classification of marketable securities)
- Application of new accounting pronouncements
- Accounting measurements that involve complex processes
- Events or transactions that involve significant measurement uncertainty, including accounting estimates, and related disclosures
  - Omitting, or obscuring, significant information in disclosures
- Pending litigation and contingent liabilities (for example, sales warranties, financial guarantees, and environmental remediation)
Introduction

[No amendments to paragraphs .01–.05.]

Materiality in the Context of an Audit

.06 In planning the audit, the auditor makes judgments about the size of misstatements that will be considered material. These judgments provide a basis for

a. determining the nature and extent of risk assessment procedures;

b. identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement; and

c. determining the nature, timing, and extent of further audit procedures.

The materiality determined when planning the audit does not necessarily establish an amount below which uncorrected misstatements, individually or in the aggregate, will always be evaluated as immaterial. The circumstances related to some misstatements may cause the auditor to evaluate them as material even if they are below materiality. Although it is not practicable to design audit procedures to detect all misstatements that could be material solely because of their nature (that is, qualitative considerations), however, consideration of the nature of potential misstatements in disclosures is relevant to the design of audit procedures to address risks of material misstatement. In addition, when evaluating the effect on the financial statements of all uncorrected misstatements, the auditor considers not only the size but also the nature of uncorrected misstatements, and the particular circumstances of their occurrence, when evaluating their effect on the financial statements. Application and Other Explanatory Material

Materiality in the Context of an Audit (Ref: par. .06)
Amendments

.25 Identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement involves the use of professional judgment to identify those classes of transactions, account balances, and disclosures, including qualitative disclosures, the misstatement of which could be material (in general, misstatements are considered to be material if they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements as a whole). When considering whether misstatements in qualitative disclosures could be material, the auditor may identify relevant factors such as the following:

- The circumstances of the entity for the period (for example, the entity may have undertaken a significant business combination during the period)
- The applicable financial reporting framework, including changes therein (for example, a new financial reporting standard may require new qualitative disclosures that are significant to the entity)
- Qualitative disclosures that are important to users of the financial statements because of the nature of an entity (for example, liquidity risk disclosures may be important to users of the financial statements for a financial institution)

Paragraph .25 of section 315 requires the auditor to identify and assess the risk of material misstatement at the financial statement and assertion level.

Determining Materiality and Performance Materiality When Planning the Audit

Materiality Level or Levels for Particular Classes of Transactions, Account Balances, or Disclosures (Ref: par. .10)

.12 Factors that may indicate the existence of one or more particular classes of transactions, account balances, or disclosures for which misstatements of lesser amounts than materiality for the financial statements as a whole could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements include the following:

- Whether law, regulation, or the applicable financial reporting framework affect users’ expectations regarding the measurement or disclosure of certain items (for example, related party transactions, and the remuneration of management and those charged with governance, and sensitivity analysis for fair value accounting estimates with high estimation uncertainty)
- The key disclosures with regard to the industry in which the entity operates (for example, research and development costs for a pharmaceutical company)
- Whether attention is focused on a particular aspect of the entity’s business that is separately disclosed in the financial statements (for example, a newly acquired business disclosures about discontinued operations or a significant business combination)

Amendments

AU-C Section 330, Performing Audit Procedures in Response to Assessed Risks and Evaluating the Audit Evidence Obtained

[No amendments to paragraphs .01–.20.]

Substantive Procedures Related to the Financial Statement Closing Process

.21 The auditor’s substantive procedures should include audit procedures related to the financial statement closing process, such as

a. agreeing or reconciling information in the financial statements with the underlying accounting records, including agreeing or reconciling information in disclosures, whether such information is obtained from within or outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers and

b. examining material journal entries and other adjustments made during the course of preparing the financial statements. (Ref: par. .A57)

[No amendments to paragraphs .22–.25.]

Adequacy of Presentation and Disclosure of the Financial Statements

26. The auditor should perform audit procedures to evaluate whether the overall presentation of the financial statements, including the related disclosures, is in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. In making this evaluation, the auditor should consider whether the financial statements are presented in a manner that reflects the following:

a. The appropriate classification and description of financial information and the underlying transactions, events and conditions

b. The appropriate presentation, structure and content of the financial statements (Ref: par. .A72)

Documentation

33. The auditor’s documentation should demonstrate that information in the financial statements agrees or reconciles with the underlying accounting records, including agreeing or reconciling disclosures, whether such information is obtained from within or outside of the general and subsidiary ledgers.
Amendments

[No amendments to paragraphs .A1–.A13.]

Responding to the Assessed Risks at the Assertion Level (Ref: par. .07a)

.A14 In addition, certain audit procedures can be performed only at or after the period-end. For example

- agreeing or reconciling information in the financial statements, including classes of transactions, account balances and disclosures, with the underlying to the accounting records including, as applicable, those relevant accounting records that are outside the general and subsidiary ledgers;

- examining adjustments made during the course of preparing the financial statements, and

- procedures to respond to a risk that at the period-end the entity may have entered into improper sales contracts or transactions may not have been finalized.

.A15 Further relevant factors that influence the auditor’s consideration of when to perform audit procedures include

- the effectiveness of the control environment.

- when relevant information is available (for example, electronic files may subsequently be overwritten, or procedures to be observed may occur only at certain times).

- the nature of the risk (for example, if there is a risk of inflated revenues to meet earnings expectations by subsequent creation of false sales agreements, the auditor may examine contracts available on the date of the period-end).

- the period or date to which the audit evidence relates.

- the timing of the preparation of the financial statements, particularly for those disclosures that provide further explanation about amounts recorded in the financial statements.

[No amendments to paragraphs .A16–.A56.]

Substantive Procedures Related to the Financial Statement Closing Process (Ref: par. .21b)

.A57 The nature and also the extent of the auditor’s substantive procedures related to the financial statement closing process, including testing the appropriateness of journal entries and other adjustments, depends on the nature and complexity of the entity’s financial reporting process and the related risks of material misstatement.
Adequacy of Presentation and Disclosure of the Financial Statements (Ref: par. .26)

.A72 Evaluating the overall appropriate presentation, structure, and content of the financial statements, including the related disclosures, relates to whether the individual financial statements are presented in a manner that reflects the appropriate classification and description of financial information, and the form, arrangement, and content of the financial statements and their appended notes. This includes, for example, consideration of the terminology used as required by the applicable financial reporting framework, the amount level of detail given provided, the classification of items in the statements, aggregation and disaggregation of amounts, and the bases of amounts set forth.
Definitions

Misstatement. A difference between the reported amount, classification, presentation, or disclosure of a reported financial statement item and the amount, classification, presentation, or disclosure that is required for the item to be presented fairly in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. Misstatements can arise from error or fraud. Misstatements also include those adjustments of amounts, classifications, presentations, or disclosures that, in the auditor’s professional judgment, are necessary for the financial statements to be presented fairly, in all material respects. (Ref: par. .A1)

[No amendments to paragraphs .05–.12.]

Misstatement (Ref: par. .04)

.A1 Misstatements may result from fraud or error, such as

1. an inaccuracy in gathering or processing data from which the financial statements are prepared;
2. an omission of an amount or disclosure, including inadequate or incomplete disclosures and omission of those disclosures required to meet disclosure objectives of certain financial reporting frameworks as applicable;
3. a financial statement disclosure that is not presented in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework;
4. an incorrect accounting estimate arising from overlooking, or clear misinterpretation of, facts; and
5. judgments of management concerning accounting estimates that the auditor considers unreasonable or the selection or application of accounting policies that the auditor considers inappropriate;
6. an inappropriate classification, aggregation, or disaggregation of information; and
Amendments

g. the omission of a disclosure necessary for the financial statements to achieve fair presentation beyond disclosures specifically required by the framework.

Other examples of misstatements arising from fraud are provided in section 240, Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.^[5]

^[5] [Footnote omitted for purposes of this proposed SAS.]

Accumulation of Identified Misstatements (Ref: par. .05)

“Clearly Trivial”

.A2 The auditor may designate an amount below which misstatements would be clearly trivial and would not need to be accumulated because the auditor expects that the accumulation of such amounts clearly would not have a material effect on the financial statements. Paragraph .05 requires the auditor to accumulate misstatements identified during the audit other than those that are clearly trivial. “Clearly trivial” is not another expression for “not material.” Matters Misstatements that are clearly trivial will be of a wholly different (smaller) order of magnitude, or of a wholly different nature, than those that would be determined to be material than materiality determined in accordance with section 320, and will be matters and will be misstatements that are clearly inconsequential, whether taken individually or in the aggregate and whether judged by any criteria of size, nature, or circumstances. When there is any uncertainty about whether one or more items are clearly trivial, the matter misstatement is considered not to be clearly trivial.

Misstatements in Individual Statements

.A3 The auditor may designate an amount below which misstatements of amounts in the individual statements would be clearly trivial and would not need to be accumulated because the auditor expects that the accumulation of such amounts clearly would not have a material effect on the financial statements. However, misstatements of amounts that are above the designated amount would be accumulated as required by paragraph .05. In addition, misstatements relating to amounts may not be clearly trivial based on their nature or circumstances and, if not clearly trivial, would be accumulated as required by paragraph .05 of this section.

Misstatements in Disclosures

.A4 Misstatements in disclosures may also be clearly trivial whether taken individually or in the aggregate and whether judged based on size, nature, or circumstances. Misstatements in disclosures that are not clearly trivial are also accumulated to assist the auditor in evaluating the effect of such misstatements on the relevant disclosures and the financial statements as a whole. Paragraph .A23 provides examples of when misstatements in qualitative disclosures may be material.

Accumulation of Misstatements

.A5 Misstatements by nature or circumstances, accumulated as described in paragraphs .A3–.A4, cannot be added together as is possible in the case of misstatements of amounts. Nevertheless, the auditor is required by paragraph .A11 to evaluate those misstatements individually and in the aggregate (that is, collectively with other misstatements) to determine whether they are material.
Amendments

.A3.46 To assist the auditor in evaluating the effect of misstatements accumulated during the audit and in communicating misstatements to management and those charged with governance, it may be useful to distinguish between factual misstatements, judgmental misstatements, and projected misstatements, described as follows:

• Factual misstatements are misstatements about which there is no doubt.

• Judgmental misstatements are differences arising from the judgments of management including those concerning recognition, measurement, presentation, and disclosure in the financial statements (including accounting estimates that the auditor considers unreasonable, or the selection or application of accounting policies) that the auditor considers unreasonable or inappropriate.

• Projected misstatements are the auditor’s best estimate of misstatements in populations, involving the projection of misstatements identified in audit samples to the entire population from which the samples were drawn. Guidance on the determination of projected misstatements and evaluation of the results is set out in section 530, Audit Sampling.

Communication and Correction of Misstatements (Ref: par. .07–.09)

.A6.49 Timely communication of misstatements to the appropriate level of management is important because it enables management to evaluate whether the items classes of transactions, account balances, and disclosures are misstated, inform the auditor if it disagrees, and take action as necessary. Ordinarily, the appropriate level of management is the one that has responsibility and authority to evaluate the misstatements and to take the necessary action.

Evaluating the Effect of Uncorrected Misstatements (Ref: par. .10–.11)

.A19.422 Each individual misstatement of an amount is considered to evaluate its effect on the relevant classes of transactions, account balances, or disclosures, including whether the materiality level for that particular class of transactions, account balance, or disclosure, if any, has been exceeded.

.A23 In addition, each individual misstatement of a qualitative disclosure is considered to evaluate its effect on the relevant disclosures, as well as its overall effect on the financial statements as a whole. The determination of whether a misstatement in a qualitative disclosure is material, in the context of the applicable financial reporting framework and the specific circumstances of the entity, is a matter that involves the exercise of professional judgment. Examples of misstatements that may be material include the following:
Amendments

- Inaccurate or incomplete descriptions of information about the objectives, policies, and processes for managing capital
- The omission of information about the events or circumstances that have led to an impairment loss (for example, a significant long-term decline in the demand for a metal or commodity)
- An incorrect description of an accounting policy relating to a significant item in any of the statements that the financial statements comprise
- An inadequate description of the sensitivity of an exchange rate

.A24 In determining whether uncorrected misstatements by nature are material as required by paragraph .11, the auditor considers uncorrected misstatements in amounts and disclosures. Such misstatements may be considered material either individually or in combination with other misstatements. For example, depending on the misstatements identified in disclosures, the auditor may consider the following:

- Whether identified errors are recurring or pervasive
- Whether a number of identified misstatements are relevant to the same matter, and considered collectively may affect the users’ understanding of that matter

This consideration of accumulated misstatements is also helpful when evaluating the financial statements in accordance with paragraph 13d of proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements,16 which requires the auditor to consider whether the overall presentation of the financial statements has been undermined by including information that is not relevant or that obscures a proper understanding of the matters disclosed.

16 Paragraph .16d of section 700, Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements.

[Paragraphs .A20–.A23 are renumbered as .A25–.A28. The content is unchanged.]

.A24.129 Section 240 explains how the implications of a misstatement that is, or may be, the result of fraud are required to be considered with regard to other aspects of the audit, even if the size of the misstatement is not material in relation to the financial statements. 18 Depending on the circumstances, misstatements in disclosures could also be indicative of fraud and, for example, may arise from the following:

- Misleading disclosures that have resulted from bias in management’s judgments
- Extensive duplicative or uninformative disclosures that are intended to obscure a proper understanding of matters in the financial statements

When considering the implications of misstatements in classes of transactions, account balances, and disclosures, the auditor exercises professional skepticism in accordance with section 200, Overall Objectives of the Independent Auditor and the Conduct of an Audit in Accordance With Generally Accepted Auditing Standards.19

Audit Conclusions and Reporting

Opening Balances (Ref: par. .15)

.A18 If the auditor encountered significant difficulty in obtaining sufficient appropriate audit evidence about whether the opening balances contain misstatements that materially affect the current period’s financial statements, the auditor may determine this to be a key audit matter in accordance with proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report.

[Paragraph .A18 is renumbered as paragraph .A19. The content is unchanged.]

Note: The Opinion section has been positioned first in accordance with proposed SAS Forming an Opinion and Reporting on Financial Statements, and the Basis for Opinion section is positioned immediately after the Opinion section. Also, the first sentence of the second paragraph and the last sentence that was included in the extant Auditor’s Responsibilities section are now subsumed as part of the new Basis for Opinion section.

.A19 .A20 Circumstances include the following:

- Audit of a complete set of general purpose financial statements. The audit is not a group audit.
- Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.
- The terms of the audit engagement reflect the description of management’s responsibility for the financial statements in section 210, Terms of Engagement.
- The auditor did not observe the counting of the physical inventory at the beginning of the current period and was unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the opening balances of inventory.
Amendments

- The possible effects of the inability to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding opening balances of inventory are deemed to be material and pervasive to the entity’s results of operations and cash flows.¹

- The financial position at year-end is fairly presented.

- A disclaimer of opinion regarding the results of operations and cash flows and an unmodified opinion regarding financial position is considered appropriate in the circumstances.

- Based on the audit evidence obtained, the auditor has concluded that there are no conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time in accordance with section 570, The Auditor’s Consideration of an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern.

- The auditor has not been engaged to communicate key audit matters in the auditor’s report.

- Those responsible for oversight of the financial statements differ from those responsible for the preparation of the financial statements.

Independent Auditor’s Report

[Appropriate Addressee]

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Opinions

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1, and were engaged to audit the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Disclaimer of Opinion on the Results of Operations and Cash Flows

We do not express an opinion on the results of operations and cash flows of ABC Company for the year ended December 31, 20X1. Because of the significance of the matter described in the Basis for Disclaimer of Opinion on the Results of Operations and Cash Flows section of our report paragraph, however, we have not been able to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a basis for an audit opinion on the results of operations and cash flows for the year ended December 31, 20X1. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the results of operations and cash flows for the year ended December 31, 20X1.

Opinion on the Financial Position

In our opinion, the balance sheet presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company as of December 31, 20X1, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinions

We were not engaged as auditors of the Company until after December 31, 20X0, and, therefore, did not observe the counting of physical inventories at the beginning of the year. We were unable to satisfy ourselves by performing other auditing procedures concerning the inventory held at December 31, 20X0. Since opening inventories enter into the determination of net income and cash flows, we were unable to determine whether any adjustments might have been necessary in respect of the profit for the year reported in the income statement and the net cash flows from operating activities reported in the cash flow statement.

2 The subtitle “Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements” is unnecessary in circumstances in which the second subtitle, “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements,” is not applicable.

We conducted our audit of the balance sheet in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report.
Amendments

independent of the Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the balance sheet is free from material misstatement.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our unmodified opinion on the financial position.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibility Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our responsibility is to conduct an audit of the Company’s financial statements based on conducting the audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. However, because of the matters described in the Basis for Opinions section of our report, paragraph, however, we were not able to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to provide a basis for an audit opinion on the results of operations and cash flows.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.
Amendments

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our unmodified opinion on the financial position.

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company's ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

3 In circumstances in which the auditor also has a responsibility to express an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control in conjunction with the audit of the financial statements, the auditor should omit the following: “but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of [the entity’s] internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.”

Obtaining an Understanding of How Management Identifies the Need for Accounting Estimates (Ref: par. .08b)

.A18 Inquiries of management about changes in circumstances may include, for example, inquiries about whether

• the entity has engaged in new types of transactions that may give rise to accounting estimates.

• terms of transactions that gave rise to accounting estimates have changed.

• accounting policies relating to accounting estimates have changed as a result of changes to within the requirements of the applicable financial reporting framework or otherwise.

• regulatory or other changes outside the control of management have occurred that may require management to revise, or make new, accounting estimates.

• new conditions or events have occurred that may give rise to the need for new or revised accounting estimates.

Recognition and Measurement Criteria

Recognition of the Accounting Estimates in the Financial Statements (Ref. par. 17a)

.A119 When management has recognized an accounting estimate in the financial statements, the focus of the auditor’s evaluation is on whether the measurement of the accounting estimate is sufficiently reliable to meet the recognition criteria of the applicable financial reporting framework.
Amendments

.A120 With respect to accounting estimates that have not been recognized, the focus of the auditor’s evaluation is on whether the recognition criteria of the applicable financial reporting framework have, in fact, been met. Even when an accounting estimate has not been recognized and the auditor concludes that this treatment is appropriate, there may be a need for disclosure of the circumstances in the notes to the financial statements. When applicable, the auditor may also determine that an accounting estimate that has been identified as having a high estimation uncertainty is a key audit matter to be communicated in the auditor’s report in accordance with proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report, or the auditor may consider it necessary to include in the auditor’s report (see proposed SAS Section Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report) a description of the circumstances. If the matter is determined to be a key audit matter, proposed SAS Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report prohibits the auditor from including that matter in an emphasis-of-matter paragraph in the auditor’s report.

Illustration 1—A Report With a Qualified Opinion When the Group Engagement Team Is Not Able to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence on Which to Base the Group Audit Opinion

Circumstances include the following:

- Audit of a complete set of general purpose financial statements (comparative).

- Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America as promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board.

- The terms of the audit engagement reflect the description of management’s responsibility for the financial statements in AU-C section 210.

- The group engagement team is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence relating to a significant component accounted for by the equity method because the group engagement team was unable to obtain the audited financial statements of the component as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, including the auditor’s report thereon. In this example, the auditor of the group financial statements is not making reference to the report of a component auditor. In the auditor’s professional judgment, the effect on the group financial statements of this inability to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence is material but not pervasive. Accordingly, the auditor’s report contains a qualified opinion.

- Based on the audit evidence obtained, the auditor has concluded that there are no conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time in accordance with AU-C section 570.

- The auditor has obtained all of the other information prior to the date of the auditor’s report and the qualified opinion on the consolidated financial statements also affects the other information included in the annual report.

- Those responsible for oversight of the financial statements differ from those responsible for the preparation of the financial statements.

- The auditor has not been engaged to communicate key audit matters in the auditor’s report.
Independent Auditor’s Report

Report on the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Qualified Opinion

We have audited the consolidated financial statements of ABC Company and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related consolidated statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion section of our report, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

We were unable to obtain audited financial statements supporting the Company’s investment in a foreign affiliate stated at $_______ and $_______ at December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, respectively, or its equity in earnings of that affiliate of $_______ and $_______, which is included in net income for the years then ended as described in Note X to the consolidated financial statements; nor were we able to satisfy ourselves as to the carrying value of the investment in the foreign affiliate or the equity in its earnings by other auditing procedures.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

would be customized to describe the specific matter giving rise to the qualified opinion that also affects the other information.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
Amendments

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

2 In circumstances in which the auditor also has responsibility to express an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control in conjunction with the audit of the financial statements, omit the following: “but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.”

Illustration 1 — A Report With a Qualified Opinion When the Group Engagement Team Is Not Able to Obtain Sufficient Appropriate Audit Evidence on Which to Base the Group Audit Opinion

In this example, the group engagement team is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence relating to a significant component accounted for by the equity method because the group engagement team was unable to obtain the audited financial statements of the component as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, including the auditor’s report thereon. In this example, the auditor of the group financial statements is not making reference to the report of a component auditor.

In the auditor’s professional judgment, the effect on the group financial statements of this inability to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence is material but not pervasive. If, in the auditor’s professional judgment, the effect on the group financial statements of the inability to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence is material and pervasive, the auditor would disclaim an opinion, in accordance with section 705, Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report.

Report on the Consolidated Financial Statements\textsuperscript{fn1}

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of ABC Company and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related consolidated statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control.\textsuperscript{fn2} Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

We were unable to obtain audited financial statements supporting the Company’s investment in a foreign affiliate stated at $_______ and $_______ at December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, respectively, or its equity in earnings of that affiliate of $_______ and $_______, which is included in net income for the years then ended as described in Note X to the consolidated financial statements; nor were we able to satisfy ourselves as to the carrying value of the investment in the foreign affiliate or the equity in its earnings by other auditing procedures.

Qualified Opinion

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion paragraph, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Report on the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements¹

Opinion

We have audited the consolidated financial statements of ABC Company and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related consolidated statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, based on our audits and the report of the other auditors, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We did not audit the financial statements of B Company, a wholly owned subsidiary, which statements reflect total assets constituting 20 percent and 22 percent, respectively, of consolidated total assets at December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and total revenues constituting 18 percent and 20 percent, respectively, of consolidated total revenues for the years then ended. Those statements were audited by other auditors, whose report has been furnished to us, and our opinion, insofar as it relates to the amounts included for B Company, is based solely on the report of the other auditors.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of ABC Company, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged With Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate ABC Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing ABC Company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.
Amendments

As part of an audit in accordance with GAAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of ABC Company’s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.²

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

- Conclude on ABC Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and conclude on the appropriateness of management’s use of the going concern basis of accounting.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control that we identified during our audit.

Report on the Consolidated Financial Statements\footnote{The subtitle “Report on the Consolidated Financial Statements” is unnecessary in circumstances when the second subtitle, “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements,” is not applicable.}

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of ABC Company and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the related consolidated statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We did not audit the financial statements of B Company, a wholly owned subsidiary, which statements reflect total assets constituting 20 percent and 22 percent, respectively, of consolidated total assets at December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and total revenues constituting 18 percent and 20 percent, respectively, of consolidated total revenues for the years then ended. Those statements were audited by other auditors, whose report has been furnished to us, and our opinion, insofar as it relates to the amounts included for B Company, is based solely on the report of the other auditors. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, based on our audits and the report of the other auditors, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of ABC Company and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 20X1 and 20X0, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

  - the conditions or events identified and management’s plans that deal with these conditions or events; and
  - that these conditions or events indicate that substantial doubt exists about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time, and

- States that the auditor’s opinion is not modified with respect to the matter.

.25 The description in the going concern section about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time should be expressed through the use of terms consistent with those included in the applicable financial reporting framework. In a going concern emphasis-of-matter paragraph, the auditor should not use conditional language concerning the existence of substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

Adequate Disclosure About an Entity’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern Is Not Made in the Financial Statements

.26 If adequate disclosure about an entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time is not made in the financial statements, the auditor should do the following:

- Express a qualified opinion or adverse opinion, as appropriate, in accordance with section 705, Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report

- In the “Basis for Qualified (Adverse) Opinion” section of the auditor’s report, state that
  - substantial doubt exists about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern and that the financial statements do not adequately disclose this matter or
  - substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern has been alleviated

Comparative Presentations

.29 If substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time existed at the date of prior period financial statements that are presented on a comparative basis and that doubt has been removed in the current period, the going concern emphasis-of-matter paragraph section included in the auditor’s report on the financial statements of the prior period should not be repeated. Eliminating a “Going Concern” Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraph Section From a Reissued Report

.30 Management may request that the auditor reissue an auditor’s report and eliminate a “Going Concern” emphasis-of-matter paragraph section contained therein. Although an auditor has no obligation to reissue the report, if the auditor decides to reissue the report, the auditor should reassess the going concern status of the entity by doing the following:

  a. Performing audit procedures related to the events or transactions that prompted the request to reissue the report without the “Going Concern” emphasis-of-matter paragraph section
  b. Performing the procedures listed in section 560, Subsequent Events and Subsequently Discovered Facts, at or near the date of reissuance, including procedures to evaluate the adequacy of the proposed disclosures regarding management’s plans to mitigate the conditions or events that raised substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time8 7
  c. Considering the matters described in paragraphs .16–.18 of this section based on the conditions or circumstances at the date of reissuance
  d. Considering the implications for the auditor’s report in accordance with AU-C section 5609 8 (Ref: par. .A61–.A62–A63)

Use of the Going Concern Basis of Accounting Is Appropriate But Conditions and Events Have Been Identified (Ref. par. .24–.26)

Conditions and Events Have Been Identified and Substantial Doubt Has Not Been Alleviated

.A51 The identification of substantial doubt is a matter that is important to users’ understanding of the financial statements. The use of a separate section with a heading that includes reference to the fact that substantial doubt exists about the entity’s ability to continue as going concern alerts users to this circumstance.

.A52 The appendix to this section provides illustrations of the statements that are required to be included in the auditor’s report on the financial statements (illustrations 1 and 2) and an illustration of the circumstances described in paragraph .A54 (illustration 3). Illustrations 1 and 3 provide examples in which FASB ASC is the applicable financial reporting framework. Illustration 2 provides an example in which the

GASB statements are the applicable financial reporting framework. If an applicable financial reporting framework other than FASB ASC or the GASB statements is used, the wording in the illustrative reports in the appendix to this section may need to be adapted to reflect the application of the other financial reporting framework in the circumstances. The following is an illustration of a going concern emphasis-of-matter paragraph when (a) the auditor concludes substantial doubt exists about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time, (b) management’s plans do not alleviate the substantial doubt, and (c) the entity is required under the applicable financial reporting framework to include a statement in the notes to the financial statements that substantial doubt exists.

Emphasis of Matter Regarding Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note X to the financial statements, the Company has suffered recurring losses from operations, has a net capital deficiency, and has stated that substantial doubt exists about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern. Management’s evaluation of the events and conditions and management’s plans regarding these matters are also described in Note X. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

.A53 The following is an illustration of a going concern emphasis of matter paragraph when (a) the auditor concludes that substantial doubt exists about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time, (b) management’s plans do not alleviate the substantial doubt, and (c) the entity is not required under the applicable financial reporting framework to include a statement in the notes to the financial statements that substantial doubt exists.

Emphasis of Matter Regarding Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note X to the financial statements, the Company has suffered recurring losses from operations and has a net capital deficiency that raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management’s evaluation of the events and conditions and management’s plans regarding these matters are also described in Note X. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

.A51 .A53 When FASB ASC or the GASB statements are the applicable financial reporting framework used in the preparation of the financial statements, the auditor’s conclusion about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern is expressed through the use of the phrase “substantial doubt about its (the entity’s) ability to continue as a going concern.” In other financial reporting frameworks, a similar term may be appropriate depending on the requirements of the applicable financial reporting framework. If the applicable financial reporting framework does not include comparable terms, then wording that includes the terms substantial doubt and going concern may be appropriate.

Conditions and Events Have Been Identified and Substantial Doubt Has Been Alleviated

.A54 If conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, have been identified that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time but, based on the audit evidence obtained, the auditor concludes that substantial doubt has been alleviated by management’s plans and adequate disclosure has been made in the financial statements, the auditor may include an emphasis-of-matter paragraph in accordance with proposed SAS AU-C section 706, Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report, making reference to management’s disclosures related to the conditions and events and management’s plans related to those conditions and events. In this circumstance, the use of an emphasis-of-matter paragraph is to draw users’ attention to the disclosures of the conditions and events and management’s plans. It is distinguished from the situation in which the auditor concludes, after considering identified conditions or events and management’s plans, that substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern remains, in which case the auditor is required by paragraph .24 of this section to include a separate “Going Concern” section in the auditor’s report.

The following is an illustration of an emphasis-of-matter paragraph when management has disclosed (a) conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raised substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time; (b) its evaluation of the significance of those conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, in relation to the entity’s ability to meet its obligations; and (c) that the substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time has been alleviated by management’s plans.

As discussed in Note X to the financial statements, the Company has suffered recurring losses from operations and has a net capital deficiency. Management’s evaluation of the events and conditions and management’s plans to mitigate these matters are also described in Note X. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

As indicated in proposed SAS Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraphs and Other-Matter Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report, the use of an emphasis-of-matter paragraph is not appropriate if either of the following applies:

a. The matter has been determined to be a key audit matter when proposed SAS Communicating Key Audit Matters in the Independent Auditor’s Report applies.

b. The auditor would be required to modify the opinion in accordance with proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report as a result of the matter.

As indicated in proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report, in circumstances in which conditions and events have been identified and the auditor concludes that, based on the audit evidence obtained, the disclosures are materially misstated, the auditor is required to modify the auditor’s report.

Paragraph 7 of proposed SAS Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report.

Inappropriate Use of Conditional Language

Examples of conditional language that are inappropriate to use in the emphasis-of-matter paragraph “Going Concern” section include the following:

a. If the Company continues to suffer recurring losses from operations and continues to have a net capital deficiency, there may be substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern.

b. The Company has been unable to renegotiate its expiring credit agreements. Unless the Company is able to obtain financial support, there is substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern.

Eliminating a Going Concern Emphasis-of-Matter Paragraph Section From a Reissued Report (Ref: par. .30)

.A61 .A62 After the auditor has issued the auditor’s report containing a “Going Concern” emphasis-of-matter paragraph section, the auditor may be asked to reissue the auditor’s report on the financial statements and eliminate the “Going Concern” emphasis-of-matter paragraph section that appeared in the original report. Such requests may occur after the conditions or events that gave rise to substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time have been resolved. For example, subsequent to the date of the auditor’s original report, an entity might obtain needed financing.
